STRIKE RIOTING PAST CONTROL, TEAR GAS TURNED ON CROWDS

Today

No Bolshevism Needed.
A Battleship, Hardly.
Remembered, Mildly.
The World Loves Titles.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 13.

IN one column you read about a "mob" of 1,200 idle men, fighting police in Cleveland, 20 in the mob injured, officers hurt.

In another column you find comfort, perhaps, in news from Washington that our National banks have resources of over 29 billions of dollars, 7,408 institutions have on deposit more than 22 billions.

A COUNTRY so rich ought not to have so many men willing to work and idle.

You are told that the mob of rioting unemployed in Cleveland had been influenced by "Bolshevik propaganda."

IT is very easy to say "Bolshevism," but when a man is out of work, worried and perhaps hungry, he needs no help from Lenin to make him dangerously dissatisfied.

Men adrift on a raft in mid-ocean that had never heard of Lenin or Bolshevism have killed and eaten each other.

THE British possess the greatest fighting ship in the world, the Rodney, built and paid for.

Innocent Senator Borah and Representative Britten suggested that the British should scrap that ship, in the interest of lovely world peace. At that British statesmen smile politely and say they really can't quite do it.

THIS guileless nation, after the Washington conference, destroyed and threw on the junk pile splendid new battleships including some not completed.

And the British destroyed some pretty blue prints.

They probably would oblige us by preparing and destroying some more blue prints. But when it comes to destroying a finished battleship costing millions of pounds, that is something else.

IN honor of Lincoln's birthday banks and the Stock Exchange closed.

Some mild editorials were printed, here and there the Gettysburg speech was read.

But the dead are VERY dead.

One hundred twenty million Americans appreciate our three greatest men, Washington, Franklin and Lincoln. But they appreciate them quietly, and for a majority of us they are not very real.

THE world still loves titles. In a Los Angeles law suit about money collected for a newly invented religious "cult" you meet a mild looking gentleman called "The Four Winds of the Whirlwinds." He wrote down, with his typewriter, 50,000 pages dictated by angels to the priestesses of the "Great Eleven Cult."

"CONCORDS of stars led the priestesses to various locations, and there the angels did their dictating."

Men and women gave tens of thousands of dollars in return for nonsense of this kind, which proves that the human race is largely foolish.

REPUBLICAN statesmen, their names not mentioned, are said to be agitated because a Democrat has been elected to Congress from Calvin Coolidge's district in Massachusetts.

This is considered a reflection on Republican party government, and the "statesmen," to employ the popular pseudonym, wonder what in the world could make any voter dissatisfied.

Perhaps some Americans in Massachusetts think it is about time for the government to concentrate on something more constructive than whisky.

THOMAS A. EDISON believes that prohibition is possible and sure to come. "Fully automatic machinery," Edison says, will provide the laborer with a home and many luxuries, but he must not drink.

IN spite of Uncle Sam's ardent and foolish appeal, through his London delegates, for the abolition of submarines, the submarine, fortunately for this country, and thanks to France and Japan, will remain

The British, dependent for their food supply on surface craft to which submarines are fatal, naturally want the submarines abolished.

This nation would like to oblige the British and would cooperate with them undoubtedly in any effort to thwart starvation tactics.

BUT we need submarines in the present state of international barbarism, to make our harbors, coasts, island possessions, and Panama Canal safe.

And the safety of this country, NOT OF GREAT BRITAIN, should be the first consideration of those on the American government's payroll.

THE Transcontinental Air Line established by Gen. Atterbury's Pennsylvania railroad and Mr. Storey's Santa Fe, contemplate the use of bigger airplanes to carry 35 passengers each. W. B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor Company, is here planning for the bigger planes that Ford would make. They probably would be built at Long Beach, California, on the Pacific, close to Los Angeles.

APPROVAL OF HUGHES IN DOUBT

Hoover's Appointee Denies He'll Withdraw; Foes In Senate Make Gains

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Encouraged by gains in strength, opposition in the Senate to confirmation of Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the United States today carried forward its attack with new intensity.

Some friends of Hughes conceded that the outcome of the vote had become doubtful, although Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, predicted a margin for him of at least 15 votes.

WON'T WITHDRAW

In New York, Hughes denied rumors that he would withdraw his acceptance of the post.

Chairman Norris, of the Senate judiciary committee, gave notice to the Senate today he would recommit the nomination of Hughes to the judiciary committee. This motion will be voted on before the question of confirmation.

As Senators Nye, North Dakota, and La Follette, Wisconsin, both Republicans, and Glass (Dem.), Virginia, resumed the offensive against Hughes on the floor, testimony that Mr. Hughes had drawn the bid of the American Cyanamid Company for Muscle Shoals was heard before the Senate Lobby Committee. Attacks on the nominee have been made on the ground that he had served as attorney for corporate interests and that he favored them at the expense of the people.

A memorandum written by W. G. Waldo, consulting engineer of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, said Mr. Hughes drafted the contract for the Cyanamid Company, which was incorporated in the Wright bill proposing to lease the gigantic shoals project to the concern.

Republican leaders were pressing for a vote today. The opposition was seriously considering a move to recommit the nomination to the Judiciary Committee, as urged by Senator Nye. However,

Alfonso Reappoints Officers in Revolt

MADRID, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Artillery officers who were dismissed from the army by the Rivera dictatorship for their participation in an unsuccessful revolt were restored to their respective ranks by King Alfonso.

The royal decree also provided full pay for the officers during the period they were separated from the service.

Prince of Wales Starts for Jungle

KILINDINI, Mombasa, Feb. 13—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales last night left Mombasa as quietly as he entered it. He took a taxicab to the station to board a special train, which he will leave 10 miles this side of Voi, in Kenya Colony.

Alighting practically in the jungle, he will spend 10 days hunting big game. He put in part of yesterday on the golf links here.

A. P. MOORE ILL IN CALIFORNIA

MONROVIA, Cal., Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Alexander P. Moore, recently appointed first United States ambassador to Poland and former Pittsburgh publisher, was critically ill in a sanitarium here today suffering from tuberculosis of the throat.

Moore, who also served with distinction as ambassador to Spain and Peru, has been in Southern California since last August seeking to regain his health.

X-ray examinations disclosed that the lung infection of apparently long standing had spread to the throat and his condition was not at all favorable.

While he spent what was regarded by his nurse as a "very good night," he has failed to show any improvement in recent days.

"Mr. Moore is able to take nourishment adequately, but he is not able to talk a great deal," said his physician, Dr. Robert Pottenger. "It may be days or a month or so before we are able to know what the outcome of his illness will be.

"We have not given up hope of his recovery, but in a case of this kind progress one way or the other is slow."

Moore returned from Peru last August and was a guest for three weeks at the home of Charlie Chaplin, film comedian. At that time he was attended constantly by a nurse.

Later he went to Palm Springs, a well known resort in Southern California, but his condition become so serious that he was removed to the sanitarium 10 days ago.

Repels Man In Schenley Attack

Mrs. E. R. Reed, of Edgewood Acres, was reading in her auto parked in Schenley Park tourist camp today when a man approached and tried to attack her, police report.

She fought with the assailant, pushed him away and succeeded in driving out of the park.

He did not steal Mrs. Reed's purse, and she escaped before he could harm her, the police said.

Fire in Mexico Causes Heavy Loss

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Fire caused a considerable loss in the business section of this city during the night. The blaze broke out in a hat factory and spread rapidly to adjoining buildings and to an armory, where explosion of stored ammunition made a spectacular display.

In the midst of the fire the city's water supply failed and the firemen were almost helpless to combat the flames.

RT. REV. STEHLE RITES TUESDAY

A solemn pontifical requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Vincent's Archabbey Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock for the Rt. Rev. Aurelius Stehle, only archabbot in the United States, who died in St. Francis Hospital last night.

The body was taken today to the Beatty (Pa.) monastery, there to lie in state until Monday, when it will be moved to the church, also to lie in state there until the last services. At 9 o'clock Tuesday morning the chanting of the office of the dead will begin.

His death followed an illness of more than a month. Most of yesterday and last night many prominent churchmen and educators, some from St. Vincent Archabbey and College, which he headed, were at his bedside.

He became ill in Cleveland January 23, when he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. Fellow churchmen brought him to the hospital here.

British Woman Net Star Weds Planter

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Evelyn Colyer, famous British woman tennis star, was married today to Hamish Munro, a Scottish tea-planter, of Assam, India.

The ceremony was a quiet one and attended only by a few intimate friends in a suburban church. The marriage means the loss of Miss Colyer to British tournament tennis, for she will live with her husband at his Indian plantation.

BULLETIN.

Motorcycle police used tear gas bombs in an effort to disperse a crowd of 2,000 at Frankstown and Larimer avenues, late today, as a Green Cab towing truck was returning to the garage with a cab wrecked in the rioting.

Many patrolmen, mounted and on foot, were caught unaware by the tear gas. Several mounted officers were compelled to take their horses from the scene.

Rioting in the taxicab strike swept East Liberty today with the most violent disorders since the walkout of 1,400 drivers nearly five weeks ago.

Two major outbreaks at Penn and Collins avenues carried the rioting beyond control of the police. Fifteen hundred men milled around the streets, while bricks, clubs and bottles filled the air.

Cab company employes injured brought the total for the strike to more than 185, according to E. S. Higgins, vice president of the Parmelee Company, owner of the Yellow and Green Cab companies.

Higgins intimated the cab companies would appeal for aid to the state police. Public Safety Director James M. Clark is out of town, clerks in his office said. Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh had refused to take active charge of quelling disorder, Higgins said.

Unable to reach Walsh, Higgins left this caustic note for the police head:

"This is a disgraceful condition. The policing is inefficient. What are you going to do about it?"

FOUR CABS ATTACKED

The trouble started at Ellsworth and Center avenues, as four Green cabs appeared, manned by drivers and guards wearing steel helmets for protection. Strike sympathizers stoned the cabs, breaking windows and injuring one guard. He was removed to the Pittsburgh Hospital.

A moment later a group of 30 men attacked a Green cab at Penn and Collins avenues in the heart of the East Liberty business district.

As the driver attempted to speed away from the scene he was followed by a rapidly-growing throng hurling missiles that shattered windows and windshield.

BRICK STUNS DRIVER

At Frankstown and Larimer avenues, the driver slumped in his seat, struck on the head with a brick. Confused, he put on the breaks and stopped the cab. His guard seized the wheel and ran the partly-wrecked cab out Larimer avenue, where it was parked. A few minutes later a Green Cab Company towing truck appeared to take the disabled machine to the garage.

The truck was manned by a driver and six guards. Several of the guards showed their riot clubs as a group of strike sympathizers jeered.

ATTACKERS RALLY FORCES

This was the signal for a new outbreak. An immense throng,

50 PUPILS HURT BY EXPLOSION

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Fifty school children were injured, 12 of them seriously enough to require hospital treatment, today when an explosion demolished two one-story brick houses and tore out all the windows on one side of Public School 83, Brooklyn, housing 2,000 pupils.

The explosion occurred in an unoccupied brick dwelling directly across Dean street from a new wing of the school building. Two Negroes in one of the wrecked dwellings were seriously injured.

Hundreds of excited parents, learning a bomb had exploded in the school, swarmed to the building frantically calling the names of their children.

Meanwhile all pupils had been taken from the building and the injured, suffering cuts from flying glass and splintered wood, were treated by ambulance surgeons. Two were said to be in a serious condition.

School Children's Lottery Exposed in Hazelwood

A clearing house lottery establishment where, according to police, school children "played the numbers" with the consent of their mothers, was exposed in Morals Court today when Magistrate Thomas D. Jones fined Fred Newmeyer, 35, and his wife, Helen, 33, proprietors of a confectionery at Second and Hazlewood avenues, $50 or 30 days in jail. Both were charged with maintaining a gambling device.

The establishment was raided early today by Capt. John McNertney and Lieut. Michael Murphy.

Both defendants admitted they had been doing business in the lottery more than a year and a half, and that women and children "stood in line outside" awaiting their turn to procure the daily number slips. Newmeyer told the magistrate mothers asked his permission to let sons and daughters act as proxy for them in playing the "numbers."

Shortly before school time this morning, Capt. McNertney testified, he went back to the store. There he found two girls, each about nine years old.

"What's the matter, mister?" McNertney said they asked him. "Can't we play the numbers any more? Mamma gave us the money but there isn't anyone here."

McNertney ordered both back to school, he told Jones.

Edison Playing Games Goes 'Broke' at County Fair

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The Edisons and the Firestones went to the Lee County fair last night. The inventor had "great fun" carrying a huge stuffed yellow rabbit which his wife won at one of the booths.

Both Mr. Edison and his crony, Harvey Firestone, staked 35 cents each at a booth but were unsuccessful. They played number 11 each time.

"Let's go, I'm broke," the aged inventor said to Mr. Firestone.

Mrs. Edison and Mrs. Firestone fared better. Mrs. Firestone matching the rabbit won by the inventor's wife with a baby doll. Mr. Edison selected the yellow-colored rabbit for his wife from a variety of trinkets offered.

Trick rides caught the eyes of both Mr. Edison and Mrs. Firestone, but the inventor was most pleased with a diving dog. The pup shook hands with the electrical wizard to win the remark!

"That's the smartest dog I ever saw."

A few minutes later when Mrs. Firestone insisted on having her fortune told, Mr. Edison chuckled and remarked, "You can't beat the women. They always want to find out about the future."

Leaving the grounds, almost reluctantly, he smiled to a questioner!

WOMEN DEMAND DRY REFERENDUM, PROHIBITION REPEAL

LEGISLATION IS BRANDED FAILURE

Ex-Senator Bruce Cites Pittsburgh Rum Scandal; Denounces Conditions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—A group of outspoken women demanded of Congress today that prohibition be placed squarely before the voters of the nation and that the count of the ballot boxes decide whether America shall continue dry.

They appeared before the House Judiciary Committee and urged that the Norton resolution to authorize a referendum on the question be approved.

It was the second day's session of the hearing started by the committee on a batch of measures asking either outright repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or a referendum on the question.

In addition to the women witnesses, ex-Senator William Cabell Bruce testified. In denouncing crime conditions under prohibition he mentioned liquor scandals in many cities, including Pittsburgh.

The first witness was Mrs. Mary T. Norton, a Democratic representative from New Jersey, who has such a resolution for a referendum pending.

DEMANDS VOTE

She said a "normal American citizen, regardless of beliefs on the Eighteenth Amendment, would readily concur in the principle that the amendment should not remain in the constitution without majority approval of the people of the United States."

Then she argued that actual voters be given an opportunity to express themselves, and added:

"The repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment would restore us the same constitutional government adopted by our forefathers before the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted. It would grant, instead of deny, the right of local self government to the states."

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin followed her to the witness chair. She is a former Republican national committeewoman from New York, and represented the women's organization for national prohibition reform.

"LAW IS FAILURE"

At first, the women of the land, she said, thought that prohibition would strengthen a weak character. They are now realising "with heartburnings and heart aching," she asserted, "that if the spirit is not within, legislation can be of no avail."

She added: "They thought they could make prohibition as strong as the Constitution, but instead they have made the Constitution as weak as prohibition."

Next to testify was Mrs. David Holmes Morton, of Brooklyn, secretary of the women's committee for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"We demand outright, unequivocal repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment free from modification, compromise or substitute," she declared, adding that it was up to Congress to work out details of how this should be done."

Miss M. Louise Gross, of New York, chairman of the National Women's Moderation League, said:

"National prohibition has failed in its purpose. Young people are drinking liquor obtained in speakeasies, at roadhouses and from bootleggers who cannot be regulated. The youth of our country is being destroyed by these unregulated and illegitimate purveyors of liquor."

Ice Cream Served at Party, Says Judge, Denying Liquor

DETROIT, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Detroit officials came forward today with their version of the party held here last November for state and local officials, accounts of which figured in testimony before the House Judiciary Committee at Washington yesterday.

Walter Liggett, a writer, who appeared before the committee, described the affair as one at which liquor was served and dancers performed for the edification of Gov. Fred W. Green, Police Commissioner William P. Rutledge, former Mayor John W. Smith, four municipal judges and other officials.

Today one of the judges who was a guest at the party said that nothing stronger than ice cream was served and that the entertainment was furnished by a boys' band of 40 pieces.

BOSTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Fred W. Green, of Michigan, who yesterday was named by Walter W. Liggett before the House Judiciary Committee at Washington as one of those present at an alleged liquor party at Detroit last November, told reporters who met him on arrival here today that "if they want me to appear before the committee I'll be glad to do so."

CHICAGO DRYS SAFE—DORAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—There will be no dry bureau shakeup of consequence at Chicago as a result of the wholesale indictment of alcohol permitters.

Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran made this clear on his return to Washington today, after a first-hand investigation of conditions at Chicago and Milwaukee.

"Administrator E. C. Yellowley will remain as head of the Chicago district," Doran declared. "His work is entirely satisfactory."

"There were no prohibition agents or officials involved in the alcohol diversion situation," Doran declared.

He said that while the cases against corn sugar manufacturers, yeast producers and other corporations would present difficulties in trial, nevertheless the government had "strong cases" and anticipated convictions.

ARREST THREE IN 'POOL' RAID

Three alleged writers for "clearing house pool" were arrested by plainclothesmen of the South Side Police Station in a poolroom at 2330 Carson street today. They were charged with conducting a lottery. They are: Will I. Goodman, 35, of 2419 James street; James Fitzgerald, 40, of 2416 Carey way, and Richard Kearns, 23, of 400 Suncrist. Goodman is the alleged proprietor of the poolroom, police said.

Officers S. T. Oliver and John Rodzevicus were in the poolroom at the time when the men began to write the tickets. They waited until their work was completed, the policemen reported, and then placed them under arrest. Books, charts and other paraphernalia was confiscated.

HOLDUP KILLING KNOTS JURY

A jury was still debating today whether William Walker, Negro, of the Hill district, is guilty of murdering Edward J. Kretz in his drug store at 4636 Center avenue. The case went to the jury at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Judge William A. McConnell, of Beaver County, who presided, today took up another case while waiting a verdict.

Walker was one of three on trial to plead not guilty, Martin Avery and William Henry Sled, Negroes, having submitted guilty pleas. The shooting occurred June 21 following an attempted holdup.

Daughter Missing, So Are Two Rings

A North Side woman reported to police today that her 15-year-old daughter left home last midnight and that soon after two diamond rings valued at $150 and $25 in gold were missing. The mother suggested that the girl had gone to Detroit. Because of the girl's youth, the Sun-Telegraph withholds her name.

WIDOW RELATES DRY KILLING

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Taking the stand as the State's principal witness, Mrs. Gust Henry Wirkkula today testified that her husband was stopping his automobile when he was killed by shots fired by Emmet J. White, United States Customs patrolman, on trial for second-degree murder in Federal Court.

No resistance to search was offered by her husband, she said, asserting that she believed he intended to halt in answer to a cloth sign which said "Stop—United States Officers" last June 8, 25 miles south of the Canadian border.

Mrs. Wirkkula told of a brief outing excursion undertaken by the family, including two children, and of its tragic end when only a short distance from home.

The car was traveling 10 or 15 miles an hour when she first sighted the signal, she said. As the car was slowing down, she heard voices and then shots. The car continued going ahead and then started into a ditch as her husband's body slumped against her.

There was no liquor in the automobile, Mrs. Wirkkula testified.

HARRIS WEIGHS STATE TICKET PLACE

Undecided on Running for Lieutenant Governor, Senator Declares Here

State Senator Frank J. Harris today said he had not decided to become a candidate or accept a place on a slate for lieutenant governor.

His announcement came as a result of reports that he would be a candidate for lieutenant governor on a slate indorsed by W. L. Mellon, former Republican state chairman, and United States Senator Joseph Grundy.

"There has been considerable activity on the part of my friends throughout the state in urging me to enter the campaign as a candidate for lieutenant governor," he said, "but I feel a decision should await serious consideration.

URGED TO KEEP OUT

"My hesitancy is prompted by the urging of other intimate friends that I remain in the Senate where the field of usefulness for the entire state is larger, they say, than in the lieutenant governorship.

"My friends referred to the success of my efforts for the voting machine legislation, which seems to have met with approval, and they remind me of other programs for the future that I have outlined.

"Under these circumstances it seems advisable to weigh carefully in what position I can best advance the interests of the state in general and my constituents in particular."

Senator Harris has always been an independent Republican in politics and in his course in the State Senate.

HUNT PINCHOT RIVAL

HARRISBURG, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Agree on a man who can beat Gifford Pinchot for the Republican gubernatorial nomination!

That is the short but certain mandate which today faces all elements of the Republican party.

While the so-called "big leaders" of the party hurry from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh, back to Harrisburg, to Philadelphia, to Washington and then repeat the process, the man who, in 1922, beat those very leaders is maintaining a discreet silence in the comfort of his vast estate in Milford.

NOT IN SENATE RACE

Whatever Pinchot's personal decision may be, the Republican leaders are pretty well convinced that he has given up all hope of becoming a candidate for the United States Senate in opposition to Senator Grundy.

Gov. Fisher, State Chairman Martin and former Chairman W. L. Mellon have concluded their conferences in Washington with Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon for the present, without commenting on the announcements of former State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis and former Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown that they will seek the governorship.

Secretary Mellon is expected to make the decision as to which one—if either—the organization will support. Grundy is backing Lewis, but Fisher wants Benson E. Taylor to succeed him.

Meanwhile Secretary of Labor Davis, a speculative candidate for governor, conferred with William R. Douglas, secretary to William S. Vare. The possibility of a Vare-Davis ticket has frequently been discussed.

Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler was urged as Republican candidate for governor in letters sent to most of the state leaders by the Butler-for-Governor Club, of West Chester.

Blank nominating petitions were obtained from the State Elections Bureau today in behalf of Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward for circulation to place Woodward's name on the ballot for another term in his present office. Frederic A. Godcharles, state librarian, also has announced for the place.

Second Detroit Taxi Driver Found Slain

DETROIT, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The body of the second taxicab driver to be slain in the Detroit area within 48 hours was found today in Chalmers avenue in the east side of the city. The victim was identified as Guy Bastien, 25. The wrists were tied together with a shoe lace and there was another lace bound tightly about the neck. A bullet wound was in the left breast.

Stabley Hood, 23, another taxicab driver, was found fatally wounded in Loochmoor village Wednesday morning.

RUM RING CASE NEARS JURY

The McKeesport liquor conspiracy case before Federal Judge R. M. Gibson will reach the jury late today or early tomorrow. The government rested its case after calling 20 witnesses, and defense attorneys said they have but a few more witnesses to place on the stand. The trial started Monday.

Six of the nine defendants, Dudley Prosser, Jack Morton and Fred Lux, former motorcycle policeman; Fred Kreiling, former desk sergeant; Martin Manning, former plainclothesman, and William Englert, former milk inspector, went on the witness stand and denied receiving money from Charles Friedman in return for "protection."

Fire Engines Quiet At Blaze Near Taft's Home

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Fire engines, usually audible blocks away, stood in front of William Howard Taft's home today with their engines cut off and their sirens silent, and proceeded as quietly as possible to extinguish a fire across the street.

The blaze was a small one in the chimney of the home of Lieut. Com. John H. Magruder. The precautions because of the condition of the former chief justice, who has lain ill at his home since returning from Asheville, N. C., over a week ago, came about when a policeman signalled for silence, pointing to the Taft home, and the firemen understood.

Physicians attending Taft said today in their noon bulletin that "the general condition of the former chief justice continues to improve."

NAVAL NEEDS OF FRANCE, JAPAN SET

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The French and Japanese delegations to the five-power naval arms conference today issued statements defining their positions.

The French announced their willingness to accept a naval program running from 1930 until 1936, establishing a fleet by December 31, 1936, aggregating 724,479 English tons.

JAPANESE POSITION

The Japanese delegation, issuing their first public statement on their naval desires and needs, generally agreed with the previous British and American announcements, but, to the surprise of the other delegations, failed to make any mention of their demands on the United States for a 70 per cent heavy cruiser ratio.

The paragraph in the Japanese statement touching directly on the heavy cruiser problem said:

"Japan attaches special importance to eight-inch gun cruisers and desires to maintain minimum strength sufficiently for national defense, taking into consideration the strengths held by other powers."

In the course of their statement the Japanese also reiterated their belief that submarines were eminently adapted to defensive uses and were necessary to Japan because of her geographical position.

The Japanese also expressed readiness to agree to a naval holiday in capital ships until 1936.

NEGOTIATIONS DELICATE

Although the Japanese did not explain the omission of their heavy cruiser ratio demand, it was understood the delegation considered this question as being at present in controversy and somewhat delicate.

Another development of the day was a statement by Prime Minister MacDonald to the House of Commons that Great Britain based her hope for world peace on the Briand-Kellogg pact, and "looks forward to a period in which armed conflicts need not be expected" and on these grounds could limit her cruiser fleet to 50 instead of 70.

The floor was the scene of innumerable conferences as leaders of both sides talked to doubtful members. Friends of Hughes conceded "big inroads" in their strength by the opposition overnight.

GLASS CRITICISM

Senator Glass, who has condemned Hughes for his economic views, today made the observation that the "Supreme Court in recent years has gone far afield from its original functions and constituted itself a court of economic and social questions rather than a court for the interpretation of legal disputes."

Senator Nye declared the selection of Mr. Hughes "unfortunate" and asserted he "lacks the qualifications of a chief justice on the court of last resort, which are of double importance today with a challenge being thrown in the face of the government by those seeking special favors."

La Follette said the issue raised by the nomination was one of "transcendent importance" and asserted that it was "usurpation of power by the judiciary."

"As I view it," he said, "the issues raised by this nomination transcend the question of the character of the nominee, of his ability which, of course, no one in the debate has questioned."

DECORATING PORTER FOR DOPE FIGHT

Porter's Narcotic Bills Indorsed By Doctor

Representative Stephen G. Porter's bills for regulation of the narcotic traffic received strong recommendation today from another member of the medical profession in Pittsburgh, Dr. George Metzger, 1018 Chestnut street, North Side, indorsed both measures without any qualification whatever.

"I am ardently in favor of the passage of Representative Porter's bills," said Dr. Metzger. "I am convinced that nothing better can be offered to meet the needs of the situation.

"Mr. Porter is probably the best posted man on the subject in America. As a young man he was a pharmacist. He studied pharmaceutical science under one of the ablest men in the profession; for that was before the days of pharmacy schools as we know them.

"So both by education and experience he is qualified to deal with this matter. Indeed, I do not believe there is a man in America who could put up a better or more intelligent bill."

One of the Porter measures provides that physicians who are convicted of violating the Harrison act or are drug addicts themselves may have their licenses to dispense narcotics revoked.

A few physicians profess to fear the power to be entrusted in the proposed commissioner of narcotics may be abused. Dr. Metzger pointed out that there are already laws in Pennsylvania which authorize revocation of the licenses of doctors who misuse the privilege of handling opiates and cocaine.

He expressed confidence that the Porter legislation will work no hardship on practitioners who handle narcotics in a proper manner.

The other bill takes the federal narcotic office out of the Prohibition Bureau, of which it is now a minor division, and sets it up as an independent bureau with more adequate personnel.

Connie Mack Dazzled By $10,000 Award

Of all the honors heaped upon the grizzled veteran of 67 years, winning of the $10,000 check, gold medal and scroll designating him as the man who had "performed the most outstanding service" to the city of Philadelphia in 1929, seemed to dazzle Mack the most.

"This city has just been too good to me," Mack said simply.

"I look upon it as being as much a tribute to the sport of baseball, of which I am a representative, as an honor to myself."

The annual award was created by the late Edward W. Bok. Usually presentation of the award is made at a huge public meeting, but last night, due to the recent death of Mr. Bok in Florida, the award was made at a private banquet. About a half hundred notable men and women of the city were present.

Bok before his death urged choice of Mack by the selection committee. He considered that Mack by his work with the A's and his private life had set a high example of sportsmanship to the youth of the city and nation at large.

The award previously has been given to Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra; the Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell, founder of the Temple University; Samuel S. Fleisher, founder of the Graphic Sketch Club; Charles Custis Harrison, former provost of the University of Pennsylvania and creator of the magnificent Penn Museum; Samuel Yellin, master iron craftsman; Dr. Chevalier Jackson, inventor of the bronchoscope; the Rev. Dr. W. Herbert Burk, builder of the Valley Forge Chapel, and Eli Kirk Price, creator of the art museum on the Parkway.

scattered by half a dozen mounted patrolmen and officers on foot a short time before, again gathered and set upon the truck.

Hurling missiles of every description, the mob chased the truck out Frankstown avenue, to Larimer avenue to Station street. Several of the men were struck by bricks and clubs. The truck finally lost its pursuers and continued out Frankstown avenue toward Homewood, without making any effort to get the abandoned cab.

While 1,000 men were collected around the wrecked cab, it caught fire. Firemen responded to a still alarm and extinguished the flames as the crowd cheered at the sight of the cab being further damaged.

PEDESTRIANS TRAMPLED

During the melee at Penn and Collins avenues several pedestrians were knocked down and trampled. One of them, James McMasters, 67, of 5162 Dearborn street, was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital, suffering from lacerations of the head and bruises.

James Storoshka, 32, driver of the wrecked cab, also was taken to the hospital with scalp wounds. After being treated he was able to return to the Green cab garage at Ellsworth avenue.

Mayor Charles H. Kline was asked this question today following the East Liberty rioting:

"What are you going to do in view of today's disorders?"

PASSENGER MAY LOSE EYE

Fred Shinman, 35, of 7604 Newport avenue, Parma Village, Cleveland, O., district superintendent of the Jamestown (N. Y.) Metal Desk Company, a passenger, was hit in the eye with a brick during the night.

An X-ray examination revealed a foreign substance, believed to be a piece of glass, in Shinman's right eye, physicians at the hospital said. Another examination will be made today and if such proves to be the case, his eye will have to be removed, specialists asserted. His only other injury is a lacerated upper lip.

FOUR DOWNTOWN ATTACKS

Shinman had taken a cab at the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad station last night and was enroute to the Pennsylvania Station when he was struck by a brick hurled through the window of the cab in front of the Aldine Theater, Liberty avenue.

Four cabs were stoned and windows broken downtown this morning, police reported. One guard was reported cut on the neck. The attacks occurred at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad station, in Grant street near Seventh avenue, in Penn avenue near Ninth street and in Smithfield street.

PASSENGER REFUSED RIDE

An elderly man asked for a cab soon after the first cabs arrived, but was not accepted as a passenger. Cabmen informed him there were not sufficient cabs at the station to provide a convoy.

Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court today imposed a fine of $10 each on Bessie Brown, 21, and Dolores Richards, 21, both of 6100 Alder street; Harry Quinn, 28, of 6011 Rodman street, and Roy Stockley, 26, of 120 Oakmont avenue.

The four were arrested in an automobile at Water and Smithfield streets last night after someone in their car threw two plumb balls through windows of a Yellow cab. Quinn admitted he had thrown one ball. Both he and Stockley are Yellow cab drivers on strike, they testified. The girls denied knowing anything of the missiles being hurled.

5 MEN HELD

Of the seven men arraigned in the East End station before Magistrate Charles Papale, Roy Eicher, 40, of 7259 Upland street, was fined $10 with the alternative of serving 10 days in jail; Harry Liggett, 35, of 6715 Kelly street, was discharged, and the following were held over: Bernard Gordon, 26, of 5591 Frankstown avenue; William Martin, 24, of 7335 Finance street; James Wilson, 28, of 271 Swope street; Mike Holawatz, 23, of 620 Seventh street, Homestead, and Louis Ramsley, 21, of Brackenridge.

Ruben Henderson, 34, of 412 Paulson avenue, was fined $5 by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central police court today. He and two others were arrested yesterday when they were alleged to have been picketing the Yellow Cab Company garage, Ross street. The two others, George Butler, 26, of 5837 Alder street, and Clyde Bowman, 25, of 1307 Beverly place were discharged.

At Seventh avenue and Grant street police arrested James J. McGarr, 29, of 1830 Brownsville road, for hurling stones at taxicabs, they reported. He is held in Central police station on a suspicious person charge.

Miss Hazel Stark, 26, of 507 Pitt street, Wilkinsburg, was said to have been injured slightly yesterday when knocked against the side of a truck by the horse of a mounted policeman who was dispersing a crowd at Frankstown avenue and Broad street. The crowd had assembled near the East Liberty Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad Station when police broke up a near riot.

CONTEMPT HEARING HELD

Testimony was taken in Common Pleas Court today in the case of three alleged strike sympathizers accused of violating the injunction against interference with operation of cabs.

In the case of the first man arraigned, Chlorice Freck, of 81 Magee street, Judge Richard W. Martin said: "I believe he threw a brick and I believe he knew of the injunction. I think I will hold him for contempt."

The case of Joseph DeRocco and Louis Brisky were next taken up.

Sunday Dancing On Trial in New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—But after all, is it art?

That old question today faced Magistrate Dreyer, who yesterday heard the cases against the Guild, Craig and Hampden theaters, charged with permitting dancing on Sunday.

Some of the dancers in court claimed their performances were "religious," and all said they stood for art with a capital A.

Harris Store Holds Speechless Dinner

The annual dinner of the Harris department store, held last night in the William Penn Hotel, was featured by a program of fun and stunts but with no formal or set speeches. One of the stipulations, according to those who attended, was that no orations of any sort would be made. Isaac S. Harris, president of the store, and M. Prass, representing employes, delivered a few informal remarks.

Alarm Clock's Inventor to Be Honored

MILAN, Italy, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—This capital of Lombardy is about to celebrate the 400th anniversary of a scientist whose greatest invention has been a terror in all parts of the world for centuries.

The Historical Society is looking into the archives to see if some of the ignominy can be removed from him.

Dr. Andrea Alciato invented the alarm clock. His device not only sounded a bell at a selected time but lighted a candle.

GILBERT, TULLY IN WORD DUEL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 13.—(INS.)—That a return match may be staged between John Gilbert, film actor, and Jim Tully, author, if they ever come face to face again, was indicated today as the two "warriors" hurled defiance at each other.

From Palm Springs, where he is with his wife, Ina Claire, Gilbert admitted that his first plan of battle against Tully was somewhat faulty.

"I made a mistake in rushing him," said Gilbert. "It put me at a disadvantage. No, I don't know what will happen if we meet again. It is true that I was knocked down, but not out. And he did not lick me."

The robust Tully countered by saying that Gilbert should attend to his picture career "and let rough ex-tramps and pugilists alone."

"I am very fond of Jack," said Tully, "but he has no sense of humor."

Meantime it was revealed that Mrs. Marna Tully, wife of the hobo-author, had established a residence in Las Vegas, Nev., to obtain a divorce. Mrs. Tully filed two suits for divorce in 1925, but later had the cases dismissed. She charged cruelty. Tully was divorced from his first wife in 1923.

Airplane Carrying Mail to Hoover Forced Down

STANLEY, N. C., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—A New York-Atlanta air mail plane, carrying a special pouch for President Hoover, who is fishing off the Florida coast, was forced down near here by fog today.

Dick Merrill, the pilot, made a safe landing and the 400 pounds of mail aboard was taken to Gastonia, where it was dispatched on a southbound train.

THANKS FOR AID SENT BY BYRD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, with an ice apck between him and the rest of the world, in a wireless message to the State Department today asked messages of thanks and appreciation be transmitted to the British and Norwegian foreign offices for the interest shown and offers of assistance in getting his expedition out of the Antarctic.

"While we are not yet keenly apprehensive about our predicament, which is potentially quite serious, I am naturally attempting to leave undone nothing that will insure the safety of my men," Byrd told the British.

"Therefore, should the occasion arise whereby His Majesty's government can assist, I will with very great appreciation made known my requirements."

To the Norwegian government Byrd expressed his thanks for "its generous action" in enlisting the interest of the whaling association at Sandefjord in the event of emergency.

HOOVER AFTER BIGGER FISH

LONG KEY, Fla., Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Presidential guests having run away with all the major fishing honors thus far, President Hoover set out early this morning to redeem his own reputation as a fisherman.

He went back today to the same spot, about six miles off here, where Mrs. Stone, wife of the associate justice of the Supreme Court, landed a 66-pound sailfish after a two-hour battle. This fish is the record for the presidential party, and comes within five pounds of equalling the season's record for the Long Key Fishing Club.

The executive is showing the beneficial effects of his brief holiday already. The hot sun has tanned him a deep brown, and he seems to be enjoying himself thoroughly.

Last night, just before retiring, he transacted some minor business which had been sent down from Washington in the mail pouch. For the most part it consisted of signing some nominations of minor members of the diplomatic service.

VETERAN SAVED FROM RIVER

A head of a man bobbing in the Monongahela River at Second street caught the eye of Jack Dillon, who lives in a shantyboat on the South Side shore.

Dillon pulled him out, called police who applied an inhalator, and rushed the man—believed to be Frank Bareicva, of 47 South Fifteenth street—to South Side Hospital.

Physicians report his condition critical from exposure.

On the Tenth Street Bridge, half a mile upstream, a coat, hat and vest were found. Police picked up a letter there written in Polish. It indicated the man, a wounded war veteran, had contemplated the jump.

The letter:

"Dear Uncle: I will not see you again. Please forgive me. My compensation will take care of the funeral, and use the rest for yourself."

GIRL ACCUSED IN BANK THEFT

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Laverne D. Lindgren, 25, who rose from switchboard operator to cashier of the People's State Bank of Maywood in three years, was being sought by police today on a warrant charging embezzlement of the bank's funds.

Elmer P. Langguth, the bank's president and the man who engineered the girl's career, is also under indictment as a result of the bank closing.

Whether the bank has lost $60,000 or $120,000 or more, or whether the depositors eventually will be paid dollar for dollar, cannot be told until the girl is found, officers said.

SOLDIERS HELD IN AUTO THEFT

CHESTERTOWN, Md., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Orville Davis, 21, and Thomas Farmer, 22, in uniform, and said to be privates in the Fifty-first coast artillery at Fort Eustis, were arrested at Rockhall, by Carl G. Storm, a member of the state police, and confined in the Kent County jail here. The soldiers were accused of the theft of a car owned by Corporal Michael Furrier at the military post.

The non-commissioned officer asked the state police to hold the pair and said he would come here and identify them. Davis' home is in Rockhall.

Lindy Fails to Tie Speed Of Earhart in Own Plane

BURBANK, Cal., Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh drove his special monoplane at 169 miles an hour and was disappointed because it flew so slow.

The flight was part of a series of speed tests of a new propeller and was held over a measured course and timed by split-second stop watches.

Miss Amelia Earhart, noted trans-Atlantic woman pilot, who arrived here from Albuquerque, N. M., had previously flown Lindbergh's new plane at 180 miles an hour, a speed record for women.

Miss Earhart had her chance to try the plane before Lindbergh arrived from the East to take delivery on it.

Wishing to increase the speed, Lindbergh landed and had engineers install another propeller. He said he would keep flying and alternately adjusting the propeller until he obtained the required speed.

The plane was recently fitted with a transparent collapsible top for the two cockpits for bad weather flying. Lindbergh was sure that this device was not responsible for the apparently curtailed speed.

Meanwhile designers prepared to construct and install a new landing gear on Lindbergh's plane to enable the Colonel to draw the wheels and struts into the body of the ship. This, they believed, would add 10 miles an hour to the plane's speed.

Miss Earhart and Lindbergh were expected to join in glider flights at or near San Diego later in the week. They were said to be awaiting favorable wind conditions for their motorless trials.

It will be Miss Earhart's first lesson in soaring without power aid. Lindbergh and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, recently qualified as first class glider pilots.

Pitt 'Agnostic' to Resign, Rebel Yell Reports

A report that Prof. Mont R. Gabbert, head of the philosophy department of the University of Pittsburgh, would leave the school at the end of the year due to his unorthodox teachings, was chronicled today in an issue of the Rebel Yell, unrecognized paper published by protesting students and distributed on the campus.

Dr. Gabbert refused to comment, as did Dr. Lee P. Sieg, dean of the college and graduate school.

The paper said it was a "rumor."

"Dr. Gabbert," the paper declares, "will leave the university at the end of the semester. Dr. Gabbert is a religious agnostic and has mentioned this fact in his classes. He had, in addition, been so indiscreet as to suggest that the chief value of going to church is to give opportunity to the worshippers to show their best clothes. In a talk before the Hungry Club a year ago he attacked fundamentalist concepts. Therefore, Dr. Gabbert's head must fall."

NEW DISCOVERY RELIEVES PAIN OF CANCER

Alleviation of Suffering by Coffey-Humber Injections Called Boon to Victims

By GOBIND BEHARI LAL,
Central Staff.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—"Cancer patients are relieved of their intolerable pain with the most surprising promptness when they receive the Coffey-Humber adrenal cortex extract injections.

"Nothing like that has happened in medicine before. The alleviation of awful pain by this method is itself an achievement of the greatest importance. Even if Drs. Coffey and Humber have not discovered a specific cure for malignancies, they have certainly found a remarkable means to lessen the chief curse of cancer, that is unbearable and cruel pain.

"It is quite likely that Coffey and Humber are the first experimenters who have obtained an adrenal hormone that decreases cancer pain and may be proved to abolish the disease."

OPINION SUPPORTED

This weighty opinion was given by one of the most distinguished medical scientists, Dr. Edgar L. Gilcreest, the founder and secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Coast Surgical Association, before which doctors Wm. B. Coffey and John D. Humber read their epochal discoveries of cancer at the Del Monte session last Saturday.

Dr. Gilcreest's pronouncement was supported by Dr. Thomas P. Mullen. Both these leading surgeons had visited the Southern Pacific General Hospital this forenoon, where they had an opportunity to observe the latest phases of Coffey-Humber experimental clinical work.

"The authorities of the Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago had wired to me asking me if the Coffey-Humber treatment was reliable," said Dr. Gilcreest. "So, I went down to see Drs. Coffey and Humber. I was immensely impressed by the extraordinary and quick relief from pain that had come to many of these patients from the extract injections.

"There is scarcely anything so torturing for instance," continued Dr. Gilcreest, "as the cancer of the tongue or of the lip. Now in such cases the extract injection lessens pain and enables the patients to move their tongues about and feel human again.

AID TO SCIENCE

"The theoretical light that these experiments may throw upon the nature of cancer growths is of the greatest interest to science," affirmed Dr. Gilcreest.

"Science wonders why some cells grow to large sizes and others remain small, why some cells become the cells of one organ in the body and the other cells go to another region.

"Perhaps the Coffey and Humber research is the beginning of investigations which might lead science to answer all these fundamental questions of biology. Through such basic knowledge alone man will gain the mastery over himself that is the aim of scientific researches.

"The Pacific Coast Surgical Association feels naturally gratified that two of its original and esteemed members, Coffey and Humber, presented so epochal a report before its sessions."

Weather Conditions.

The principal low pressure area is centered over Eastern Ontario this morning and extends northward to Arctic regions and over Eastern Texas. It is moving to temperatures over the Atlantic Coast states and produced light to moderate rains in those places everywhere east of the Mississippi during yesterday and last night and is now moving rapidly eastward over the Lower Lakes region, Tennessee and Western North Carolina and northward over the Middle Atlantic states.

Rising barometer following the low pressure areas caused a decided drop in temperature over the Ohio Valley states and westward over the plains and the Canadian Northwest, and light snow is falling at scattered places. Much colder weather will prevail over this section for the next several days.

HIS GOATEE'S GONE!

HERBERT HOOVER, JR. ALLISTER MacDONALD

MacDonald, son of the British premier, with the goatee that's missing today. He says it was removed at a Hollywood party.

PREMIER'S SON LOSES GOATEE

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Allister MacDonald, son of the prime minister of Great Britain, arriving here today by air from Hollywood minus his goatee, explained that the whiskers which he brought to this country had been shorn at a little ceremony in the movie capital, but not by Charlie Chaplin.

On the contrary the goatee was removed at the Hollywood home of Ronald Colman, another movie star, MacDonald said.

"I made up my mind to get rid of it sometime before," he added. "So, well, I was with some friends, you see, and we decided to make a little ceremony of it."

Traveling on a Transcontinental Air Transport passenger plane, MacDonald stopped here 10 minutes on his way to New York. As an architect, he made a study of motion picture construction work in Hollywood.

BANKERS OFFER CHICAGO CASH

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—A banking syndicate headed by Herbert C. Heller & Co., Inc., of New York, today will offer to purchase $48,000,000 worth of Chicago's tax anticipation warrants, it was learned here.

This sale, if effected, will give the city its first emergency cash since December and will provide relief for 40,000 public employes who have gone payless for nearly two months.

Heller opened negotiations with city officials last week. He is expected here today from Kansas City where he conferred with several financiers there in regard to financing the loan.

Proposals of the syndicate will be submitted at a conference today with City Comptroller George Schmidt, it was learned.

Although city officials have estimated they could borrow only $27,000,000 on the 1930 levy, the syndicate represented by Heller is reported to be willing to purchase $48,000,000 worth of tax warrants, a sufficient sum to forestall the threatened financial collapse until the 1928 taxes can be collected, officials pointed out.

Hunger-Striking Prisoner Moved To Hospital

WARREN, O., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Richard Stewart, rug merchant, who began a hunger strike when he was committed to the county jail 30 days ago, continued his fast today in the city hospital.

Stewart's removal to the hospital was ordered last night by Coroner J. C. Henshaw after an examination. Dr. Henshaw said that Stewart, although weak, is in normal health, but that "if he does much more fasting, he'd better do it where he will be under expert supervision."

The rug dealer has refused to pay a fine of $200 for molesting a woman.

VALLEY ROUTE GETS 12 CARS

Communities in the Allegheny valley from Aspinwall to Natrona will celebrate Valentine Day tomorrow with first sight of their own valentine. The "Valley's Valentine," as it is called, will be the installation of 12 new one-man electric cars, replacing the old cars now in use.

Parades, inspections and free rides will mark their first appearances on the road tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

During a parade along the entire route from Natrona to Aspinwall tomorrow night, the cars will be christened by girls chosen by the communities for which they will be named. Nine of the cars will be in the procession, the other three remaining Arnold, Glassmere and Aspinwall.

The cars' sponsors, community officials and representatives of the railways company will take part in the civic parade, starting in Natrona.

FREE DiMETTEO IN SLAYING

Out two hours, a jury found Diodoro DiMatteo, 33, of the rear of 51 Boundary street, not guilty of murder today. The verdict was heard by Visiting Judge J. A. McLaughry, of Mercer County.

DiMatteo is charged with the death of Alfonse D'Amico, 50, of 51 Boundary street, October 13. Testimony was that the men with others, had been playing the Italian game of tocco for drinks, and that DiMatteo charged D'Amico took a drink to which he was not entitled. He followed the latter to the street and struck him. It was testified. D'Amico's head struck the pavement and he died three days later from a fractured skull. Assistant District Attorney William Colvin and Attorney A. M. Oliver argued the case to the jury.

versity of Peking, China, and director of the St. Emma Agricultural and Industrial School, stock Castel, Va.

As head of the largest community of Benedictines in this country, he assumed charge of St. Vincent's in 1920 and under his supervision it developed rapidly in the post-war period.

He was known as an authority on ecclesiastical practice, and wrote the "Manual of Episcopal Ceremonies," a book used almost universally.

HONORED BY DEGREES

He received honors from Rome where he was given his doctor of divinity degree in 1920, from the University of Notre Dame which awarded him a doctor of laws degree in 1925 and from Duquesne University here, which cloaked him with the doctorate of liturgy in 1927.

Born in Pittsburgh April 30, 1877, he was one of three sons of Richard and Rose Niggel Stehle. After a preliminary education in the city's schools, he entered St. Vincent College in 1888, moving through the high school, college and seminary departments. He received his bachelor of arts and in 1898 his masters degree.

When he was prepared for ordination to the priesthood, a papal dispensation was found necessary since he was not of the canonical age. It was granted, and he became a priest September 8, 1899 when he was just 22.

ONLY U. S. ARCHABBOT

For many years he served as secretary of his predecessor, as head of the school, the Rt. Rev. Leander Schnerr, O. S. B., and as master of ceremonies of the archabbey.

Elected coadjutor-abbot of St. Vincent's in 1918, he received the blessing of the late Bishop J. F. Regis Canevin here in October, 1918, a few months after the appointment had been confirmed in Rome. He became archabbot September 3, 1920, the fourth in the history of the school at the time and the only one in the United States.

He was a member of the National Benedictine Educational Association, Catholic Educational Associations, National Aeronautical Association, Retreat League, Latrobe Chamber of Commerce and National Catholic Welfare Council.

At the command of Pope Pius XI, in 1924, Archabbot Aurelius founded the Catholic University of Peking, China. This accomplished and assigned the task of securing men and means for it, the Pope appointed him chancellor.

Two brothers survive him. They are the Rev. P. Callistus Stehle, O. S. B., at the archabbey, and Harry Staley, of Pittsburgh.

FEAR FOR LIFE OF NOAH BEERY

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Noah Berry, famous motion picture villain, today was fighting the battle of his life following an operation last night for the removal of a gangrenous appendix.

Berry was stricken yesterday after complaining for several days of stomach trouble. He was in great pain by the time physicians diagnosed his case as appendicitis and ordered him to the hospital for the operation.

The motion picture star made out a will recently, it was disclosed.

Former Film Girl Victim of Poison

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mildred McNaughton, 22, who told police she formerly was a motion picture actress and had played leads opposite John Barrymore, attempted to end her life here by swallowing poison. Mrs. McNaughton said she was the former wife of John L. McNaughton, son of the president of the Union Stock Yards, of Los Angeles. She is expected to recover.

Hearn Manuscripts Sought in Japan

OSAKA, Japan, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Thirty-five sheets missing from the last manuscript of Lafcadio Hearn are being sought by the police. They were part of an unpublished lot of essays for which an American has offered $60,000 if complete.

Police Halt Family Row, Asked to Eat Duck

Capt. John McNertney and Lieut. Michael Murphy, along with Magistrate Thomas D. Jones, of Morals Court, were today invited to attend a roast duck dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Dolan, of 26 Tonnage street.

The invitation came after the magistrate discharged Mrs. Daisy Dolan, 26, arraigned on a charge of suspicious person in connection with the attack last Saturday on her husband with an old-fashioned beer schooner.

Both McNertney and Murphy said they would accept, but Magistrate Jones declined because of another engagement.

The fracas at the Dolan home started, according to testimony, when Dolan and his wife began celebrating Mrs. Dolan's birthday.

A roast duck dinner was to be prepared to celebrate the anniversary, but the law interfered.

The duck was still in good condition today, the all-forgiving Dolan announced, and would be served at dinner.

"I'd be greatly honored if your honor and the captain and lieutenant would be our guests," Dolan said in extending the invitation.

URGE 12 ZONES IN 23RD WARD

There would be an average of 500 voters to each of the 12 proposed districts of the Twenty-third Ward, under a plan presented at a hearing conducted by the Redistricting Commission of Allegheny County last night in the Lockhart's from North Side. At present the ward has 21 districts.

The plan was presented by Robert Murray, Republican chairman of the ward, and was the only one advanced at the hearing, which was conducted by Commissioners Howard Neely, Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., and John T. Small. Murray said the plan had been discussed upon after several meetings with district chairmen.

Among the ward leaders who attended the meeting were Mrs. Teressa Lesch, vice chairman; George J. Schad, chairman of the County Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes; Magistrate Ray E. Schaffer; Chester Gever, and representatives of each of the 21 districts.

LIQUOR BUYER TEST FAILS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The charge against Joseph Patrick Carley of buying a half pint of gin—heralded as a test of the liquor buyer's guilt under the Volstead act—collapsed in Police Court today after the prosecution was unable to find anyone who would admit selling the gin to Carley.

The charge against the man was changed to one of possessing liquor and it immediately dropped from one of prime importance to simply another prohibition case.

Assistant Secretary Lowman announced today that the charge against Carley was expected to determine the government's attitude toward prosecuting buyers of liquor. He added that a test of the purchaser's liability under the Volstead act had never been made and commented after hearing the charge had been changed that he hoped a test case eventually would settle the matter.

District of Columbia officials [illegible] by the quick change of affairs, said they intended to bring other charges of "buying" against persons found in the possession of liquor.

Ruins Patrolman's Uniform in Battle

George was arrested yesterday after a struggle in Wylie avenue with Patrolman John Slavin, emerging a battle-scarred victor.

Slavin was investigating an attempted hold-up at Wylie and Washington avenues. George was standing near, looked "suspicious," Slavin states. As the patrolman approached, George's hand slowly emerged from his coat as though he were drawing a weapon, Slavin says. They grappled. Slavin finally succeeded in getting the knife after a struggle which ruined his brass-studded blue uniform. Gray gave his address as 722 Manilla street.

"One hundred dollars or 90 days," said Magistrate Thomas D. Jones.

FIRE DESTROYS $50,000 ESTATE

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Nine buildings at Hillsmere, three miles from here on South River, the summer estate of Martin H. Smith, of New York City, were destroyed by fire, H. F. Myers, the caretaker, estimated the loss at $50,000.

A three-story frame barn, two granaries, an incubator, a corn crib and four garages were destroyed. Twenty horses and six cows in the barn, all of the stock, were saved.

The fire was discovered by the caretaker and his assistant while working in the fodder room of the barn before sunset. Their attempts to extinguish the fire were without avail and apparatus was called from Eastport, West Annapolis and Annapolis.

Mrs. Margaret A. Mitinger, 68, formerly of Wilkinsburg, but who recently has been living with a son, Howard Mitinger, of Gettysburg, died last night at the Anne Warner Hospital, Gettysburg. She was a member of the South Avenue Methodist Church, Wilkinsburg. She leaves two sons, Howard, of Gettysburg, and John P. Mitinger, of Pittsburgh, and a daughter, Mrs. G. C. Watson, of Boston, Mass.

Alfred C. Opperman.

Funeral services for Alfred C. Opperman, 61, who died Wednesday at his home, 5908 Hampton street, will be held tomorrow evening from his home. Mr. Opperman was a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh, secretary of the William Schuette Lumber Company and a member of the Union Club and Keystone Athletic Club. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Clara A. Opperman, and a daughter and a brother.

Mrs. Rebecca McSpadden.

ROCKWOOD, Pa., Feb. 13.—Funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. Rebecca McSpadden, 83, widow of J. C. McSpadden, a contractor. Burial was made at New Centerville. She leaves two sons, Thomas and Sampson McSpadden, of Rockwood, and three daughters, Mrs. L. M. Parling, Mrs. A. H. Bittner and Miss Sarah McSpadden, of Rockwood. Mrs. McSpadden's father and two brothers were killed in an explosion in a cartridge factory in Pittsburgh, where they were employed during the Civil War. Mrs. McSpadden, who was at that time unmarried, was also working in the factory, but escaped injury.

Mrs. N. M. McKarney.

Funeral services for Mrs. Cora Edeburn McKarney, 49, who died Tuesday morning, will be held today at her late home, 316 Welsh avenue, Wilmerding. Mrs. McKarney was a resident of Wilmerding for several years and was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church of that place. She leaves her husband, N. M. ELOPERS SHARE DANCE HONORS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Standing between her aristocratic bank teller husband, William Jefferies Chewning, Jr., and her multimillionaire father, Senator Couzens, of Michigan, the former Margaret Couzens, last night appeared in the high social circles of her own family for the first time since her elopement and marriage.

The occasion was a dance that had been planned for "Miss Couzens," to repay the courtesy of many members of the diplomatic and Congressional groups who entertained her while she herself eschewed large-scale entertaining before her marriage.

About 500 guests, including 12 Ambassadors, were invited. More than 40 Senators attended. Vice-President Curtis and his sister, Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, remained for almost an hour.

ONE-ROOM FLAT OUT

While the party progressed it was announced by the secretary to the bride's mother that the young couple would not occupy the one-room, kitchenette apartment which they rented before they eloped, but would set up housekeeping in a spacious apartment in the Massachusetts avenue exclusive residential district.

Before the dance, the Chewnings entertained at a dinner party of their own, at which the bride's parents were not present.

Dressed in blue taffeta, cut on princess lines, Mrs. Chewning and her husband arrived at the Carlton Hotel, scene of the larger affair, shortly after 8 o'clock and were joined by about a dozen young guests, among them a brother and a sister of Mrs. Chewning, and Miss Loranda Prochnik, daughter of the Austrian Ambassador.

PAIR AT EASE

Smiling, thoroughly at ease, Mr. and Mrs. Chewning stood with Senator and Mrs. Couzens, greeting the brilliantly gowned women and formally attired masculine guests. Both ballrooms of the hotel had been filled with spring flowers and ferns. Mrs. Couzens was robed in magenta velvet, and her elder daughter wore a black tulle gown shot with embroidery.

Senator and Mrs. Couzens joined their daughter and son-in-law shortly before 10 o'clock, the guests beginning to arrive shortly afterward. The Chewnings arrived from the hotel suite they are occupying while their apartment is being refinished, and to this suite they returned after the dance.

On the evening before she drove to Baltimore to be married, Mrs. Chewning assisted Mrs. Couzens in making out the guest list for tonight's affair. At that time the Senator had not met the bridegroom, and Mrs. Couzens knew him only slightly. The Couzens family, however, has welcomed the young bridegroom to the family circle. Chewning is the son of a blue-blooded Virginia physician. He met the Senator's daughter at the President's yacht races last fall.

Mother of Eight Slays Husband After Chase

FREEPORT, N. Y., Feb. 13.—After chasing her husband three blocks through the streets, Mrs. Elizabeth Velez, 29, mother of eight children, stabbed him to death with a butcher knife, police charged.

Witnesses saw the man and his wife at one of the busiest corners in town and later observed the husband run from her. She overtook him in a vacant lot, chased him into an excavation and there stabbed him to death, the police charged. Climbing out of the hole Mrs. Velez walked to a gasoline filling station from where she telephoned and told authorities of her husband's death.

SAILS TO STUDY AMERICAN ART

HAVRE, France, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Eustache Stoenescu, acknowledged in French art circles as the greatest living painter of Rumania, has sailed for the United States to study what he described as "The New School of American Painting."

"Hitherto American painters have been coming to Europe to put the final touches upon their artistic education," he explained. "I feel now, however, that the United States is developing a new style of painting which is as deserving of attention as its contributions to architecture. More vivid coloring and closer naturalism is what strikes me as the outstanding characteristics of present day American painting."

Seek to Refloat Grounded Steamer

GALVESTON, Tex., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Tugs were being assembled here in an attempt to float the Spanish Nervion line steamer Marcaribe which went aground in the Houston ship channel. The vessel, loaded with cotton and other cargo for Spanish ports, was outbound from Houston when she ran aground.

Rayon Pajamas

$1.75 $3.75

Two groups of rayon pajamas that offer practically every style pajama one could desire. Some are of pastel shades, and the pajamas of deeper coloring use borders and appliques to contrast their tones. This is the type of pajama that school girls or business women like because they are so quickly and easily laundered.

STEEL WORKERS ON LONG SHIFTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The information service of the research department of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America says that 26.9 per cent of the men employed in the steel industry in the United States are working a seven-day week.

The report, based upon data gathered from 250 plants in sections of Alabama, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, Ohio and Illinois, says that 46.6 per cent of the men work 10 hours a day, 24 per cent, 11 hours, and 6.7 per cent, 12 hours. The remainder work eight hours.

The plants studied employ nearly a quarter of a million men.

Wages for common labor in the plants range from 24 cents to 56 cents per hour, the report said. The age limit of new employes in 42 plants varied from 45 to 60 years and the average limit 45 years.

Investigators were refused information in 21 factories owned by four large steel companies, the report concluded.

FIND EIELSON'S HAT IN WRECK

MOTORSHIP NANUK, North Cape, Siberia, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Encouraged by the finding in the wreckage of his plane, the helmet worn by Pilot Carl Ben Eielson, American aviator lost November 9, workmen searching for the bodies of Eielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, resumed their labors with renewed vigor today. The wreck was found January 25 in an icy lagoon 90 miles southeast of here.

Pilot Joe Crosson, who reported discovery of Eielson's helmet on his return from a flight to the lagoon yesterday, said a part of the cockpit also had been recovered from the ice and that the workmen were digging around one of the wings torn off the plane.

Crosson said the searchers planned to continue clearing away the snow toward the spot where they believed the plane first hit the tundra, several hundred feet from where the cabin of the plane was found. He said they expected to have all the wreckage dug out within three days, provided favorable weather continued, and that they hoped to find the bodies soon. The plane was almost buried by snowdrifts when located.

PASSENGER AIR REORD SET

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 13.—(AP)—A new speed record for light airplanes carrying pilot and passenger was claimed by Willfred G. Moore who piloted his inland sport monoplane 126.95 miles an hour over a 100-kilometer course.

Making more than two miles a minute, Moore surpassed the former record by 7.13 miles an hour, which stood since A. S. Butler and his wife flew 119.839 miles an hour in England, December 7, 1928.

Moore's plane is rated in Class C for two-seaters whose weight empty must be less than 400 kilograms or 881 pounds. With Moore was William S. Glodfelty, another employe of the Inland Aviation Corporation, of Kansas City. The flight was observed by Luke Christopher for the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

Stomach Troubles Headache and Dizziness

If your stomach is sick, you are sick all over. If you can't digest your food, you lose strength, get nervous and feel as tired when you get up as when you went to bed.

For 10 years Tanlac has restored to health and activity thousands who suffered just as you do—many of them right here in town. For instance, here is a letter from Mr. Nicholas Buynak, who says: "Indigestion was carrying me down at an alarming rate. One time it had me laid up in bed for six weeks. Tanlac has me eating, sleeping, and feeling fine and I don't believe it has an equal."

Let Tanlac do for you what it did for this sufferer. It corrects the most obstinate digestive troubles—relieves gas, pains in the stomach and bowels. It restores appetite, vigor and sound sleep.

Tanlac is made of roots, barks and herbs. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you. Accept no substitute.

When it Looks Dark

to any weak, nervous or ailing woman,

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes to her aid. Women in every walk of life today say is a reliable tonic. It is made from roots and herbs, sold by druggists, in both fluid and tablets.

One happy woman says: "I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown—the nerves of my stomach were so completely upset that my food would not digest properly, and I would have dizzy spells. I was just a wreck, not caring whether I lived or died, but seven bottles of the 'Prescription' was all that was necessary to give me a new lease on life, and from that time to this I have kept in splendid health."—Mrs. Ida McAllister, 153 Kleinhans Ave., S. AMERICAN HELD BY CHINESE

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Authorities here today learned of a case involving an American missionary in a fatal automobile accident in Tungchow, Kiangsu province, which may have a bearing on China's recent determination to abolish extra-territoriality.

It was learned that A. H. Smith, a missionary of the Christian Reformed Church, which has American headquarters at Grand Rapids, Mich., had surrendered himself to a Chinese court at Tungchow for trial as a result of the death of a Chinese boy in an automobile accident.

American consular authorities at Nanking sent a destroyer from Nanking to Tungchow Tuesday, bearing a consular official who investigated the affair and sent his findings to the American legation in Peiping.

Carnegie Woman Cut, Husband Held

Ramsay MacDonald's Uncle Dies in U. S.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—(AP)—James Falconer, 72, an uncle by marriage of J. Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain, died at his home in Darby, a suburb. Falconer, a carpenter, was born in Scotland. His first wife, who died many years ago, was MacDonald's aunt.

First Air Mail Pilot Heads Pioneer Fliers

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Earle Ovington, pioneer aviator who flew the first airmail from Nassau to Mineola, N. Y., a distance of six miles, today became president of aviation's unique organization, the Early Birds—fliers who won their aerial spurs prior to December, 1916. He succeeds P. G. B. Morriss, of New York. A trans-continental telephone hook-up connection meetings of Early Birds in New York City and Los Angeles brought to Ovington last night the news of his election there and in return carried his acceptance address.

BIRTH TRAPS 2 IN SLAYING

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Traced by threats of a baby's birth record, two men sought in connection with the slaying of a Cleveland policeman and numerous Ohio robberies were arrested here.

The pair, Charles Hannick, alias Hanowich, 22, and George Williams, alias John Lord, 24, paroled Illinois convict, were taken by local police, assisted by Cleveland officials who had intercepted a letter telling of the birth of a child to Mrs. Hannick.

An examination of local birth records revealed the address of the Hannicks and the suspect surrendered without resistance.

Hannick furnished police with the address of Williams who was arrested along with Miss Jewel Long, 21, of Sioux City, Ia., under questioning. Hannick said Williams shot and killed Patrolman Carl Sherman and wounded Sergt. Martin Hoffman when the police interrupted the pair during an attempted holdup of the Willis garage at Seventy-ninth street and Euclid avenue in Cleveland on the night of March 6. Hannick also confessed he and Williams held up the Rumanian Savings and Loan Company in Cleveland April 10, obtaining $4,200.

Both men, who police said are suspected of complicity in a number of other Ohio bank robberies, announced they will waive extradition.

Two Men Burned By Cinders, 1 Dies

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Two men were burned one fatally, when their clothing was ignited by molten cinders at the Bethlehem steel plant here. Frank Radolsky, 23, succumbed to his burns and John Muha, 18, was reported near death. The hot mass broke through the bottom of a cinder pot.

Six Months Layoff At Bridgeport Mine

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 13.—The Bridgeport mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company will curtail operations tomorrow for a six-month period. Partial suspension in activities is the result of repairs to be made this summer at Clairton by-product plant where most of the Bridgeport coal was being shipped. Officials stated that 540 of the 650 men employed in the mine would be laid off.

Man Arrested as Aid in Car Theft

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 13.—Equipment worth $100 was stolen from the automobile of Victor Vahldehil, of Richeyville. For $15, William Gladish, of Bentleyville, said he would reveal the thief, but Vahldehil attempted to compromise for $5. The offer was refused and Gladish was arrested as an accessory. He was held for court.

Dynamite Victim Dies in Hospital

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 13.—Morris Rosenberg, 40, died in the New Castle Hospital as a result of a fractured skull suffered Tuesday afternoon in the yards of the Pittsburgh Coal and Junk Company, when a stick of dynamite which he was about to light, exploded.

Defies Tradition, Used Dead Man's Parachute

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 13.—(INS)—Aviation tradition was defied here when Henry "Buddy" Bushmeyer, parachute instructor, made a 2,000-foot jump with a "dead man's" parachute.

Bushmeyer made the jump in the still blood-stained chute which Elliott Delisser wore when killed last week.

District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards had confiscated the chute for investigation regarding the responsibility for Delisser's death.

In order to show that the parachute was not at fault, Bushmeyer with county officials watching, jumped from a plane 2,000 feet up and made a safe landing. It is customary to scrap a parachute which an aviator wore when killed.

LABOR DEMAND FALLING OFF

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Although lower than in October and November, employment in the manufacturing industries in the United States during December 1929 was slightly higher than for the same month in 1928, a report issued by the National Industrial Conference Board said.

Employment in 1929 reached its peak in May, the report said, and the decline to December was less than 10 per cent. Despite the depression it continued, wage rates practically were unaffected.

During the early part of the year employment reached the peak level of 1923 "and this in spite of the much increased productivity per worker achieved through technological progress during the past decade," the report said.

COUNTY FAIRS GROUP MEETS

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Reports submitted to the Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs in annual convention here showed that nearly 2,000,000 persons attended the 71 fairs held in the State last year. Total expenses, including premiums and incidentals, were $1,323,544. Of this amount the State paid approximately $200,000.

Officials of 50 Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland county fairs attended the meeting. In an address on sanitation Dr. Henry W. Turner, president of the Doylestown fair, emphasized the importance of severe tests on livestock previous to exhibiton at various shows. Other speakers included Charles G. Jordan, State secretary of agriculture; Dr. H. H. Waters, general manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto; William H. Gocher, secretary of the National Trotting Association, and Harry White, Indiana, Pa., president of the County Fair Association.

A number of fairs announced dates for their 1930 meets. Pottsville, Hatfield, Harrisburg and Trenton selected Labor day week, September 1-6. Other dates included Lancaster, August 19-23; Flemington, N. J., August 26-September 1; Doylestown, September 23-27; Reading, September 9-13; Hanover, September 9-12; Allentown, September 16-20, and Bloomsburg, September 22-27.

Find Wildcat Still Near Greensburg

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 12.—County detectives, raiding in South Huntingdon township, found a wildcat distillery when they visited the farm house of Ignatz Garber, 52, where they reported finding a 200-gallon still in operation, together with 115 gallons of whisky and 49 barrels of mash. Garber was held for court.

PETS GUARDED AFTER THREAT

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Police last night stationed guards at the North Side animal shelter, a haven for homeless animals, after owners of the place said they received threats that the building was to be destroyed.

Receipt of the threats follows closely the burning of Irene Castle McLaughlin's animal refuge, allegedly by incendiaries. Scores of homeless animal pets, sheltered by Mrs. McLaughlin were detroyed in the blaze.

SUN-TELEGRAPH

BOOTLEG RUM IMPROVING

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Dr. Fred O. Tonney, head of the city health department laboratory in summing up the results of a five-year study of prohibition liquor, stated that Chicago's liquor last year was 89.13 drinkable.

The report, Dr. Tonney said, covers chemical analysis of 6,645 samples taken in police raids since 1925. The potable per cent is higher than government figures show, he said but he considers the police raided a wider variety of illegal liquor sources and that his figures give a better idea of what Chicago drinks.

LIQUOR IMPROVES

In the five years, the quality of liquor has improved, he said due to improvements in bootleggers' methods of brewing and distillation.

In 1925, 62 per cent of liquor examined was found to be fit to drink; in 1926, 83.44 per cent; in 1927, 80.18 per cent; in 1928, 81.20 per cent; in 1929, 89.13 per cent. Wine was best; of 443 samples, all were found potable. Beer was next; of 3,594 samples, 99.37 per cent were harmless. Of 870 samples of alcohol 50.12 per cent was found potable, with 39.43 per cent crude or moonshine, 7.35 per cent redistilled from denatured alcohol and 3.10 per cent denatured. Of 844 whisky samples, 67.39 per cent showed harmless.

DENATURANTS USED

The remainder showed nicotine, wood alcohol, chloral hydrate and other denaturants. Genuine bourbon totaled 17.10 per cent; cut bourbon 15.23 per cent, 3.62 genuine Scotch; 12.48 cut or synthetic Scotch and 1.95 per cent genuine brandy. There was no real gin.

The big laugh was that 64.90 per cent of beer samples were found to be near beer.

Among denaturants found were acetaldehyde, fusell oil phenol, mercury salts, kerosene, benzol, aldehol, isopropyl and wood alcohol, copper, zinc, oil of lilac and bitter almonds.

Producer Who Gave Shaw Start Dies

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—John E. Vedrenne, famous British theatrical manager, who was reputed to have given George Bernard Shaw, John Galsworthy and other playwrights their "first chance," died at his home in Surrey today.

Vedrenne was 62. Associated with Granville Barker, Vedrenne produced many of Shaw's most famous plays. Vedrenne also managed the production of many of Sir James Barrie's plays, as well as those of Arnold Bennett and Maurice Maeterlinck.

Newton Steel Co. Plant Completed

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 13.—Newton Steel Company will operate its new plant at Monroe, Mich., at a 30 per cent rate beginning next Monday, and expects to gradually swing the property into full production. It has a monthly capacity of 20,000 tons of sheets, the same as the company's Newton Falls mills.

The Monroe property will employ about 1,500 men, and represents an initial investment of $3,000,000.

KIDD CLEARED IN MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Orin K. Kidd, brother-in-law of Mrs. Billy Payne, slain recently, was released from jail after police investigation cleared him of suspicion.

Mrs. Payne, 33, was found dead on the highway near Long Beach, Cal., Sunday morning. Kidd had accompanied her to a dance Saturday night.

Police said several new and important witnesses will testify at the inquest into Mrs. Payne's death. They said their testimoney was expected to disclose the manner in which the woman was killed.

Pictures, He Found, Cost Beaver Man $25

Innate curiosity and the "power of suggestion" caused A. L. Mitchell, alias Alvin Nagel, 40, of 571 Canal street, Beaver, to examine and pocket alleged obscene pictures found in a downtown restroom, he told Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court today when arraigned on a suspicious person charge. Mitchell was fined $25 or 30 days in jail.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of this Hamburg Tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacupful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and relieve grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

BUTLER LAUDS U. S. COLLEGES

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Speaking at the annual alumni day dinner of Columbia University, Nicholas Murray Butler, the university's president, said last night that the colleges and universities of the world are more powerful than the governments, armies and navies.

The speech was broadcast throughout the United States and many parts of the world by the National Broadcasting Company. Telegrams of congratulations were received from such widely separated cities as Paris; Manila, P. I.; Sydney, Australia; London, Havana and Kobe, Japan.

"The greatest power in the world today," Dr. Butler said, "is the organized power of intelligence, which has its centers in the colleges and the universities.

"We Americans are too apt to dwell on the political and economic developments of our national life. Great as our building in these fields has been, the building of these great powerhouses of learning has been more extraordinary still."

BETTER PRISON FARE URGED

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Improved medical, entertainment and recreational facilities to reduce the mental and physical strain to which inmates are subjected, were recommended in a medical and health survey of more than 100 state prisons and adult reformatories, William B. Cox, secretary of the National Society of Penal Information, announced here.

The study was made by Dr. Frank L. Rector, executive secretary of the Chicago Medical Society, and by an advisory committee.

The survey found that "the great restrictions imposed upon all inmates, the continued supervision of activities, the lack of privacy, the necessity of conforming to the rules, are all elements of the artificial environment of institutional life and are often the cause of mental as well as physical strain. The physical health is further affected by inadequate ventilation and lighting, monotonous diet and a minimum of recreational opportunities that exist in many prisons."

In addition to the improved medical, recreational and entertainment facilities, the report recommended elimination of politics from the appointment of prison physicians, segregation of narcotic addicts, separate sanatoriums for tuberculosis prisoners, modification of prison diets to include less meat and more vegetables, and health education.

Mother and Three Children Gone From Home

FREEDOM, Pa., Feb. 13.—Missing from their home here since Monday police have been requested to search for Mrs. Carmel Paoletti, 30, and her three small children.

GERMANS RAID SOVIET OFFICE

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Rumors that explosives were stored in the office of the local representative of the Soviet Trade Commission caused police to stage a raid on the building. Finding no explosives in the office, the officers compelled employes of the commission to take them to their homes, but search of the dwellings also failed to reveal explosives or arms.

The raid was carried out over the protest of the Soviet representative, who charged that the police violated his extraterritorial rights.

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The Soviet embassy denounced the police raid on the Munich offices of the Soviet Trade Commission. An attache said the raid was wholly unwarranted as it was no secret that the Munich agent, among other commodities, offered for sale explosives to be used in quarries and similar industries.

The attache said the trade representatives had no extraterritorial rights, but it was indicated some sort of a formal protest might be lodged with the German foreign office, despite this aspect of the case.

WORK SPEEDED ON CHURCH

The erection of the new building of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church, Alabama avenue, Dormont, is progressing rapidly. The steel work of the church proper has been placed and the excavation for the church school unit is about completed. The congregation expects to hold services in the fellowship room in September and the entire building will be dedicated in November.

This first part of the building program has been made by the church at a cost of $225,000. Rapid progress has been made by the church under the ministry of the present pastor, the Rev. Edward Bleakney, who came to this community just two years ago.

FEWER MINERS KILLED IN 1929

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—For each million tons of coal mined in the United States last year, at least three miners were killed.

At the same time the fatality rate in coal production for the year, the Bureau of Mines said, was less than for the previous year. A total of 2,181 died from coal mine accidents in the country during 1929.

There were 2,186 coal mine deaths in 1928, but 1929 coal production was 25,905,000 tons in excess of 1928.

Police Seek Girl, Missing 3 Days

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 13.—Police of Northeastern Ohio are searching for Dorothy Wisbar, 18, of Ashland, Wisconsin, missing since Tuesday. The authorities fear the girl has met with foul play. She was visiting her sister here at the time of her disappearance.

Jeweler Robbed Of $10,000 in Gems

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Two robbers held up Harry Malashock, proprietor of a jewelry store here, and escaped with gems valued at $10,000, he reported to police.

Duce Asks Press To Tell Truth About Italy

ROME, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini was the guest last night of the Foreign Press Club of Rome, and told the correspondents of newspapers from 25 nations that they were privileged to live in Italy during the country's most interesting period.

"I do not ask that you praise us, but only that you tell the truth about us," said the Duce. "I consider that you are my colleagues and assure you of my unmixed and cordial sympathy."

R. J. Hodel, president of the club, reminded the members that the inauguration of the organization resulted from a suggestion made by Mussolini himself in 1925. The premier remained at the club for nearly an hour chatting with the newspapermen and with the ambassadors of the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany who were also guests.

MAN POISONED, WIDOW HELD

EL DORADO, Ark., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Accused of poisoning her husband to collect an undetermined amount of life insurance, Mrs. Bertie Gentry, 35-year-old widow, was held to the grand jury without bail after her preliminary hearing here.

Neighbors of the couple at Strong, near here, attending the hearing, immediately started raising funds to aid prosecution of the woman. There is considerable feeling against Mrs. Gentry, officers said, and extra precautions were taken to prevent disorder among a crowd of several thousand persons gathered in and about the court house during the hearing.

Mrs. Gentry's mother, Mrs. Luke Pridgeon, was dismissed on a first degree murder charge after the prosecution attorney, Alvin D. Stephens, had stated little evidence had been obtained against her. Mrs. Pridgeon's husband was released several days ago after being arrested and charged with being an accessory to the alleged crime.

Testimony introduced by the State included a report from State Chemist William F. Mangeldorf, that he found a sufficient amount of poison in Gentry's viscera to cause death. Gentry's body was exhumed February 1, the day after burial, when neighbors reported to officers the man died under unusual circumstances.

Paul Tatum, Union county jailer, testified Mrs. Gentry told him after her arrest that she gave her husband three capsules, and that he died in convulsions a few moments after taking them. A druggist testified he filled a prescription for Mrs. Gentry which contained the type of poison reported in Gentry's viscera.

Mrs. Gentry did not take the stand, and no witnesses were introduced in her behalf.

DOPE TRADE HIT AT GENEVA

Universal Service Special Cable.

GENEVA, Feb. 13.—The illicit drug traffic is even a greater crime against humanity than piracy, and should be dealt with accordingly under the laws of the nations. This is the burden of a resolution offered the League of Nations' advisory committee on traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs by Senor Vasconcelos, the Portuguese representative.

The resolution won the support of Sir Malcolm Delevingne, the British representative. He declared that the illicit traffic was so regarded in Great Britain and proposed that the question be studied by League jurists and added to the agenda of the next session of the committee. In this way, Sir Malcolm said, there may be found ways and means to increase the facility of extraditing illicit drug traffickers.

The report submitted by the American government for the last six months of 1928, showing the large number of drug shipment seizures from Europe in the Far East came up for discussion, but little comment was offered.

Senor Vasconcelos denied that a certain seizure bearing Macao labels originated from the Portuguese colony in China, declaring that he had a report from his government that such labels were used by smugglers to mislead investigators.

Truck Driver Held In Coaster's Death

A coroner's jury today recommended that Pasquale Balsano, truck driver, of 231 Fisk street, Avalon, be held for the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in the death of 9-year-old Wilbert Lindner, of 201 Birmingham avenue, Avalon.

Wilbert died of a fractured skull received when his sled and Balsano's truck met in Orchard avenue at Ohio street, Avalon.

Students Accused In Stealing of Tombstones

BOULDER, Col., Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Rewards were offered here for the apprehension of persons, believed to be University of Colorado freshmen performing initiation rites, who removed a dozen tombstones from a local cemetery and placed them on the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority lawn.

Fingerprints were taken from the monuments by police and will be compared with fingerprints of every prospective fraternity initiate in the University in an effort to identify the culprits.

University of Colorado officials declared that drastic action would be taken against any student found to be involved in the mischief.

TRIPLE CRASH INJURES 3

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Feb. 13.—A girl was thrown through a windshield and two men were slightly hurt when three automobiles crashed in the Freeport road, three miles north of New Kensington, yesterday, Sergt. J. A. Blair and Private J. M. Burnsworth of the Parnassus detail of the State Highway Patrol today were continuing their investigation of the accident.

Elizabeth Maier, 16, of the Freeport road, Arnold, sustained internal injuries and lacerations of the head, and was taken to the Citizens General Hospital. Joseph Sekelsky of New Kensington, her companion, suffered lacerations of the head, and John Adams of Valley Heights, Arnold, driver of the second car, lacerations of the head and bruises of the body.

The accident occurred, Burnsworth said, when the car driven by Adams struck the rear of the Sekelsky machine and then sideswiped the parked automobile of William B. Ramsey, of 1700 Freeport road, Arnold. Adams was arrested by Burnsworth on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor and was to be given a hearing today before Justice of the Peace Jenkin Howell of Parnassus.

BIG CAR ORDER FOR FIRM HERE

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The Pullman Car and Manufacturing Company announced that it had been commissioned to manufacture and deliver 250 freight cars to the Louisville and Nashville Railroad.

The order, it was said, is part of an 1,800-car plan organized by the road. The Pressed Steel Car Company, of Pittsburgh, will make 1,050 cars, and the Mt. Vernon Car Company, of Mt. Vernon, Ill., the remaining 500. Information as to the amount of money involved was refused by company officials.

WILKINS SAFE, RETURNING TO BASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13. — Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins will arrive at Deception Island tomorrow on board the William Scoresby.

All on board are safe.

This was the word flashed from the Deception Island base of the Wilkins-Hearst Antarctic Expedition to the San Francisco Examiner's radio station KUP, at San Francisco.

SILENT TWO WEEKS

For more than two weeks Wilkins and three aides have been unheard from in the ice fields of the south polar region. They were seeking a base on the ice packs suitable for the take-off for an airplane flight across the Ross Sea. The entire western hemisphere has been striving to pick up radio signals from the steamer Scoresby.

And the radio message from Wilkins came direct to his Deception Island base.

It is also stated that Wilkins and his entire party will leave for Montevideo on board the steamer Henrik Ibsen tomorrow immediately upon his arrival at Deception Island.

BLOCKED BY WEATHER

Meager though that first direct flash from Wilkins was, it set at rest all fears for the intrepid explorer and his party. Deception Island radioed the news to KUP.

Adverse weather conditions are believed to have prevented Wilkins' communicating with his base during the period he has been exploring the ice packs of the polar regions. Last Moday, however, a whaler reported intercepting a message from the Scoresby. That message, however, did not reach the Deception Island station.

Delay Investigation In Club Raid Fight

The inquiry of the Police Trial Board into a fight between police and customers in a raid on a club at 1341 Fifth avenue was postponed today until Patrolman John Nowack, who was beaten in the disorder, is discharged from Mercy Hospital. Three men have been arrested: John Schneider, Republican chairman of the First Ward, on a charge of inciting a riot; Ike Pollis, deputy constable, and James Kelly, political follower, on charges of disorderly conduct.

South Sea Queen In Ermine, Crown

SIDNEY, Australia, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Salote, beautiful queen of the Kingdom of Tonga in the South Seas, does things in style. She has opened the newly elected Parliament with ceremony. Wearing ermine and a gold crown, she was followed from the palace to Parliament by pages in knee breeches and velvet coats. Her consort, Prince Tugi, is prime minister. There's a surplus in the treasury.

Doctor Flies of Aid Kin of Buick Head

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Dr. Robert Harris, Miami physician, left here by airplane late yesterday for Key West, where he was called by the illness of Mrs. Bruce Strong, daughter-in-law of E. P. Strong, president of the Buick Motor Company. Mrs. Strong was reported seriously ill with pneumonia. At Mrs. Strong's bedside are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, of Chicago.

Oh, boy! no more colds

Every night snuff a little "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly up the nostrils. It coats the membranes of the nasal passages. According to doctors, germs are not likely to get in their deadly work if these sensitive membranes are fortified against them by lubrication.

When you are outdoors on a dusty, windy day, use "Vaseline" Jelly in the nostrils to relieve that tickle. The tube is convenient to carry, so you can always have it with you when you need it.

If the throat feels husky, take a teaspoonful of the Jelly and swallow it. Radio stars, whose voices mean their bread and butter, have learned this trick. You can profit from it too.

Lay in a supply of "Vaseline" Jelly—in jars or tubes—at the nearest store. Use it regularly every night.

Battled Sharks With Machine Gun Fire

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Eugene F. McDonald, radio manufacturer and commander of the yacht Mizpah, back from a cruise about the Galapagos Islands in the Eastern Pacific, greeted friends today with a tale of fighting great schools of sharks with machine guns.

They were so thick that we were afraid they would endanger the yacht. We killed hundreds of them," McDonald said.

McDonald related that his party, which included several scientists, made discoveries of a scientific nature on the islands so startling that they could not be revealed until after further exploration.

Widow Inherits Husband's Estate

Mrs. Clara Theresa Richards receives the $12,500 estate of her husband, John H. Richards, of McCandless Township, by the terms of his will which was filed for probate today. At her death the estate goes to six children. A son, George Richards, was named executor.

Arrange Services For J. J. McCrane

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Funeral services for John J. McCrane, organizer of many Catholic pilgrimages to Rome who was decorated by three Popes, will be held here tomorrow. Interment will be made in Troy, N. Y. He died here at the age of 70.

RADIUM STUDY KELLY'S AIM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The House mines and mining committee yesterday heard Representative Kelly of Braddock urge a favorable report on his bill to authorize the bureau of mines to experiment in the manufacture of radium from carnotite ores.

Prior of 1922, when, Kelly said, Belgium obtained a monopoly on radium mines in the Congo, numerous chemical manufacturing plants in Western Pennsylvania were producing one-half the world's radium from the ores which are mined in Colorado and Utah.

It is to revive this industry and afford it an opportunity to compete with Belgium that he seeks the government's assistance.

Jury Out 5 Minutes Finds Slayer Guilty

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Lorenzo Price, 32, Negro, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury here, without qualification. He was charged with killing Reuben Hyman on January 2, and of assaulting Hyman's companion, Mrs. Dorothy Burgess.

The jury rendered its verdict after five minutes deliberation.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

We do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SPANIARDS FETE DE RIVERA FOE

At the casino he was officially welcomed by his political and academic friends who have kept him in the limelight throughout his exile in France, whither he went to escape prosecution for propaganda directed against the monarchy and the dictatorship of Primo De Rivera. He came back to this country after being granted a pardon by the new government in connection with the settlement of the students' strike that marked the closing days of previous regime.

Aged Pastor Found Dead in Garage

FEDERALSBURG, Md., Feb 13.—(AP.)—Rev. F. C. MacSorley, 80, was found dead by his wife in his garage near Middletown, Dela. Death was attributed to heart disease. He was formerly pastor of the Union Methodist Episcopal Church and was to have spoken here last night in connection with the re-opening services of the church.

Jury of Women Censures State Highway

WARREN, Pa., Feb 13.—(AP.)—A coroner's jury composed entirely of women—the first such body in the history of Warren County—investigated the death of Milburn Anderson, 7, fatally hurt in a coasting accident just outside the borough limits last Saturday. Edward Ange, driver of an automobile which collided with the boy's sled, was exonerated and the notation made that the accident would not have happened had the highway been cindered. The State Highway Department was declared "delinquent" in failing to cinder the road, which was said to have been ice-coated at the time of the fatality.

Urges Broening Run for Governor

BALTIMORE, Feb 13.—(AP.)—Mayor William F. Broening, of Baltimore, who is spending a vacation in Florida, was urged by Charles W. Pohlman, his superintendent of transportation, to make an early announcement of his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Pohlman predicted the mayor would be swept into office by a large majority on the theory that the people of Maryland want a change in administration at Annapolis.

1 KILLED, 1 HURT IN PLANE CRASH

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—T. E. Caraway, 35, chief flying instructor for the Spartan School of Aeronautics here, was killed, and J. F. Tobin, student flier, was injured critically late yesterday in an airplane crash. The training plane in which the two were flying fell nearly 3,000 feet and crashed on a farm one mile east of Chicago.

Although both men were wearing parachutes, neither had attempted to leap from the craft.

Tobin enrolled in the school last summer and had nearly 100 hours of solo flying to his credit. He was to have taken his examination for a limited commercial license this week. He came to Tulsa from Mount Vernon, N. Y.

HEIRESS' DEATH INQUIRY ASKED

HONOLULU Feb 13 (AP)—With the autopsy upon the body of Mrs Mallon Seiter delayed owing to the crowded condition of the morgue her brother Ralph Shainwald who asserted his belief that she died of unnatural causes, began action to force officials to permit his attendance at the inquest.

Shainwald conferred with Judge A E Steadman who announced later that a conference would be held in his chambers at which the matter would be discussed. Shainwald requested that the autopsy be held.

Mrs Seiter who was Mallon Shainwald of Irvington N Y married Col Granville Seiter November 13 1926 in Baltimore. She died in Honolulu in August 1928, leaving her husband $700,000 which she had inherited from her mother Mrs Riette Shainwald, of New York who died in 1925.

Although an autopsy last April developed nothing contrary to the cause of death stated by the attending physician Maj W C Whitmore as due to acute cardiac dilation Col Seiter assented to the suggestion of a second autopsy.

Maj Whitmore who also suggested that a second autopsy be held, said that he did so "merely to establish publicly such fact to stop unwarranted charges."

It was planned that Col Seiter of the Sixty-fourth Coast Artillery; Col R P Metcalf commanding the Army Hospital of Honolulu Shainwald and others should attend the conference in Judge Steadman's chambers.

ENVOY HOWARD GIVEN DEGREE

WASHINGTON Feb 13 (AP)—The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Sir Esme Howard retiring British ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps by Georgetown University last night in recognition of his work in promoting "peace concord" between the two countries.

In the presence of diplomats, Catholic dignitaries and educators, Sir Esme received the degree from the Rev Dr W Coleman Nevils, president of the university at a special convocation commemorating Lincoln's Birthday and the one-hundredth anniversary of the founding at Georgetown of the Philodemic Society, a debating club.

The Latin citation of the degree characterized the British ambassador as "a true patriot of his fatherland, ever and always the devoted friend of our beloved America."

Houseboat Trio Waives Extradition

BEAVER Pa Feb 13 A I Douglass Russell Backus and Claude Mitchell all of Wellsville O., waived extradition before Judge Frank E Reader and were taken to Wellsville to answer charges of robbery. The men were arrested in a houseboat on the Ohio River near Smiths Ferry detectives reported.

Fall From Girder May Kill Workman

BEAVER Pa Feb 13 Kenneth F Lloyd 43 of Rochester fell from a girder of the new addition to the First United Presbyterian Church and was probably fatally hurt.

SHARON PLANTS TO EXPAND

SHARON Pa Feb 13 Industrial Sharon will be benefitted by recent activities of the Sharon Steel Hoop Company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

The Westinghouse company in making Cleveland the center of its lighting division has announced that part of the foundry at Cleveland will be moved to the local plant where transformers are made.

The Sharon Steel Hoop has joined forces with others concerned in forming the Associated Alloy Steel Company with headquarters in Cleveland. The company was formed to sell exclusively corrosion heat and wear resisting alloy steels produced by the Sharon Steel Hoop and the other companies.

LARGE REWARD FOR KOUTIEPOFF

PARIS Feb 13—(AP)—A reward of $20,000 for information as to the whereabouts of Gen Alexander Paul Koutiepoff the White Russian leader who disappeared from the street here more than two weeks ago was offered by the newspaper Le Matin.

The reward will be paid whether the general is found dead or alive but the information must also permit identification of persons responsible for his disappearance.

Le Matin calls upon "any men who acted under the menace of threats from Moscow to atone for their crime by facilitating the course of French justice."

Victim of Market Crash Kills Self

DUBUQUE Ia Feb 13—(AP)—W H Day Jr 60 president of the Central Lumber and Coal Company committed suicide here by shooting himself. He was said to have been heavy loser in the recent stock market crash and was also in poor health.

BURIED ALIVE

Victims of Rheumatism, With Stiffened Joints and Racked With Pain, Suffer a Living Death.

Mr. Ross Gunage, of Washington, Pa., describes his recovery from this pitiable condition in the following letter:

"For years I suffered with Rheumatism in the legs, arms and one shoulder. I grew worse and worse. The time came when I rarely could leave the house. My joints were stiff, swollen and inflamed, and I was tortured with racking pain for a large part of every day and night. My friends dropped away and I became like a man buried alive and longing for death to end my suffering. A kindly neighbor told my daughter about 'World's Tonic' and how the helpful power of plants grown in their natural state are preserved in this famous new remedy. Until this time no medicine that I had ever taken had been of any real help. But I realized that ordinary patent medicines are too often nothing more than mere chemical extracts. So, when I learned that World's Tonic is different, in this important way, I decided to try it.

"The results were amazing. At the end of the first week the poison had left my blood, and the inflammation in my joints had left me. I was still quite stiff, but I suffered no pain. Gradually as I kept on using World's Tonic the stiffness seemed to melt away. My stomach, which had also given me a lot of pain, strengthened, and I developed a fine appetite for good hearty food. In the second month I gained twenty pounds in weight, and after a few weeks more I felt like my old self again.

"I will never cease to be thankful for World's Tonic, which has made me a new man. I always will recommend it to my neighbors and friends, for I am sure that they will be benefited when they use it."

World's Tonic is on sale at Dow's, May's & Liggett's, Mayflower, and all other modern drug stores. (A-57)

DECISION NEAR ON HOSPITAL

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Something definite may be ready for announcement late this month or early in March regarding the selection of a site for the proposed new federal veterans hospital for West Virginia, a delegation of Moundsville and Marshall County residents were told yesterday at Washington.

The delegation was heard by the hospitalization committee of the Veterans' Bureau, before which the hospital constructed on an acreage tract here.

It was made known that a site had not been selected, and that the first step in picking a location would be to determine the general area in the state for erection of the institution. After this has been accomplished consideration will be given to sites offered in this general area, with hearings to be held by a bureau committee in the communities offering sites. Engineers and other experts will accompany the committee.

The Moundsville delegation was advised that, should Marshall County be included in the general area decided upon, the local site will be given due consideration.

COAL COMPANY INDICTED

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The Glendale Gas-Coal Company was indicted by a Marshall County grand jury on two misdemeanor counts charging attempts to coerce and compel employes to purchase supplies at company stores. Marshall County officials said they believed it was the first time in the state that a coal company had been indicted in such a case.

The charges were made by Carl Albright, blacksmith, and Arch J. M'Elroy, former office manager for the company, who said they had been discharged because they declined to patronize the company establishments.

Officials of the company will be summoned to enter pleas today.

The Glendale company is owned by the Paisley interests of Cleveland, and at present its two mines in this vicinity are closed because of a strike. Albright and M'Elroy said they were discharged before the strike was called some two weeks ago.

(a) Serenade du paresse ..... Jules Massenet
(b) Ouvre ton coeur Sonia ..... Jules Massenet
(c) While the Host Is Facing ..... Harvey B. Gaul
(d) My Love Is a Rosebud ..... Marianne L. Brent
(Words by Grace Thompson Seton)
(e) Fairy Pipers ..... J. Herbert Brewer
Aria from "Don Carlos" ..... Giuseppe Verdi
"O don fatale"

Sigrid Onegin, more radiantly charming than ever before, returned once more to Syria Mosque last night, and a great audience did homage to her wonderful singing. If there is a better contralto, I cannot name her, for endowed with a phenomenal voice, Onegin adds to its natural beauty the art that comes with profound musical intelligence and devotion.

J. Fred Lissfelt

That Onegin prefers to win her public by the most legitimate means of offering them the best music is still more to her credit. She revives classics and the bravura airs of Rossini's day, she finds in museums forgotten manuscripts, she brings the little gems of folk song that only the most perspicacious student can find among the backwoods of this world. Her program happily showed the wonders of her voice as well as the ever increasing brilliance and lightness of her high register; the fioriturl of the Rossini air, was the most astonishingly pure exhibition of coloratura singing heard here in many a day.

There is creeping into Onegin's style a greater repose, noticeable in the quiet ecstacy of the "Fruehlingsnacht," and the musical parlondo effects of the "Karlenlegerin." The audience must have been surprised to find such life in Mendelssohn, so sadly neglected nowadays. Both the Mozart and Rossini airs belong alone to this contralto; the demands can be fulfilled by no other. After two pleasant French songs, it was gratifying to Pittsburgh to hear two songs of our own composers.

Encores are always in order by insistent letters to this singer. It goes without saying that we shall always hear her "Erlking," an interpretation which strikes terror from the opening note of the accompaniment. For sheer tonal beauty, the "Norwegian Shepherd's Song" is always welcome. There was "When Love is Kind," a German lullaby and student's "Love Song," and at the close a benediction in Mozart's "Allelujah."

Assisting Onegin was the German composer-pianist, Hermann Reutter, a member of the younger revolutionary group. His accompaniments are always in fine taste, never obvious. In the repose of the classics he plays Schubert. His own Spanish Dance is an earlier composition and easily wins its way. The "Boston" waltz given as encore shows more clearly his present tendencies from the beaten path, but was not an example of his greatest revolt.

Gayly Printed Cotton

Pattern 1841

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

The designs on the new cotton fabrics give sufficient life and variety to a frock, yet this model gains added smartness through side skirt flares that afford unusual grace and freedom. There is a becoming jabot which falls from the slender neck line.

Colorful percale, pique, dimity, gingham or wash silk would be charming for this style, with the neck, cuff bands and skirt flares bound in a color that harmonizes with the print of the fabric. This binding may be purchased by the yard.

Designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 36 inch material. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our NEW SPRING BOOK of PATTERN STYLES is now ready. Price FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

POSTPONE SALE OF HOG ISLAND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The United States Shipping Board has postponed action on plans for the sale of Hog Island to the city of Philadelphia for $3,000,000, after protests on the action by Jefferson Myers, a member of the board.

Myers contended sufficient details for the development of the island as an all-seasonal terminal had not yet been advanced by the city of Philadelphia, and urged postponement until definite plans were laid before the board.

The tract of land the board member said is one of the most valuable of government possessions on the Atlantic seaboard. He added he favored leasing rather than selling the island, which was used by the government for shipbuilding purposes during the war, in order that title to the property could be retained.

Man Held for Death Of Girl in Crash

CUMBERLAND, Md., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Francis H. Schriver, 29, a paperhanger, was ordered held by the coroner's jury on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Edna Evelyn Decker, 15, daughter of William B. Decker, Baltimore and Ohio employe, Sunday night. Schriver, according to witnesses, had been drinking.

His driver's license had been revoked prior to the crash and liquor was found in his car. Schriver is under guard at Allegany Hospital.

Irwin Man Held In Fatal Accident

EBENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 13.—A charge of involuntary manslaughter was preferred by the State Police against Lloyd Rodgers, of Irwin, in the death of Clarence Kissinger, 30, also of Irwin, killed in an automobile accident here last Saturday. Rodgers was released under $5,000 bail for court.

Needless Pain!

The man who wouldn't drive his motorcar half a mile when it's out of order, will often drive his brain all day with a head that's throbbing.

Such punishment isn't very good for one's nerves! It's unwise, and it's unnecessary. A tablet or two of Bayer-Aspirin will relieve a headache every time. So, remember this accepted antidote for pain, and spare yourself a lot of needless suffering. Read the proven directions and you'll discover many valuable uses for these tablets. For headaches, to check colds. To ease a sore throat and reduce the infection. For relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic pain.

People used to wonder if Bayer Aspirin was harmful. The doctors answered that question years ago. It is not. Some folks still wonder if it really does relieve pain. That's settled! For millions of men and women have found it does. To cure the cause of any pain you must consult your doctor; but you may always turn to Bayer Aspirin for immediate relief.

Penna. Doctor Hails Flaxolyn as Friend to All Who Seek Stomach Strength

Dr. Luntz's Flaxolyn activates the flow of vital juices and gives the stomach new power to digest the food you eat. 'Auto-intoxication', the cause of unnatural fatigue, is rapidly overcome when Flaxolyn rids the body of constipation poisons. Dr. Leyrer wishes every man and woman here would try Herbal Flaxolyn to see the great health improvement it brings.

"By sharpening the appetite and making food more easily digested, vitaminized Herbal Flaxolyn helps the body get more nourishment out of what you eat. Greater nourishment means a gain in strength and energy," says Dr. Leyrer. "I cannot recommend Flaxolyn too highly. It is a natural health-tonic par excellence.

"I have examined the Flaxolyn formula and know that each of its ingredients is recognized as safe and effective. But more than this, I have had actual experience with the use of Flaxolyn and can say it is the Enemy of Sickness and the Friend of Health."

1. Baked Flaxseed — Relaxes congestion; acts as astringent.
2. Sarsaparilla Roots — Contain saponin, effective blood remedy.
3. Buchu Leaves — Act on the kidney and bladder.
4. Ginger Roots — Quicken flow of vital digestive juices.
5. Dandelion Roots — Good old-fashioned intestinal cleanser.
6. Cardamom Seeds — Act on the stomach lining. Aromatic tonic.
7. Chinese Rhubarb — Invigorates stomach.
8. Spanish Licorice Roots — Removes mucus that may clog and poison digestive organs.
9. Culver Roots — Stimulate natural bile flow.
10. Gentian Roots — Create health; normal appetite.
11. Belgian Valerian Roots — Tone nerves and induce restful sleep of health.
12. California Bark — Cleanses colon and removes foreign matter from intestines.

Are You Sick or Run Down?

Read Why These American Doctors Recommend Flaxolyn

1. DR. VICTOR P. FLEMING, of York, Pa.: "Flaxolyn combats acidity, purifies the blood."
2. DR. MARGARET NESBITT, of Cleveland: "Flaxolyn aids nature to perform her functions."
3. DR. H. V. WALLS, of Pittsburgh: "Constipation, headache, nervousness responded to Flaxolyn."
4. DR. GEO. STARR WHITE, of Los Angeles: "Sound, restful sleep. Follows Flaxolyn's action on the intestinal tract."

If your sickness or tired, rundown condition is due to poor sleep, nervousness, gas, dizzy spells, headaches, chronic fatigue and other results of constipation, let the pleasant Flaxolyn sweep your intestinal canal free of toxic poisons. See how much better you feel. Flaxolyn is a friend of thousands here. Keeps the system in tone.

Flaxolyn must have unusual qualities because so many doctors not only recommend it . . . they use it themselves and call its results wonderful.

When Flaxolyn acts, the blood clears, the skin freshens, and the eyes sparkle. That tired, depressed appearance soon vanishes.

"Flaxolyn Assists Nature"

"Flaxolyn assists Nature in restoring a harmonious condition," says Dr. E. Thayer Ward of Cleveland. "People to whom I have recommended Flaxolyn for constipation, stomach troubles, headaches, nervousness, readily testify to its beneficial results."

Nervousness After Operation Caused General Depression; Flaxolyn Brings New Courage to This Lady

Loss of Sleep, Poor Appetite and Rundown Condition Was Having Its Tell-Tale Effect, When Mrs. DeWolf Began to Take Flaxolyn. Its Results Quick and Wonderful to Behold.

Mrs. S. De Wolf, like thousands of folks right here, has found that every claim made for Flaxolyn is more than true.

"Sometime ago I had to undergo a very severe operation and after it I became so nervous that I could neither eat nor sleep," says Mrs. De Wolf. "I was so depressed that I was in mental agony all day long. I looked terribly bad.

"My husband became worried about me and insisted that I try Flaxolyn. I want to tell you that I was positively amazed by the difference in my condition within a short time. From the day I started to take Flaxolyn I began to sleep well and with this my general condition improved with rapid strides. Today I feel like such a different person I can hardly believe it myself. Everybody tells me how healthy I look."

TAKE FLAXOLYN For THAT GLORIOUS HEALTHY COLOR!

Sleep Soundly; Awake Refreshed

If you want to keep physically fit, with Natural color in your cheeks, a spring to your steps, and lightness in your heart, keep your system free from the poisons of waste. "Herbal Flaxolyn is the best formula I know for this purpose," says Dr. Leyrer. "It TONES THE BODY TO A HIGHER KEY OF HEALTH."

Flaxolyn helps to induce the kind of sleep that rebuilds, rejuvenates, and supplies new energy.

"SHALL SHAPE AND A SHADOW OVERFLOW"

(John Greenleaf Whittier, 1807-1892)

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper figure, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

BLAME KILLING ON ROBBERY

CUMBERLAND, Md., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Vernon E. Rankin, prosecuting attorney of Mineral County, West Virginia, said Justice of the Peace A. F. Ridenour would hold an inquest in Ridgeley, W. Va., Saturday morning into the deaths February 5 of A. Walton Borror and Paul Morris.

The bodies of the men were found in Borror's Ridgeley garage and officers suspected they were slain in a pistol duel which occurred as Morris, the younger, went to rob Borror.

Nevertheless two men were arrested and taken to the Mineral County jail at Keyser, W. Va., to be held for questioning. A third man was sought by the police.

Four District Bond Issues Win Approval

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—A $400,000 bond issue to be floated by Shaler Township, Allegheny County, for the construction of a water and sewer system, was approved today by James F. Woodward, secretary of internal affairs. Four other loans were sanctioned by Secretary Woodward as follows: Swissvale Borough school district, Allegheny County, $80,000 for erecting and furnishing school building; Avalon Borough, Allegheny County, $40,000 for establishment of a children's playground and swimming pool; Brownsville Borough, Fayette County, $35,000 for funding present indebtedness and road improvements, and Summit Township, Erie County, $9,000 for funding road improvement indebtedness.

Pool Room Owner Mysteriously Slain

FARRELL, Pa., Feb. 13.—Local police are without good clues in another mysterious murder. Frank Desilvio, 45, Idaho street, was found on the sidewalk in front of his poolroom last night. He died in Buhl Hospital two hours later from a bullet wound near the heart. One suspect has been arrested.

Public Battles Revenue Men For Tobacco

COLOGNE, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Attempts by the public to salvage part of 500,000 pounds of confiscated tobacco the revenue officials were burning here led to clashes between tobacco lovers and officials.

Following upon the inability of a local firm of importers to pay the revenue tax on 5,000 cases of 100 pounds each of Virginia tobacco, the entire consignment was confiscated and stored. It soon became mouldy, and it was decided to burn the tobacco on a suburban field.

Residents of the vicinity tried to rescue at least a personal supply of the weed and were opposed by the officials. A free-for-all fight ensued, resulting in a number of arrests.

WOUNDED MAN CATCHES THIEF

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Although wounded in the groin, Marlin Weigle, 21, last night captured an alleged burglar after a chase of two blocks.

The prisoner, John Reppman, 40, was said to have taken some jewelry from the Weigle home.

As the Weigle family returned from a motor trip, Reppman was alleged to have been seen coming out of their house. I. A. Weigle, the father of Marlin, made an attempt to stop the man, but Reppman fired one shot at him and fled. Marlin Weigle dashed in pursuit. Reppman fired four more shots, one of which struck his pursuer.

As Weigle caught up with the fleeing man he leaped upon him and held him until other persons came to his aid. While Reppman was being escorted to the police station, Weigle was taken to a hospital for treatment. His condition was said to be not serious.

Police said Reppman had a long criminal record.

URGE SPEED IN FLOOD PLANS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—A need for speeding up the government's flood control work and for guaranteeing reasonable compensation for damage to private property was expressed to the House Flood Control Committee as it went forward with its study of proposals to amend the Jadwin plan.

Senators from three states — Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi—stressed both points.

The reservoir plan, under which the flood waters of streams tributary to the Mississippi would be impounded and then released later in the season, was advocated by Representative Sears, of Nebraska, a Republican committee member. He said this would "do away with all floods on the river."

After Senator Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, had urged that some protection be afforded to the rich farming section around Hickman, Ky., the Nebraskan offered the reservoir system as a possible alternate to the Jadwin plan. Barkley replied that if such a scheme would prove practicable from an economic standpoint, "it would be the ideal solution."

He raised the question, however, that there might be objection to this system in that it would require the depopulation of large areas, but Sears contradicted this.

Insignia for War Workers Suggested

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Representatives of the American Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, Jewish Welfare Board, Salvation Army and other similar organizations which served with the A. E. F. in "the field of actual war," would be given the right to receive and wear authorized campaign insignia such as is given to officers and enlisted men, under a bill introduced by Representative Esterly, (Rep.), Pennsylvania.

'I Do the Drinking,' Sexton's Wife Tells Court

"Oh, no, I do all the drinking," was the response of a woman who identified herself as the wife of the sexton at the First United Presbyterian Church of Sewickley, to Magistrate Thomas D. Jones' inquiry if her husband drinks.

Mrs. Anna Lafferty, 42, Sewickley, was arrested last night for drunkenness.

According to Mrs. Lafferty, she came to Pittsburgh yesterday, visited friends, became intoxicated. In Morals Court this morning, Jones said he would discharge her if she would promise to go home sober. Mrs. Lafferty promised not to take another drink before she arrived in Sewickley.

POSTAL CLERKS' BILL OPPOSED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Postmaster General Brown recoommended the principle of an eight-hour day for all federal employes in both the field and departmental services.

Testifying before the House Postoffice Committee on the Kendall bill to provide a half holiday on Saturday for postal workers, Brown said, however, that he could not endorse that measure because of the increased financial burden it would place upon his department, which already is operating at a deficit. He explained that the postal force receives certain benefits which industrial workers do not get.

Postal officials have estimated that enactment of the Kendall bill would cost the government $13,000,000 annually. Postal employes' representatives contradicted this estimate, insisting that the cost would not amount to more than 50 per cent of that amount.

U. S. LINES PLAN 2 FAST SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Paul W. Chapman, president of the United States Lines, Incorporated, informed the shipping board that his concern planned to build two ships that on completion, probably would be the fastest afloat.

Under the provisions of a contract made in 1929 after buying vessels from the board, the United States Lines agreed to build two large passenger ships.

Chapman said the vessels would be in excess of 50,000 tons and would have a sustained speed of 28½ knots. He said this would enable them to break the record for a trans-Atlantic passenger crossing held by the German ship, Bremen.

Lightning Cripples Mine, 300 Men Idle

CENTRAL CITY, Ky., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Three hundred men faced unemployment today as a result of damage by a lightning bolt that disabled machinery of the Brownsville mine of the Gibraltar Coal Company last night, causing damage estimated by officials at $10,000. The storm also resulted in 30 minutes' darkness to scattered towns in three counties, Muhlenberg, McLean and Ohio. A bolt struck the power lines of the Kentucky Utilities Company.

Crime Study Bill Before Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Appropriation of $50,000 for the study of the criminal, dependent and defective classes, would be authorized under a bill introduced by Representative Christopherson, (Rep.) South Dakota.

The laboratory would be in charge of a director appointed by the President and assisted by a staff of specialists.

LONDON STYLES INDIVIDUAL

By BARON GEORGE WRANGEL.
Universal Service Special Cable.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—France may be the traditional land of individualism but England is the land of individuality in Milady's dress.

Whereas in Paris everybody who is anybody strives to achieve "the mode" of the moment, hereabouts everybody who is anybody apparently seeks to preserve a mode distinctly her own.

At Claridge's, where London's most fashionable persons foregather for luncheon, there was, for example, today hardly a woman of whom it could be said she was not well-dressed. Yet, on the fingers of a single hand could be counted the women describable as smartly or modishly clad, as these words fit, in a corresponding gathering in the French capital.

Conspicuous in the gathering at Claridge's was the noticeable youthful face and figure of the charming Signora Grandi, lunching vivaciously and alone with her almost equally youthful husband, Mussolini's 35-year-old foreign minister and chief of the Italian naval delegation.

Her smart green ensemble of olive shade would have set her off anywhere, while her modish hat of the same shade revealed her clear olive complexion. The coat was trimmed with heavy beaver collar and cuffs.

Associate Named Dean at Columbia

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Collins P. Bliss has been named to succeed Charles H. Snow as dean of the New York University Engineering College, it was announced last night at a dinner of the Arts and Engineering Alumni of the university. He has served as associate dean of the college since 1927.

Fires Furnace, Mystery Veils Burns

Firemen who rushed to the home of Raphael Papa, 39, of 2312 Candace street, Beechview, found no flames but they did come upon Papa badly burned on the face and hands.

Papa said he was burned when flames leaped out of the furnace door while he was starting a fire. The firemen said there was no indication of a fire in the furnace.

Mrs. Papa and five Papa children were in the house at the time.

VACCARO STILL HELD IN MURDER

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Judge William C. Coleman took under advisement arguments presented for a second time for a writ of habeas corpus seeking the release of Sarro Vaccaro, former Federal narcotic agent, held for Canadian apthorities on charges of murder and kidnaping.

Judge Coleman two days ago allowed the writ on a legal technicality, but ordered the accused held until a new warrant could be issued, arguments by Canadian attorneys and U. S. District Attorney Amos W. M. Woodcock, representing Vaccaro, were completed for the second time late in the afternoon.

Vaccaro is alleged by the Canadian government to have shot and killed Amedee Billodeau, a Canadian on the Canadian side of the international boundary during negotiation for the purchase of narcotics.

SCORES HOOVER AS FAILURE

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Speaking before the members of the Democratic Women's Luncheon Club, Rep. Steagall, (Dem.) Alabama, criticized President Hoover for what he termed his failure to grasp opportunities to lead the country out of an economic and agricultural crisis. Rep. Steagall charged the President had lost control of his party through lack of leadership and was placing himself in a position which would result next year in Congress controlled by the Democratic party.

Mr. Steagall said the tariff bill which was designed for the relief of agriculture is still pending and that justice is not being given to the farming interests.

Mrs. James Gustavus Whiteley, Democratic congressional committee woman for Maryland also spoke.

SOVIET CHURCH WAR SIFTED

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—The British government is conducting an investigation of the religious situation in Soviet Russia with a view to attempting to influence the Soviets to refrain from religious persecution, Arthur Henderson, secretary for foreign affairs, announced in the House of Commons today.

Henderson's announcement followed a declaration by the archbishop of Canterbury yesterday that he was considering raising the question of the Soviets' anti-religious campaign in Parliament should an investigation of conditions in Russia reveal no improvement.

Coal Police Plea for New Trial Delayed

FRANKLIN, Pa., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Indications today were that no further action can be taken until early next month in the motion for a new trial filed for Walter Lyster and Harold Watts, former coal and iron policemen convicted of involuntary manslaughter here in connection with the death of John Borcowski, Allegheny County miner. Transcripts of testimony at the trial here, it was learned today, will not be completed for at least a week. Under the law counsel for the defendants is allowed 10 days more to study the testimony before filing a brief asking a new trial.

Identify Victim Of River Drowning

The body of a man found in the Monongahela River near Sunnyside, was identified yesterday in the rooms of a Monongahela undertaker as that of Michael Gycida, 62, of Grindstone, near Brownsville, Pa., according to the coroner's report. The coroner was informed that about the time Gycida, a coal miner, disappeared from home, December 12, a man was seen to jump into the river from the Belle Vernon Bridge.

Anarchist Held In Bombing Escapes

ROSARIO, Argentina, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Jose Romano, a militant anarchist who was severely wounded by the explosion of a bomb which police say he had dropped in a street car in the last street railway strike, was rescued yesterday by five armed men who invaded the hospital where he was undergoing treatment.

One of the men was armed with a carbine and the others with revolvers. They ran into the hospital, covered three policemen who were guarding Romano and carried him from his bed to a waiting automobile.

Soviet Union Offers $25,000,000 Loan

MOSCOW, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The Soviet Union has decided to issue a state internal lottery loan at 9 per cent. The bonds will be worth about $25 each, and the total of the loan will be about $25,000,000. The loan is to run 10 years, dating from February 1 of this year.

STRINGS AERIAL, ELECTROCUTED

STEUBENVILLE, O., Feb. 13.—Harry Magealson, 45, railroad mechanic, was electrocuted at his home in Mingo Junction, O., while erecting an aerial for his radio.

In drawing the antenna over high tension wires, a loop caught on the cables of the Ohio Power Company and in his effort to release it, Magealson grasped the bare wire and fell dead.

His son, Harry, Jr., 20, witnessed the accident. Magealson, a former resident of Pittsburgh, was employed by the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad. He leaves his wife and six children.

Yorkville Mine Razed by Owners

STEUBENVILLE, O., Feb. 13.—The Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal Company, of Cleveland, is razing the tipple and removing equipment from its Yorkville mine. The machinery, trolley wire and track are being taken out, a Bellaire junk dealer having purchased them.

The O. & P. mine figured in a co-operative enterprise two years ago, of union miners, who took over the plant and worked for nearly a year trying to run it in competition with mines that had been put on an open-shop basis.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL
Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

BULLET HAIL MARKS STORE HOLDUP

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

THE operators of the city night clubs, which is the expensive way of saying cabarets, are muttering unkind words about Police Supt. Walsh, who insists that, after all these years, the operators obey the 1 a. m. curfew.

If the curfew is really enforced, the brotherhood of ex-cabaret operators will soon find additional applications for memberships on its hands. Most of the cabarets in the town are not making much, if any, money. Only one or two are showing good profits.

To make matters worse, Supt. Walsh would close the doors during those hours which have proved the most lucrative. It is an hour or two after midnight that the night-lifer throws financial caution and greenbacks to the winds and views everything through rose-colored opticals.

Walsh's order will be received with glee by the proprietors of the road-houses which are outside the city limits. In the boroughs generally there are no early curfews and if the customers cannot find what they want in the city, they'll go to the country.

And if you ask us what of it, we have no answer.

Dr. J. A. Kennedy, of Swissvale, tells the story of the sergeant who was having trouble with his platoon on the boat bound for France.

"Hey, now, we'll exercise like bicycles," the sergeant bellowed. "You'll all lay down on the deck and paddle

The buck privates paddled and paddled. In a rear row the sergeant detected a lazy philosopher who was dozing off.

"What's the idea?" the sergeant demanded, with all the politeness for which sergeants were noted.

"I'm coasting, sarge," the lazy one explained.

WE HAVE nothing but admiration for Mr. Frank Lobona, 35, and Mr. Elmer Bond, 34, of Homestead, who fight an annual egg duel. Both of them have a fine sense of dramatic comedy. As dawn creeps over the skies, Mr. Bond and Mr. Lobona square off at 20 paces, with their hands full of luscious eggs, and hurl ammunition at each other enthusiastically. Mr. Lobona happened to win this year's duel by a score of 3 to 0, which is a mild way of putting it, but last year the duel ended in a draw. That score, if you are not up on your eggs, means that Mr. Lobona found his target three times.

This would be a better world to live in (there we go again) if all arguments were settled in the Egg League. Let there be a law encouraging argument, but insisting that all arguments be topped with an egg duel. Such duels would certainly eliminate bitterness, for how could you remain bitter at a person upon whom you had just conferred an egg?

Will Rogers Says:

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.

ENGLAND has one great custom in the government. They can bring before the House of Commons in open session any cabinet member or the Premier and ask him what he has done and what he has in mind for the future and he has to tell 'em.

Yesterday they questioned Mr. MacDonald, himself, about the conference. We don't do it over here. It would be too embarrassing to our officials to have to admit what little they had done and extremely humiliating to explain what they had in mind for the future when they had nothing in mind. After their appointment, if they are not impeached we never hear of them again. They only have one obligation here, they have to sign the payroll in person.

Yours,
WILL.

"CHICKIE"

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Chickie Bryce, only daughter of a devoted father and mother, is attending business college when the story opens. Arthur Sontag, a classmate, takes her to a dance and she confides to her friend, Mary Blake, that the avenues of romance are opening to her. Chickie's father fears the pitfalls ahead of his daughter, but his wife allays his fears. Chickie imagines she is in love with Arthur. Mary and Chickie blandly discuss love and marriage; Mary says it's too sordid for her, but Chickie thinks it will be all kisses and "walking on the mountain tops with her sweetheart by her side." Arthur stops calling on her and she feels heartbroken. She forgets him, however, in the excitement of getting a place in an office. There she meets Janina, a cynical girl whose philosophy of life astonishes her. Through Janina Chickie meets Jake Munson, rich and attractive bachelor. He proposes a party and asks Chickie if she will attend. Mary is in love with a poor, young chemist, but Chickie is not enthused about it. Jimmy Blake, Mary's brother, hints to Chickie that he has loved her for years. Mary suddenly marries a poor young chemist, much to Chickie's regret. During the ceremonies Jimmy tells Chickie he loves her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VIII.

CHICKIE felt all through her little melting shivers as though warm, live tears poured in a bath over her. She tried to look bravely in Jimmy's eyes—she tried to laugh. After a long struggle she said, "Oh, Jimmy—"

She wanted to tell him she loved him—oh, ever so much. But this? Why, she never dreamed—never once had the faintest thought—

And suddenly she heard him laughing softly; his hand friendly again—not all hard pressing on hers.

"Don't look so tragic Chickie; we won't hang you today. Come on, now—call me darling Jimmy and I'll take the rope off your neck."

That night he said quietly: "Don't trouble over what I did Chickie—though I don't see why you shouldn't love me some day. Perhaps if I go away for a while. . . ."

"Oh, no. Don't do that Jimmy. It's not that I don't love you. Why, I love you like anything. Oh, I think you're the darlingest fellow in the world but I never dreamed—"

"I get you, Chickie. But that's all right. Maybe in a year, if I make myself scarce. Anyway, Chickie, you have no idea how much I'd do for you. I bet you'd be the happiest thing. Nobody else could love you as I do—why, for the last six years I've just been waiting to tell you. You know, Chickie—no matter how sore I got at the world, if I heard you laughing in the kitchen with Mary or if I saw you coming up the garden—gosh—I felt like the whole darn works just up and sang—

"And I'm not too old for you, Chickie. Six years isn't so much, and you need an older fellow—"

They were sitting on the davenport in the little living room. In the front garden Jennie was hosing her plants. Through the open door they could hear her puttering about.

Chickie kept her head down. She knew Jimmy's face was all excited again. She said, "Oh, Jimmy darling, this is awful sad."

Lonesome

He moved closer to her—took her hand gently: 'Don't look like that, Chickie—gee, you poor little kid—I won't say another word, only look up and laugh."

So she did, but when Jimmy left, she went softly down the hall to her own room, and sat at the window looking into the back yard, where Jennie's roses were all in bloom. She thought of Mary and all their sweet, long years together. Mary gone—but she thought beyond this of Jimmy and the queer look of pain in Jimmy's eyes. She kept seeing that.

Jonathan found her there in the dark—put his long sinewy arm about her. Then he knew that she was crying. He laughed at her. "Chickie, girl, you wouldn't really want Mary to turn old maid, would you? Now don't go spoiling your pretty eyes for nothing."

She didn't tell him it was for Jimmy she cried. She wouldn't tell that to Jonathan. Not for worlds. Deep in her heart she knew that he would have given her gladly—yes, Jonathan would have given her, his Chickie, gladly to Jimmy. So she wouldn't let him know—nor Jennie either.

It was so lonesome now. For days she went about with a forlorn quiet weighing on her heart. It was as though some one she dearly loved had died.

She wondered if Jimmy would not bother dropping in any more. And they would never go to the Orpheum together again.

Mary Returns
Marked Difference in Her Since Marriage

When the Tuesday night they always went to the show came, Jimmy was waiting as she got off the car coming from work. He caught her arm, pinched it hard and laughed right in her face. "See here, you conceited little nut! I'm not hanging on a sour apple tree—not yet! Don't think you're getting away with this 'touch me not I'll melt' stuff! Be ready at seven-thirty. I have no car fare, so you'll walk."

Just as it always had been—darling old Jimmy again—nice, grown-up Jimmy, and she could tell him all her troubles and ask his advice.

One night he said, "Did mother tell you? Mary sent a wire today. She's coming back. They're leaving at once. The drug company's offered Edward a great job—"

She stood stock-still in the middle of the street. Why, that was like the moon coming down and kissing her, so wild it made her feel with joy. She hugged his arm; she burst out laughing, saying, "Jimmy darling—darling—darling—when—oh—"

She closed her eyes hard.

When Mary came they threw their arms about each other. They cried and then they laughed. And for a while were closer to each other than before.

It was wonderful—the change in Mary—all the snappy dis-

HEALTH HEADS MUST UNDERGO TRAINING

Municipal Officials Must Comply With 1928 Act; to Begin Checkup

It is illegal for health officers to serve in boroughs and townships unless they have had one year of experience or one month of education in a training school to fit them to fill the job, Dr. John R. Conover, medical director for Allegheny County, has notified authorities of the county.

Dr. Conover says the State Health Department is about to begin a checkup of the situation in 93 boroughs and townships, which come under the provisions of an act of Legislature effective since January, 1928. If it is found that the health departments of boroughs and townships are not in charge of persons qualified under the act the state will take charge and force the erring municipalities to pay the bills.

Many are said to be rebelling regarding the necessity of attending a school for training, but Dr. Conover has no record of municipalities not carrying out the provisions of the act.

Health officers who have one year's experience are not required to go to a school, but if an inexperienced officer desires to take the course he will be accommodated by going to Carlisle, Pa. As to who pays the expense is a matter for the individual and the municipality. The cost, it was state, is very little.

Man in Auto Shot, Police Open Inquiry

Springdale police and county detectives today were investigating the wounding of Quay McHenry, 25, of New Kensington, at Springdale early today. McHenry, who was shot through the ear, was removed to the Citizens General Hospital at New Kensington. McHenry was riding in an automobile when the shooting occurred, according to a police report.

Arrange Film Show As Cabbys' Benefit

"The Krassin," a moving picture of the rescue of the Italian Arctic explorers by Soviet airmen, will be the show this evening by the Workers International Relief at Carnegie Music Hall, North Side. Proceeds from the show will be used to aid the striking taxi drivers and the striking coal miners of Moundsville, W. Va.

High School Band Holds Rehearsals

Rehearsals are being held for the first concert by the Bellevue High School band to be given in the school auditorium, the night of February 20. The proceeds will go toward paying for uniforms for the band members.

BULLET HOLE BANDITS' TRADEMARK

WILLIAM THOMPSON — CATHERINE SAMPSON — HARRY WOOD

A bullet hole (arrow) in the floor of the grocery at 1864 Montier street, Wilkinsburg, is the trademark of two bandits who last night held up William Thompson, firing four shots at him and one at Mrs. Thompson, narrowly missing her sister, Mrs. Harry Woods.

BANDITS FIRE ON OWNER, WIFE

Thugs Escape in Auto Taking $95 From Till; Shots Go Wild, None Hurt

Firing four shots at William Thomson, 42, a grocer, of 1864 Montier street, Wilkinsburg, and another shot at his wife, Jean, 42, three bandits escaped in an automobile after taking $95 from a cash register late last night.

Thomson was standing in the center of his store when two thugs entered and ordered him to hold up his hands. He refused and the bandits opened fire, aiming at his legs. All bullets went wild. One of the intruders jumped over a counter and rifled the cash register while the other held the grocer at bay.

Mrs. Thomson was fired upon when she screamed. Thomson notified Wilkinsburg police, county detectives and the state police of the Greensburg barracks of the holdup.

CLUBS WARNED OF CURFEW

Complaints that any roadhouse is violating the 1 a. m. closing law will result in the owners being brought before an alderman, Chief County Detective George Murren said in issuing orders to his men that the closing law must be obeyed.

Heretofore the roadhouses in the townships of the county are said to have operated until far past the closing hour. If owners are found guilty of violating the closing law their establishments will be closed, Murren said.

At the same time that Chief Murren ordered the law enforced in the county, Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh ordered the inspectors of the city police districts to see that the night clubs also close at 1 a. m. Night club operators are given monthly permits to operate cabaret shows and dancing each night until 1 a. m., excepting Saturday, when they must close at midnight.

The only clubs or roadhouses that escape the order are those in the boroughs, the state closing law not applying to boroughs. Each borough regulates closing time by ordinance.

Child Badly Hurt By Runaway Auto

Struck by a runaway automobile in Halket street, between Forbes street and Fifth avenue, last night, Tony DeFranncigo, 4, of 1413 Gilmore way, suffered probable internal injuries and was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

The automobile owned, police say, by Fred Homer, of 3349 Forbes street, was parked in Halket street when its brakes became released accidentally.

Meeting to Honor Jewish Federation

A community meeting honoring the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, will be held next Sunday in the Morris Kaufmann Memorial Auditorium of the Y. M. and W. H. A. Building. The program will include an illustrated address by Dr. Ludwig B. Bernstein and music by the "Y" Choral Society, under the direction of Harvey B. Gaul.

Debate on Traffic Slated in Oakmont

A debate on traffic will be a feature of a meeting of the Oakmont Chamber of Commerce in the Oakmont Methodist Episcopal Church tonight. The debate will center around the "stop-through" street signs recently installed in Allegheny and Oakmont avenues. The debaters will be a representative of the Pittsburgh Automobile Association and a member of the Pittsburgh Planning Commission.

Lincoln's Birthday Observed by Lions

Lincoln's birthday was observed by the Lion Club of Mt. Lebanon at their regular weekly dinner meeting, held in the Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church, Washington road, last night. It was the first ladies' night held by the club. After the meeting and dinner the participants played bridge at the home of Mrs. Howard Beech, Washington road.

SOCIAL STUDY CHIEF NAMED

The board of directors of the Pittsburgh Federation of Social Agencies yesterday approved the appointment of Dr. George A. Lundberg, of the University of Minnesota, as director of the Bureau of Social Research, recently created as a division of the federation, President Harry G. Samson announced. The new bureau was made possible through a grant of $37,500 from the Buhl Foundation, which covers a period of two and one-half years.

The offices of the Bureau of Social Research are in connection with those of the Federation of Social Agencies in the Wabash Building, where Dr. Lundberg will assume charge.

TAXICAB STRIKE EASES TRAFFIC

Relief afforded in freeing downtown streets from congestion as a result of the withdrawal of taxicabs in the present cab drivers' strike will be considered by the Better Traffic Committee at its initial meeting for the year which will be held tomorrow in the City-County Building.

Frank L. Duggan, acting chairman of the committee, stated that a survey is being conducted which will be used in arriving at recommendations for prohibiting unnecessary cruising of vehicles in the downtown section.

The child accident and fatality situation is considered the most serious question facing the committee and one which it is declared lends itself to solution most readily. Plans have been mapped out for the institution of greater safety measures and the details will be handled by sub-committees along the lines of education, engineering and technical research.

Officers for the next four years will be elected and the new members will be assigned to sub-committees.

MONEY LENDERS HOLD DINNER

More than 100 members of the Pennsylvania Industrial Lenders' Association, attended the quarterly dinner of the organization last night in the William Penn Hotel, following a day of meetings where the ethics and development of the small loan business were discussed.

Speakers on "Lending on Character" John D. Meyer gave the lone address of the dinner. Ralph Reichold, cartoonist, gave a chalk talk, while William Young, of Philadelphia, was toastmaster.

Speakers at the afternoon session were J. S. Streiner, of the Atlas Loan Society, of Pittsburgh, who talked on "Co-operation" and W. L. Heasley, of the Personal Finance Company, whose subject was "The Small Loan." President A. S. Ezekial presided.

Burt Mustin and Rosy Roswell were luncheon speakers, while William Young addressed the morning session on "Ethics." Williamsport, Pa., was chosen as the next meeting place.

Analyze Acid Used In Wilkinsburg Plot

County detectives today ordered an analysis of acid found at the home of Townsend Millis, of 7720 Tuscarora street, Wilkinsburg, yesterday when an unsuccessful attempt was made to asphyxiate the family.

Mrs. Millis made the discovery when sickened by fumes as she was about to prepare breakfast for her husband and two sons, Walter, 21, and Robert, 14. The acid was in a crock on the porch and fumes were piped into the kitchen through holes bored in the wall.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: What is the condition of social service work in Pittsburgh at the present time?

JOSEPH KAHN, athletic director, Irene Kaufmann Settlement: "From what I can see, social service work in Pittsburgh is on the increase at the present time. This healthy condition has been noted for the past few years. The public is taking a greater interest in the problems of this great philanthropic movement. Formerly it was an avocation for many in their spare time. Now it is a real vocation."

Joseph Kahn

PAULINE GIEL, private secretary, East End: "If there hadn't been so much interest shown in the recent Community Chest drive, then I would say that social service work was at a stand still pace. But the money contributed shows that Pittsburgh's heart is in the right place. There can't be any doubt about the matter. It is my opinion that as time goes on hearts become more charitable."

Miss Giel

JOSEPH CLAYSMITH, treasurer, Mt. Lebanon: "It is obvious that the charitable - minded residents of Pittsburgh, by their contribution to worthy projects and their interest in the Community Chest, have taken cognizance of the value of social service. Therefore one can readily see that the work is on the increase. Although a healthy growth has been recorded in this matter, there is much work to be still done."

Joseph Claysmith

FLORINE HARTNER, private secretary, Knoxville: "There is no question about it. Social service is on the increase here. Philanthropists are giving more money to the projects and students of sociology are lending every effort to solve the problems that confront them. I am sure that this healthy growth will continue to mount as time goes on. A lot of good can be accomplished.

Miss Hartner

SIDNEY LINDENBERG, settlement worker, Hill: "Pitt and Carnegie Tech can be taken as criterions for the interest shown in social service work. Students at these two institutions take a greater interest in sociology than they ever did in the past. More students are enrolled in the classes. There seems to be a different class of person getting into social service work. It used to be considered by many as a side issue. Now it is a real life work."

Sid. Lindenberg

GEORGE GOLDENBERG, printer, Oakland: "It is needless to say that Pittsburgh residents have taken a greater liking to this type of work than ever before. I am thoroughly convinced that their hearts are in the right place. If this weren't true we'd have a lot more poor and impoverished persons in this city of ours. Such work will increase throughout the years as the population grows larger.

Fire Captain Gives Blood To Save Comrade

For nearly a month Pumpman Thomas R. Jones, of No. 5 Engine Company, Center avenue and Dinwiddie street, lay dangerously ill in the South Side Hospital. He had undergone an operation and his condition grew worse daily.

Then the surgeons in charge decided that a blood transfusion would have to be resorted to if Jones' life was to be saved.

Capt. John J. McKeown and Firemen Louis Applebaum, Joseph Lauer, M. McCartney, Eugene Fey and Harry Silvers went to the hospital and submitted to tests. Capt. McKeown, who lives at 316 Ella street, was selected as the donor because, surgeons said, his blood's characteristics resembled those of Jones more than anyone else. Tuesday Capt. McKeown walked into the bedroom, greeted his buddy and sat down beside him. While both talked of commonplace things and how affairs were getting along at the fire house, doctors transfused nearly a quart of McKeown's blood into a flask and then into Jones' veins.

McKeown was none the worse today for his experience and the sick man was much improved, hospital attaches reported.

HOW WINDOWS WERE DRILLED TO ADMIT GAS

Two holes in each of two windows and two rubber tubes from each of two wrapped crocks, the "boxes" in the other picture, were the equipment believed to have been a plot. Four lives were imperiled by the fumes, exact natur of which is unknown.

FIREMEN HOLD FLAMES TO 3RD FLOOR

Overheated Stove Believed To Have Caused Blaze; Family Absent at Time

Eighteen persons, members of four families, were routed early today when fire swept through the top floor of a three-story apartment building at 5031-33-35-37 Lytle street, Hazelwood. No injuries were reported. Firemen confined the flames to the top floor. Battalion Chief Henry Schwartz estimated the damage at $1,000.

The flames are said to have originated on the third floor, in the apartment of Mrs. Sadie Groves, during the absence of the Groves family. Firemen believe an overheated stove caused the fire. A dog, a pet of the Groves family, was found dead in the apartment, suffocated by smoke.

The families of J. W. Burton, L. L. Hueston, E. J. Dunlap and H. B. Rush, living in other apartments on the second and third floors, were routed by the smoke that filled their quarters. The first floor is occupied by a butcher shop and a tailor shop. The stores were not damaged.

The fire was discovered at 1:30 o'clock. When police and firemen arrived they found that occupants of the house had already reached the street. Dense smoke filled the apartment, making the firemen's work difficult.

HIGH SCHOOL NEEDS AIRED

At a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of West View, this week, President J. N. Myers appointed a committee of three to study the problem of a senior high school for the borough and report to the association.

At present West View sends most of its senior high pupils to Perry and Bellevue High schools. The committee includes V. H. Walter, W. H. Magee and J. V. Shoup. Howard H. Wilt, a member of the school board, was named chairman of a committee on the annual school picnic, which will be held June 4 at West View Park. Fifty-two new members were added to the roll. Plans for a kindergarten were discussed.

GROCER ROBBED SECOND TIME

For the second time within a month, Harry Weller, a grocer at 1339 Sheffield street, was held up and robbed by bandits in his store last night.

While one robber remained on the outside, his accomplice walked up to Weller, and, after ordering him to throw up his hands, rifled the cash register of $35 and took a wallet from Weller's pocket. A small boy who was in the store at the time ran into the street and screamed for help.

One Man Arrested In Prohibition Raid

Joseph Domin, 37, of 1117 Spring Garden avenue, was arrested by prohibition agents last night in a raid on his home in which several pints of whisky were found, the agents said. He was released on a $1,000 bond.

JEWELRY, CANDY STORES ROBBED

A checkup was being made today to determine what had been stolen early this morning from the window of Kappel's jewelry store, 109 Sixth street. A brick was hurled through the window and articles on display stolen, according to a report made to police.

Candy and cigarets valued at $45 were stolen from the confectionery store of Frank Rimort, 3115 Shadeland avenue, North Side, according to a report at the North Side police station. In addition the thieves, who gained entrance by jimmying a side window, took a revolver and $5 from the cash register.

Samuel Daniels, a Negro, of 22 Emmett street, was beaten unconscious and robbed of $8 by two armed Negroes who halted him in Erin street, at Humber way, early today. The victim was left lying in the street. Daniels revived a short time later and staggered to the Center avenue police station and from there he was taken to the Passavant Hospital. Seven stitches were taken in a wound on his head.

SHIP FIRE QUIZ STARTED

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Divers today will examine the hull of the liner Muenchen, of the North German Lloyd, which burned and sank at her pier Tuesday, preparatory to raising the ship for removal to Brooklyn drydock.

While spontaneous combustion was first reported as causing the blaze, reports were circulated today the fire was of incendiary origin. A full investigation of reports that the boat was set afire will be made, authorities announced.

Beacon Street Home Robbed of Jewelry

While members of the household were absent, thieves forced their way into the home of Louis W. Jones at 6712 Beacon street and stole jewelery valued at $214 last night, police were informed. The thieves had jimmied a rear door, the police report stated.

Two armed Negroes held up Charles Campbell, of 737 Luna street while he was walking in Hamilton avenue near Luna street last night and robbed him of $34. Police searched the neighborhood for the pair but no arrests were made.

Kiwanis Arrange For Essay Contest

Plans for the essay contest on the subject of "George Washington," which is sponsored by the Kiwanis South Hills Club, conducted among the students of the two high schools in that section, are now being made. The winners will be guests of the club at its meeting February 25, at which time they will each read their essay.

Marrying Squire Deprived of His 'Concession'

Take Howard H. Kemp, the "marryin' squire of Crown Point." He has performed approximately 40,000 marriages for a fee of $3.50 each. That, in round figures, is about $140,000.

Until today Squire Kemp reigned supreme in Lake County with no other justices of the peace allowed, by his own dictation.

But Mayor Vincent Youkey decreed that Kemp's two assistants, Harvey Minas and Arthur Taylor, could be full-fledged marryin' squires too—that Kemp conducted too much of a marrying "trust," which, for the good name of Crown Point, should be broken up.

SPARK BLAMED IN MINE BLAST

BECKLEY, W. Va., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—A coroner's jury impaneled by W. J. Lyons, Raleigh county coroner, decided that an explosion at the Lillybrook mine of the Lillybrook Coal Company, 12 miles from here, in which eight miners were killed, was caused by overhead gas ignited by sparks from a mine motor. The jury further found that the gas had been released by a fall of slate.

Four men who were injured in the blast, two white men and two Negroes, testified at the inquest. All still suffered from their injuries and it was necessary to return them to the hospital before the session ended. R. M. Lambie, Charleston, chief of the State Department of Mines; E. H. Hylon, Lillybrook mine fire chief, and four mine inspectors also testified.

ALVAR THURGOOD LEITH

The official liquor destroyer for the U. S. in Pittsburgh, Leith has passed the state board examinations for admittance to the bar. He studied at Duquesne University the while he smashed beer kegs.

DESTROYS RUM, WINS DEGREE

Alvar Thurgood Leith, who was official liquor destroyer for Prohibition administrator John D. Pennington, all the time he studied law at Duquesne University, has successfully passed examination before the State Board of Law Examiners.

Leith who lives on Library road, Library, received his education through his own initiative. Years ago he was a copy boy for the old Tri-State News Bureau. Then he did odd jobs in steel mills, gathering together a fund to help him gain knowledge. Finally he got a job with Pennington and for one year and nine months destroyed an average of 2,500 gallons of moonshine, beer, gin and other liquors a month.

After graduating from the South Hills High School in 1922, Leith spent a year at Pitt and then entered law school at Duquesne University. He plans to make use of his prohibition experience in a future law practice, but does not know when he will hang out his shingle.

35,000 VISITORS DURING 1930 ASSURED

55 Gatherings Now Listed Mean $1,020,000 Will Be Distributed in the City

Mark W. Egan, manager of the conventions and visitors division of the Chamber of Commerce, announced last night that 14 new convention groups have been secured for Pittsburgh within the past month. These will bring about 5,000 visitors to the city.

Fifty-five conventions, bringing about 35,000 visitors, already have been signed for 1930, Harry W. Neely, chairman of the Chamber's committee on securing conventions, said. This will mean the distribution of about $1,020,000 among Pittsburgh merchants and other business interests, he said. The largest group listed is the Catholic Educational Association of Pennsylvania, which will bring 1,500 here late in the year. New conventions obtained are as follows:

Catholic Conference on Industrial Problems, February 24 to 25; Allegheny Regional Advisory Board, March 13; Pennsylvania Electric Association, Accounting Division, March 17 to 18; National Electrical Credit Association, May 22 to 23; Printing House Craftsmen (Potomac District,) May 31; Third Division Society, July 14; Photographers Association of Middle Atlantic States, September 15 to 18; Twenty-ninth Carnegie Institute International Exhibition of Contemporary Paintings, October 16 to December 7; Pennsylvania Independent Oil Men's Association October; Pennsylvania, (dates undecided); Laymen's Retreat League, January 9 to 11; 1931; Outdoor Advertising Association of Pennsylvania, January 1931; National Association, of Merchant Tailors of America, January 20 to 22; 1931 and Pennsylvania Swimming Pool Association January 1931.

C. OF C. WORKERS TO LUNCH

Workers in the 10 divisions of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce "sales army," who will begin a four-day canvass Tuesday morning for a sustaining fund for the chamber, will meet at luncheon tomorrow, to receive final instructions from Frank J. Chesterman, general chairman in charge of the campaign. The speakers will be Thomas Foley, of the steering committee, and A. V. Snell, general manager of the chamber.

The canvass will be conducted in the Golden Triangle, each division campaigning over a different section each day. The quota for the drive is 1,000 new members to augment the present chamber membership of 5,000.

Junior Guild Will Present Soloist

The Junior Guild of the Third United Presbyterian Church, Shady and Northumberland avenues, will present Martha L. Roberts as guest soloist in the concert to be given by the Pittsburgh Male Chorus, Tuesday evening, March 4. The soprano has appeared recently at the University of Vermont, Burlington, and with the Bethlehem Steel Male Chorus, Steelton. She is at present a member of the quartet at the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, Highland avenue.

COUNTY HONORS LINCOLN

Pittsburgh paid tribute to Abraham Lincoln, on the occasion of the one hundred twenty-first anniversary of his birth, by patriotic and civic gatherings yesterday and last night. The day was a holiday for many persons, the banks, stock exchange and many business houses being closed. Virtually all of the city and county offices were closed.

In Memorial Hall, Oakland, last night, the few remaining Civil War veterans of the district gathered at a banquet, held under the auspices of the Veteran Guard of Allegheny County, allied with the Federated Patriotic Societies and the G. A. R. The speakers were Federal Judge W. H. S. Thomson and Phil Engelskirger, commander of the Pennsylvania Department of the G. A. R.

The Lincoln Club of North Braddock held its fourth annual dinner in the Braddock Elks temple. National, state, county and city officials made short addresses.

Eight hundred guests attended the seventh annual Lincoln Day dinner of the International Union of Operating Engineers in Kaufmann's dining room last night.

The custom of former Controller E. S. Morrow of honoring Civil War heroes by distributing carnations to city and county employes who work on Lincoln's birthday, was continued yesterday by Charles Schulties, a friend of the former controller.

Man Escapes When Boulder Hits Auto

John Jenny, of Box No. 13, Perrysville, escaped injury this morning when a large boulder rolled down a hillside and crashed against his automobile while he was driving in East Ohio street in the 3200 block. The underpart of the automobile was damaged slightly, police say. The efforts of three policemen were necessary to roll the boulder from the middle of the street.

Long Terms for Two As Highway Robbers

Paul Smith, 22, of East Lacock street, was sentenced to serve 13 to 26 years in Western penitentiary, and John Dowling, 21, of Compromise street, 11 to 22 years, when they pleaded guilty before Judge Harry H. Rowand, in Criminal Court to having committed three highway robberies and the theft of two automobiles, in various parts of the city late in December and early in January.

Boy Hit by Auto, Police Hold Driver

Struck by an automobile while crossing the Schenley Park entrance, Amedio J. Bellasaris, 17, of 39 Boundary street, was seriously injured last night. He was removed to the Homeopathic Hospital where it was said he had suffered a fracture of the skull. Police arrested William Losman, of 6404 Bartlett street, as the driver of the machine.

'DUKE' PLAN NOT IN POPE'S BAN

Co-education, as conducted at Duquesne University, is not banned by Pope Pius XI, in his recent encyclical letter, as is the general opinion, according to a statement issued by the Rev. James F. Carroll, vice president of Duquesne University. Duquesne University now admits women students after operating for more than 50 years as exclusively a men's school. Rev. Carroll issued his statement to correct the popular notion that enrollment of men and women students in the same college or university was unconditionally condemned by the Pope.

LABOR PROTEST CONSIDERED

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern has taken up the protest of the Allied Board of Trade against employment of non-resident labor on public contracts with Booth and Flinn, contractors on the Ohio River boulevard according to a letter by McGovern read at the monthly meeting of the Twenty-seventh Ward Board of Trade.

The Twenty-seventh Ward Board first filed a protest which was followed by similar action by the Allied Boards. A letter was sent to the Board of County Commissioners and to each commissioner individually, according to Alderman George A. Young, president of the former organization.

Hotel Guest Burned In Explosion of Gas

Striking a match as he entered his room in the Fidelity Hotel, Island avenue, McKees Rocks, Patrick Croft, 35, was burned severely about the face and hands in a gas explosion that followed. He is in the Ohio Valley Hospital.

Police believe leaking gas accumulated in the room. Windows were blown out and Croft was knocked unconscious. Other occupants of the hotel removed him to the hospital.

TRADERS ELECT AT BELLEVUE

Former Assemblyman John W. Vickerman was elected president of the Bellevue Board of Trade for the third term at the annual business meeting this week in the Bellevue Borough Hall.

Other officers chosen were: First vice president, W. H. Newmyer; second vice president, S. C. Ross; third vice president, Peter Cray; secretary, Benjamin Moore; treasurer, Ralph Witherspoon; directors, C. J. DeBar, C. C. Elste and Park H. Martin.

Plans were discussed for a lecture to be given in the Bellevue High School Auditorium February 24, by former Governor Gifford Pinchot, under auspices of the board. The lecture, which will be illustrated by moving pictures, will describe Pinchot's experiences in the South Sea Islands last year. It was decided that admission would be by ticket.

T. A. McNary was named chairman of a committee of nine to arrange for an annual banquet at a date to be selected later.

Man and Wife Hurt In Crash of Autos

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hersh, of 107 Ramsey street, Ligonier, were given treatment at the Braddock General Hospital for head lacerations after their automobile collided with the car of Melvin Sinan, of Box 289, East Pittsburgh, at Kenmawr avenue and Fleet street, Rankin, yesterday afternoon. Sinan, police said, was at liberty today under $1,000 bond, pending a hearing on a charge of reckless driving.

COURT LABELS PLANE THEFT CASE FARCE

Orders Discharge of Man Accused of Stealing Aircraft at Bettis Field

Pittsburgh's first airplane stealing case took a nose dive when Judge James H. Gray, in Criminal Court, ordered the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

It was not a case of flaming youth and his girl friend leaping into the cockpit and zooming away. Nothing like it. Just a mixup over taking a plane from a repair shop before the bill was paid.

Edward Ball, who has a repair shop near Bettis Field, had Joseph Swithk, a mechanic in his employ, arrested, charging larceny of one Swallow airplane, valued at $1,000; one pair of airplane wheels, valued at $30; one tachometer, $25; two propellers, $100 each; one pair of airplane doors, valued at $50; 300 posts, valued at $300 and a spraying outfit, valued at $75. The grand jury indicted Swithk and a jury was selected to try the case. Then they filed into Judge Gray's courtroom and the taking of evidence began.

Assistant District Attorney James Geltz didn't listen to much of the testimony before he moved that the court direct a verdict of not guilty.

Summed up the complaint was that the mechanic had allowed the owner of the plane to take it to Bettis Field before collecting the money for repairs.

DRY BRIBE PLEA SET TUESDAY

Judge Nelson McVicar set next Tuesday for arguments on a motion for a new trial for Charles D. Lindley, of McKeesport, former prohibition agent, who was convicted on a charge of accepting bribes to influence him in performance of his duties as a government officer. The principal witnesses for the Government were Charles Friedman and Harry Markess, convicted bootleggers, who are also appearing as Government witnesses in the McKeesport liquor conspiracy trial before Judge R. M. Gibson.

A jury returned a verdict of acquittal in the trial of W. C. Wally before Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, on a charge of manufacturing and possessing moonshine whisky in Ross township.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburgh Hunt Holds Trials

SOCIETY folks are making the most of this unexpected visit of early spring, and so today there are lots and lots of things for us to talk over.

To begin at the last, there was the Sigrid Onegin concert last night in the Syria Mosque with many society folks attending, and yesterday afternoon there were hounds and hunt out on the grounds of the Pittsburgh Hunt clubhouse.

And I have a particularly interesting experience to tell you about and those hounds and their there are always informal entertainments.

The countryside near the Pittsburgh Hunt yesterday looked like an etching in browns with the pink coats of the huntsmen and the warm tweeds of the spectators against the foliage all helping to make a picturesque scene. And the baying of the hounds and the crisp spring air and the clear sky added all that was needed to make the event perfect.

Mrs. E. C. Bothwell and Mrs. J. O. Burgwin were the only women riding, I vote day, but there were many spectators. I did forget though that little Mariah McCague, daughter of D. and Mrs. Edward J. McCague, was there riding her pony.

Mariah's little sister Peggy in a smart little tweed coat and hat, furred in brown, fox was watching the trials too, with Mrs. George L. McCook. Mrs. McCook wore a dark brown tweed suit, a brown felt hat and a fox scarf.

And Mrs. George Paull wore a coat of fleet blue trimmed in fox and a hat to match. Among the late arrivals were the Reginald Macdonalds with Mrs. Macdonald wearing a popular version of the all-black coat and a black felt hat.

As you might have expected Mrs. John W. Lawrence always a sports enthusiast was among the spectators. She wore an interesting grey chinchilla coat and a green felt hat. And Mrs. Charles Flaccus wore a mink coat and a brown felt hat.

And both the Allderdice girls were there. Nancy wore a sealskin coat with a beige felt hat and Jane a fur coat too and a brown knitted dress and a brown felt hat. Harriet Wallwright chose a maroon coat with black caracul collar and cuffs and Robert McKinney and Laird de Vou and W. W. Goldsborough, Jr., I say, too.

The Arthur C. Martins, Col. Richard Coulter and Miss Margaret Coulter represented Greensburg at the show. And I saw Mrs. L. C. Lytle wearing a gray tweed suit and a black felt hat.

And Anne Scott was there with her fiance, John H. Ricketson III, and James M. Boyard. And I noticed the R. B. Nations and Mary Louise Paull.

EVERYONE was much interested last night at the Onegin concert when the artist graciously asked the composer of "My Love is a Blossom" to acknowledge the applause with her. The composer is a Pittsburgh woman, Miss Marianne L. Genet. Miss Genet was sitting in a box, had chosen a black velvet gown with a decolletage and a wrap of dahlia velvet.

Among society women in the large brilliantly gowned audience were Mrs. George Wilcox and Mrs. George Pearson. And I saw the George Marbeths and Mrs. David Pitcairn.

The Arthur P. Woolfolks and the John W. Lawrences I saw on leaving the concert. And Mrs. Woolfolk wore a black chiffon gown and a wrap of garnet velvet. Mrs. James Edward Lewis wore orange crepe fashioned very long and a black velvet wrap with a tiny cape of ermine.

Louise Evans wore an interesting gown of deep rose crepe fashioned very long with a novel ruffled trimmed cape of the same material serving as a wrap.

I caught a glimpse of Mrs. Taylor Allderdice I believe. And Mrs. Edgar Reed wore a black velvet evening wrap with an ermine collar and a black chiffon gown.

AND have you heard among the news of other betrothals that of Mary Currier Lewis, who is the daughter, you know, of the James Edward Lewises of Aylesboro avenue and Nolen Armour Person of Memphis, Tenn., son of Mrs. John Mench, of Pittsburgh, Mary made her bow but two seasons ago. The engagement will terminate in an early spring wedding, I happen to know.

And there are still others leaving for sunny California the last of the month. They are Mary Burchfield, daughter of Mrs. Albert Pressley Burchfield, of South Negley avenue, and Jean McKinney, daughter of Mrs. James P. McKinney, of Woodland road.

Did you know that Mrs. Frances Burke Rodgers, of Devonshire place, is in Middleburg, Va., to attend the fox hunt this week? Accompanying here is Mrs. Simon T. Patterson, of Darlington road, and they plan to return Sunday.

Had you heard that the James Barlow Cullums, of East drive, Sewickley, returned home from an extended visit in New York on Saturday? They were accompanied by their debutante daughter, Mollie Cullum, who, with her sister-in-law, Mrs. James Barlow Cullum, Jr., spent last week in West Point, N. Y., where the deb attended the winter ball at the United States Military Academy. Today the Cullums and Mollie leave for the southland to spend the remaining winter months in St. Augustine, Fla., and probably will return in the spring.

Educational Group Has Busy Day

MRS. D. EDWIN MILLER always crowds so much into an educational department meeting at the Congress of Clubs that one is at a loss to know just where to begin in reporting it. Yesterday there were guests galore, informal introductions all around, especially appropriate decorations (the work of Mrs. W. C. Bright), interesting announcements, a few short speeches, motion pictures, dancing and music—surely a lengthy program for two hours and a half. In addition to all this, the department furnished a bit of unusual news by making Mrs. Mary J. Cowley, who always attends the meetings, an honorary member.

Harold D. Jacobs, publisher of the Pittsburgh Press, was the guest of honor and spoke briefly in response to Mrs. Miller's introduction. The invocation was by the Rev. Dr. A. E. Fletcher; music was by Miss Alice Davis, soprano, with Mrs. John A. Esler accompanying; the dance, a military tap number, was contributed by Beatrice Curry and Betty Tygard, pupils at the Rochelle School, Knoxville, accompanied by their instructor, Miss Thelma Heeson. The films were shown by the Bell Telephone Company, whose representatives, A. H. Myers, district manager, and R. T. King, gave brief talks concerning the company's laboratory experiments and inventions, and among the announcements came the statement that $151 had been added during the meeting to the department's scholarship fund. A collection taken to pay for crutches for one of the scholarship students, costing $4.50, amounted to $12.

SPORT COSTUMES THAT WILL BE POPULAR DURING SPRING

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Feb. 13.—Utilities are always a good buy, and just now it is good by to clothes, that, for everyday or sports wear, are decorative without being practical. The season at Cannes, Nice, Monte Carlo and other balmy spots along the Riviera, has so far revealed a striking number of tweed frocks, suits and ensembles, all meticulously tailored, and a number of woolen frocks also effective in their smart simplicity.

The utilitarian costume of the day gives way at night to clothes that give the impression of having been fashioned out of flowers and moon beams, so delicately lovely are they. So far, the era of femininity has given woman little to worry about, unless it be to keep up with her sisters in elegance and allure expressed through the medium of carefully chosen clothes and appropriate accessories. The woman whose wardrobe is necessarily limited need have no cause for alarm if she gives thought to the selection of her clothes, the tweeds and wools will give her excellent service, and her evening frock's main essential is line and cut.

THE two models shown were both sketched at Cannes and are very expressive of the mode as it will be for urban wear during the spring. In the sketch to the left you will see a suit that is the acme of smartness. The coat is one of those very nearly but not quite to the hemline affairs that is so becoming to the taller woman, but should be avoided by all others. The ensemble is of gray and white tweed in a small pattern, and the vertical border edging the seven-eighths length coat is of striped tweed in rose, green and gray on a white background. Flat set-on cuffs are of the same. A heavy steel buckle clasps the coat at the natural waistline and the straight skirt, set on a shallow yoke, fastens at the hips with flat steel buttons.

THE frock, which was sketched at the Cannes Polo Club is from Lelong, and is of very loosely knit jersey-tweed in beige and dark brown. The natural selvedge edge of the fabric forms the border of the jumper and the skirt, and also edges the neckline and the cuffs. A dark brown beret, brown suede gloves and fox fur showed that careful thought had been given to the accessories, for they exactly toned with the dark brown of the frock. The belt and sport shoes were of light brown suede trimmed with the dark brown leather.

DRIVE ON GANGS NETS 7 CHIEFS

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Three gang leaders of notoriety in Chicago's underworld today faced grand jury action for gun-toting after the latest police drive on hoodlums last night netted seven gangsters of repute.

Continuing their wholesale drive on underworld characters which has resulted in the seizure of more than 2,000 questionable characters and the indictment of more than a score on charges of gun-carrying, police last night cornered the seven gang leaders in a West Side restaurant.

FAINTS AT FLASH

The three who are to be tried on gun-carrying charges are Bernard O'Donnell; "Three-Finger Jack" White, convicted murderer and labor terrorist, and George (Red) Barker, alleged gunman and dictator and terrorist for the Coal Teamsters' Union. Over 400 others were seized yesterday.

The four others upon whim police hope to fasten charges are Myles O'Donnel, beer vending czar; Mike Quirk, charged several times with murder; Edward Sirnek and John O'Connor.

Myles O'Donnel fainted at police headquarters when a photographer discharged a flashlight behind him. When revived he explained he thought he had been shot.

14TH BOMBING OF YEAR

On January 28 a bomb exploded at the front of the Central Paper Stock Company, next door to the welding concern. Police believe today's bomb was planted by mistake, the paper stock company being the intended victim.

'Yellow Bird' Fliers May Hop Sea Again

PARIS, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The newspaper Excelsior today said Rameno Lotti, Rene Lefevre and Jean Assolant, crew of the trans-Atlantic plane Yellow Bird, were planning a flight from Seville, Spain to New York, possiuly after the end of March. Their machine which closely resembles the Yellow Bird, may be tested on a preliminary flight to Abyssinia.

Prohibition Gaining Dry League Contends

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—There is a stronger congressional backing of prohibition now than even before, both in Congress and in the state legislatures, Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, asserted today in an address before the editors' advisory section of the international council of religious education.

American Eagle Protected by Senate Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The Norbeck bill to protect the American eagle was approved by the Senate Agriculture Committee with an amendment to make it unlawful to possess, sell or transport the birds or their plumage for other than scientific or educational purposes.

The legislation would prohibit capturing or killing the birds or harming their nests or eggs, except when the eagles attack useful animals.

GRAHAM'S KIN TO SEE CLOTHES

Relatives of Harold Graham, 19, Pittsburgh bank messenger who disappeared more than a year ago, today were to examine the clothing taken from the body of a young man found in the Ohio River near Portsmouth, O., last May. The clothing was sent yesterday to J. H. Graham, a brother residing in Fairmont, W. Va.

J. H. Graham telephoned Sergt. L. W. Walker, of the West Virginia State Police, at Charleston, and said that he could not identify the clothing and that it would be necessary that it be examined by other members of the family. A sister, residing in Pittsburgh, was to examine the clothing.

The body taken from the river was buried by a Charleston woman, who believed it to be her son. Later the son returned, and the body has never been identified. Sergt. Walker said that if it was thought necessary the body, buried at Portsmouth, would be exhumed.

One Killed, Sheriff Hurt in Dry Raid

ARLINGTON, Wash., Feb. 13.—(INS.)—As the result of a liquor raid on a farm near here, Al Kinman, 50, rancher and asserted moonshiner, was dead today, and J. W. Thomas, 45, Snohomish County deputy sheriff, was in a serious condition with two bullet wounds in his body. Thomas, accompanied by Sheriff George I. Stewart and Jesse Jackson, another deputy, went to the farm late yesterday. Thomas was recognized by Kinman and the latter opened fire on the officer and then fled from the rear of the house. He was killed by Jackson as he fled.

Australians to Vote On Rum in Victoria

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—A compulsory referendum will be held on the question of prohibition of alcoholic liquors in the state of Victoria, March 29. Melbourne and some suburbs already are dry, and an intense campaign is being made by both sides to extend or prevent extension of the prohibition area.

PITTSBURGHERS SAIL FOR CUBA

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—In the company of notables and a capacity passenger list, W. Arbuthnot, Stuart McClintic, William M. Cushman, John R. Gregg and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Willey, social registerites of Pittsburgh, sailed for Havana last evening in the S. S. Mauretania, which will make a record trip to the Cuban capital, cutting the usual running time by a full day.

Mr. Arbuthnot and his fellow travelers will be accorded an official welcome as the giant Cunarder is the largest ship that ever steamed past Morro Castle. Havana harbor channel has been deepened to receive the Mauretania.

Among Mr. Arbuthnot's fellow-passengers were James W. Gerard, the war-time ambassador to Germany; William W. Wrigley, millionaire sportsman; Albert Warner, film magnate, and a host of social registerites.

Others sailing on the S. S. Mauretania for Havana are T. H. Flinn and James Flowers of Pittsburgh.

STUDENT, SHOT, BAGS BURGLAR

HARRISBURG, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Running more than a block with a bullet wound from the gun of a burglar, whom he finally subdued and captured before collapsing, Marlin Weigle, 21-year-old student for the ministry, today is recovering in a hospital here. His condition is not considered serious.

Young Weigle, his father and other members of the family were returning home last night when the elder Weigle came upon the intruder descending the hall stairway, revolver in hand, as he unlocked the front door. The burglar, identified by police as John Repman, fled, running down the street with young Weigle in pursuit.

The robber fired. The wounded youth kept up the pursuit until he grabbed his man and held him until help arrived.

Gold Treatments Given Tuberculars

LONDON.—Gold is being used as a treatment for consumption at Brompton Hospital here. A salt of gold is combined with sodium and injected into the veins of the patients, and the solution acts on the tuberculosis germs. It is a Danish dicovery called sanocrysin.

Machine Guns Wait Bandits; False Tip

STEUBENVILLE, O., Feb. 13.—Postal inspectors and policemen mounted machine guns in the federal building here and kept a 24-hour watch for bandits, who, according to a tip, planned a safe robbery, similar to that of a few months ago when seven masked men obtained a $35,000 payroll shipment.

The guards were kept at the building until the money was delivered, but the robbers did not appear.

Reforestation Bill Offered in Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, has introduced a bill that would authorize the secretary of agriculture to enlarge tree planting operations in national forests east of the Rocky Mountains.

The measure would authorize appropriation of $150,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, $300,000 for 1933, and $400,000 for each succeeding year. It would authorize the secretary to establish and operate nurseries, purchase seed trees and reforest.

VETS OFFERED HOSPITAL SITE

BECKLEY, W. Va., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—G. C. Hedrick, in charge of a local committee to secure the proposed government hospital for disabled veterans for this section, said upon his return from Pittsburgh, that he had secured the consent of the Koppers Coal Company to the use of two adjoining tracts of land, aggregating about 350 acres, near here for the hospital, the company to reserve the right to mine coal under one of the tracts.

Only a doctor knows what a laxative should be

YOU don't want to use a laxative every day. Nor once a week. This should not be necessary. And it never would be required if all of us would learn the danger that lies in a careless selection of laxatives.

By taking the first thing that comes to mind when bad breath, headaches, dizziness, nausea, biliousness, gas on stomach and bowels, poor appetite, or lack of energy warns us that our bowels are sluggish, we risk forming the laxative habit.

Rely on a doctor's judgment in choosing your laxative. Here's one made from the prescription of a specialist in bowel and stomach trouble. Its originator tried it in many thousands of cases. He found it safe for women, children and old folks; thoroughly effective for the most robust man. There were so many calls for this prescription and its fame spread so rapidly that druggists began to fill it in quantities; kept it ready for calls. Now Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is prepared from the freshest herbs and other pure ingredients under ideal conditions. You can get the generous bottles of it from drug stores in any part of the world.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a real corrective of constipation. Millions have proved this. That's why it is today the world's most popular laxative!

CHILD BETRAYS FATHER, HIDING

WARREN, Pa., Feb. 13.—(AP)—A 3-year-old daughter of Owen Taylor, who escaped last Sunday during a jail break in which Sheriff H. H. Jefferson was shot by Taylor's brother, gave officers a "tip" that led to the capture of the fugitive.

"Daddy came home," the child told Deputy Sheriff Robert Richey and Chief of Police George Haehn of Warren, when they went to the rural home of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Tripp, parents-in-law of Taylor.

Taylor's father-in-law then was quoted by the officers as saying Taylor had been there, but that he had gone to a hut in the woods. Armed with shotguns, Richey and Haehn went to the woods and threw a gas bomb into the hovel, only to find that the hunted man was not there.

Returning to the Tripp home, Haehn stationed himself at the back door while Richey went to the front entrance. Taylor ran out and surrendered.

Taylor was returned to the Warren County jail and with his brother, Harold Taylor, will be tried on charges growing out of the escape from jail.

Youngstown Men To Develop Sisal

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 13.—Backed by financial guarantees from the Santo Domingo republic, a group of Youngstown business men has formed the Caribe Fiber Corporation to develop the Fiber industry on that island. The company has leased 12,000 acres of sisal land, of which 3,000 are under cultivation. A. A. Curtis is president of the Caribe Fiber Corporation.

Titusville Refining Plant to Be Doubled

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Capacity of the Cities Service Refinery here is to be doubled, it was announced by company officials. A total of $375,000 will be expended at the refinery and $50,000 will be spent in improvements at two filling stations. The present capacity of the refinery is 3,000 barrels of crude oil per day.

Treat Child, 8, To Prevent Rabies

ALLIANCE, O., Feb. 13.—As a measure against rabies, Richard Hollies, 8, son of Dr. R. I. Hollies, Cuyahoga Falls man and a brother of F. A. Hollies of Alliance, is undergoing Pasteur treatment. The lad returned from school a week ago and found his pet dog frothing at the mouth. Thinking a bone had caught in its throat, Hollies thrust his hand down the animal's mouth. The dog was later pronounced mad.

The boy was not bitten.

SOUTH AFRICAN RULER NAMED

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Earl of Clarendon was appointed Governor General of South Africa to succeed the Earl of Athlone whose original tenure of five years ended in 1928. The Earl of Athlone is a brother of Queen Mary.

The Earl of Clarendon has been chairman of the British Broadcasting Corporation since 1927. Born June 7, 1877, the son of the late Earl of Clarendon and Lady Caroline Elizabeth Agar, he was educated at Eton. He succeeded to the title on the death of his father in 1914. He was parliamentary under-secretary of state for dominion affairs from July, 1925, to 1926, and chief Conservative whip in the House of Lords from 1922 to 1925.

He married in 1905 Verena, daughter of the late Herbert Haldane Somers Cocks, and has two sons and one daughter, the heir being Lord Hyde.

LEGGE ASKS CUT IN COTTON CROP

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Organization of farmers of the United States into co-operative growing and marketing groups and a marked reduction in cotton acreage were recommended here by Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, in an address to the Association of Georgia Fairs.

In his first Southern address as a member of the Farm Board, Legge stressed the need for a reduction of cotton acreage and urged Georgia farmers to make cotton an incidental, and not a principal crop.

"Georgia once was a great cotton state," he said, "but I cannot analyze in any way how this state can ever be a great cotton state again. Texas and Oklahoma can produce cotton without fertilizer and with much less cost than in Georgia, and in addition there is increased foreign production and competition from artificial cloths."

Fortune Willed In Document Of 36 Words

KENOSHA, Wis., Feb. 13.—(AP)—W. H. Alford, vice president of Nash Motors, who died last week, wrote a will containing only 36 words, one of the briefest ever filed in Kenosha County.

Filed for probate here, the instrument, dated May 11, 1915, bequeathed the entire estate to the widow, Gertrude M. Alford. The preliminary estimate gave the value of the estate in excess of $400,000. Friends said the final inventory would show a much larger total.

Elinor Glyn talks to PITTSBURGH Women about clothes, marriage and romance

(right) ELINOR GLYN famous writer on problems of romance

"It is color that makes clothes charming, alluring, expressive of you"

"CLOTHES, clothes, clothes! Clothes in courtship! Clothes after marriage! How steadily the note runs through all my correspondence with women," says Elinor Glyn, "and how much of a mystery clothes still seem to be!

"Yet it really shouldn't be a problem . . . when you realize why clothes are so important.

"You know that you look best in certain colors. There is the clue . . . for it is color that makes clothes charming, alluring, expressive of you.

"So if you would be successful in romance or in married life, let me give you two rules . . .

"ONE: Wear the colors that suit you best;

"TWO: Keep those colors fresh and new and vital, just as you keep your things clean and dainty.

"The slightest loss in hue, the least deviation from the original tint, spoil the effect . . . and, of course, the charm that the gown or frock brings.

"I have found that the allure that lies in color is protected by Lux. Repeated washings leave things color-fresh and color-vital . . . new-like in hue and power to charm.

And let your surroundings reflect YOU . . .

"Not only in your frocks and accessories, such as gloves, scarfs and handkerchiefs, but equally important in your very surroundings, color is vital. The curtains, draperies and slip covers of your living room form part of the magic spell. And here, too, Lux is invaluable."

What was the lure which brought so many eager visitors to this hotel of the Old South?

MIDWAY between Kentucky and Alabama, between Louisville and Birmingham, lies Nashville. There in that quiet, elm-treed city of the South stood the old Maxwell House, dining place extraordinary.

To dine ceremoniously, in the flickering candlelight of the high ceilinged hall, was an event indeed, with incomparable coffee the eagerly awaited climax. That same coffee, the blended discovery of a Southerner of the Old School, has so often ripened casual acquaintance into devoted admiration that today its rich, full-flavored goodness is famous from coast to coast.

You will like this wonderfully fragrant coffee—Maxwell House Coffee. At your grocer's, its sealed blue tin imprisons for you today the rich and mellow flavor which has given it enduring distinction since the days of the Old South. Try it without risk of disappointment — your grocer will unhesitatingly return your money if you are not fully satisfied.

SHAW LETTERS DROP IN VALUE

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Letters signed by Bernard Shaw have been tumbling in value like speculative shares lately. Several auctioned at Sotheby's brought only 10 shillings ($2.40) apiece.

Apparently news of the sale of various Shaw items at good prices not long ago resulted in a flood of offerings. The same explanation, however, would not apply to the Robert Burns waistcoat which sold for only £6 ($30) regardless of the fact that the heart of the Scottish bard beat under its buttons for years.

Nor is there a plethora of historic canes which could be blamed for the fact that the malacca walking stick carried by the poet Gray on his celebrated visit to a country churchyard brought only £30.

Copies of the first edition of Oliver Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield," on the other hand, are in brisk demand. Two very dilapidated copies brought the equivalent of $2,000 and $2,500 recently, despite their condition.

Other recent prices realized at Sotheby's include: Smollett's "Roderick Random" (1748) £155, Fielding's "Tom Jones" (1749) £145, Shelley's "Rosalind and Helen" (1819) £135, and Lamb's Works, two volumes (1818) £100.

3 FOUND GUILTY IN MAIL FAKE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Three men were found guilty in the District of Columbia Supreme Court of use of the mails to defraud in obtaining $150,000 from various corporations in different sections of the country.

Those convicted were Frederick E. Lewis, of New Haven, Conn., former secretary-treasurer of S. B. Thayer, Son and Company, of Washington; Edward F. Lukens, a Philadelphia attorney, and Butler Kellogg, a New York note broker. A fourth man, Warren T. Godfroy, of Louisville, Ky., indicted with the others in 1926 on charges of fraudulently taking money advanced by corporations on proposed loans and bond issues, was exonerated.

Notice was given that a new trial would be sought.

Banker's Wife, 60, Dies Viewing Airplane

CARROLLTOWN, Pa., Feb. 13.—Stricken with heart failure while walking across a field to see the Curtiss 25-passenger airplane which made a forced landing last Sunday on the Carpenelli farm, near Hastings, Mrs. Charles C. Adams, wife of the cashier of the First National bank here, dropped dead.

Her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, who recently returned from a honeymoon trip abroad, were with Mrs. Adams when she collapsed.

DRESS STRIKE PACT SIGNED

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Employers and employes' organizations in the New York garment industry last night signed agreements officially ending a strike which for nine days has paralyzed the industry.

The signing of the agreements means that 22,000 strikers employed in shops affiliated with the various employers' groups will go back to work as soon as arrangements can be made to re-employ them. All are expected to be on the job by the first of next week. Seven thousand other workers who were employed in independent shops will return as soon as separate agreements with their employers can be signed.

The agreements ending the strike were signed in the presence of Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, who had acted as mediator.

The union was the first to agree on terms. The jobbers and contractors who have been at loggerheads on one point throughout the strike, were unable to agree until yesterday. The point at issue was the proposal of the contractors that jobbers confine all their orders to manufacturers who are members of the contractors' organization. The jobbers finally agreed to do this for three months, after which another settlement will be made.

Lehman indicated the outstanding points of the new contracts were all work of the three employer groups will hereafter be done only in union shops; a permanent impartial chairman, similar to the officer now ruling the cloak and suit industry, will be appointed to adjust all differences in the trade; workers will be on a 40-hour basis, and a commission, representing all parties and the public, will be selected.

BRITONS BOOST 'BUY AT HOME'

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—J. H. Thomas, lord privy seal and Minister of Employment, addressed the National Association of Buyers of British Goods at the Mansion House, telling them they could help solve the unemployment problem by tackling the propaganda side of it.

The meeting was the inauguration of the association, which is called the "Roll of Buyers of British Goods." The Minister gave the meeting his blessing and said:

"I believe you can create a healthy atmosphere for what we are supporting. I am delighted to know the movement was started by the working classes."

Premier Ramsay MacDonald announced the personnel of the new economic advisory council of Great Britain, of which the chairman will be the Prime Minister. The chancellor of the exchequer, the lord privy seal, the president of the Board of Trade, and the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, will be permanent members.

Others appointed to the board include Sir Arthur Balfour, vice-president of the International Chamber of Commerce; Ernest Bavin, secretary of the Transport and General Workers' Union; W. R. Blair, director of the Co-Operative Wholesale Society; Sir John Cadman, chairman of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company; William Citrine, general secretary of the Trades Union Congress; Sir Andrew Duncan, chairman of the Central Electricity Board, and Sir Josiah Stamp, chairman of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway.

YUCATAN INDIAN VILLAGE FOUND

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Discovery of a walled Indian village, unmarked on any map, in the wilds of Yucatan, was announced in a letter from Capt. Robert R. Bennett, of Washington, to the Heye Foundation, under whose auspices he is making a trip of exploration into the interior of that Mexican state.

Capt. Bennett's expedition, when the letter was written February 2, was in the interior country explored by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh by airplane last fall. One of the lakes on which Col. Lindbergh attempted to descend was plainly visible from the top of a pyramid, Capt. Bennett wrote.

It said that although numerous ruins had been found, no art works had been uncovered as yet.

Capt. Bennett is accompanied on his trip by Crawford Johnson, son of Charles E. Johnson of Washington, D. C.

SACKETT TAKES BERLIN POST

BERLIN, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Frederic M. Sackett, of Kentucky, became Ambassador Sackett yesterday when he was received by President Von Hindenburg in the gilded room of the Executive Palace, reserved for reception of diplomats.

The German President accepted the American envoy's letter of credence, then listened to a brief address by Sackett stressing German-American friendship, and replied in kind.

The American party occupied four motor cars in driving to the President's palace. In the first rode Sackett, accompanied by Count Franz von Tattenbach, chef du protocol, while embassy aides occupied the others. At the Executive Palace an honor company presented arms to the rolling of drums as the ambassador stepped from his car.

After the formal exchange of addresses the German President and the American Ambassador chatted a few moments. When he was leaving, Sackett complimented Von Hindenburg on his health and vigor, and the German President replied with a smile:

"Well, I may be pretty old, but nevertheless——"

Here he stamped his foot and made a gesture as though he were about to start marching.

PLAN LINCOLN UNIVERSITY

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Formal launching of a program to establish Abraham Lincoln University, an international seat of learning, was announced last night at a dinner of the Abraham Lincoln Foundation, formed for the purpose.

The foundation proposes to establish the university in Westchester County, N. Y., for the purpose of promoting world understanding through the education of promising youth from every nation.

Roy Curtiss, president of the foundation, announced selection of a board of trustees of the foundation. Among its members are Dr. David Starr Jordan, president emeritus of Stanford University; Gov. Flem D. Sampson, of Kentucky; George M. Verity, businessman, Middletown, O.; Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University of Oregon; Gen. Jay Johnson Morrow, former Governor of the Panama Canal Zone; Dr. Mary E. Wooley, president of Mt. Holyoke College; Jesse Grant Chapline, president of La Salle Extension University, and Dr. Eugene Randolph Smith, Brookline (Mass.) educator.

Dr. John Dewey, philosopher who also was named a trustee, made an address in which he stressed the necessity of continuing Lincoln's efforts to banish the "mighty scourge of war."

War Time Draft Board Trio Dead

FAYETTE CITY, Pa., Feb. 13.—The death of Dr. W. L. Quinn, local physician, marked the passing of the last member of the selective draft board for the western end of Fayette County, which served during the early months of the United States' part in the World War. G. B. Obey, once president and general manager of the Monongahela Railway Company at Brownsville, and County Commissioner Charles L. Nutt, of Jefferson Township, the other two members, died within the last two years.

Man Being Sought In Shovel Killing

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 13.—In an effort to solve the slaying of Basil Clevenger, 20, a log cutter of Hacker Valley, Webster County, at a camp on Tea Creek, by a blow from a shoval, police are searching for Hob Bailey, another lumberman. Bailey is said to have quarrelled with Clevenger.

Mrs. W. G. Walters, Civic Worker, Dies

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Mrs. Willard G. Walters, civic worker, president of the National Housewives, Inc., and the International New Thought Alliance of Maryland, was dead today after an illness of two months. She was 55 and came here from Washington eight years ago. The widower and a daughter survive.

DANCE HOSTESS, ESCORT SLAIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—A woman identified as a dance-hall hostess and her escort were killed early today by four gunmen who alighted from an automobile, chased them when they fled in opposite directions and shot them down. The killers escaped in their automobile.

Several hours after the shooting the body of the woman was identified as that of May Smith, 24, who came to New York more than a year ago from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and had been employed as a dancehall hostess. Her escort was Carmine Barelli, 30, of the Bronx, who, police said, was known in the Bronx as a gambler and had a criminal record dating back to 1919.

THEN SHE REALIZED . . .

"a dash of Sugar will give me that flavor..." and it did

She was trying to make a French dressing such as her neighbor made. But all her experiments with familiar seasonings failed to give her the right flavor until she thought of sugar. And a dash of sugar was just what was missing!

If you ever try to copy something you have eaten somewhere, and it doesn't taste the way you know it should, give a thought to sugar.

A dash of sugar will work wonders in the making of salad dressings or piquant sauces. In broiling or roasting meats, in vegetable cookery, nothing will take the place of a little sugar in securing or developing a pleasing flavor. Many of the popular French dishes include sugar, added during the cooking process.

A quick test for finding the flavor value of sugar is to mix a pinch of it with a pinch of salt. Taste it — there's no better flavor. Use such a combination of sugar and salt in cooking vegetables. It will ideally heighten the flavor of peas, corn, spinach, carrots and tomatoes. Baste lamb chops as they broil with this mixture — ¾ teaspoonful salt, 1 teaspoonful vinegar, 1 teaspoonful sugar, and 5 tablespoonfuls salad oil.

Where is the child who will turn up his nose at vegetables and cereals flavored with a dash of sugar? As a matter of fact, doctors and dieticians recommend the use of sugar in flavoring such foods because it makes them more palatable. The Sugar Institute.

News About Hollywood, Broadway and Coming Show Attractions

By GEORGE SEIBEL

FIVE days spent on New York last week convinced me that the slump on Broadway has subsided. About 10 of the attractions are selling out every night, and they're good attractions. Not rubbish or sex stuff or sentimental piffle or profanity plus vulgarity. Plays well made and well acted, with literary quality and psychological truth. It was refreshing and invigorating.

The great drawing card and the great surprise still is "Street Scene," which is the oldest play now on Broadway. Soon it will celebrate its five hundredth performance at the Ambassador Theater.

The surprise about this play is that its producer was William A. Brady. Those who do not know Brady personally have an idea that Brady is just a prizefight promoter turned theatrical adventurer. Every anecdote about the low-brow producer is promptly foisted onto Bill Brady. If a columnist thinks of a good joke to say about a manager who wanted to cable Moliere about musical comedy rights for one of his plays, that joke is fastened onto Bill Brady.

George Seibel

They forget that Brady was the first commercial manager to put on not Robert Mantell or Shakespeare, and they forget that Bill Brady was the one aboard the debate team on the late Soapy Roach Straight. That man had fundamentalists who would teach much of a natural history.

I have heard Brady deliver a scholarly lecture to the Pennsylvania Legislature at Harrisburg and in private talks he's brilliant made a break and he saw "Street Scene" after the Theater Guild couldn't see.

Really a Greek Drama

The point about this is that "Street Scene" is drama as Greek as Sophocles. The unity of time, place and action demanded by Aristotle and Boileau and by the French classicists is observed strictly in "Street Scene." It's a far cry from the front of a Harlem palace to the front of a Hell's tenement but essentially the setting for "Street Scene" resembles the setting for Oedipus.

If you regard the characters wandering in and out, passing or stopping to chat as portions of the chorus, your analogy is complete.

Even the racial flavor is Greek about it. Watch Kitaen's traveling salesman who came home and slew his wife's boy friends.

The radical philosopher railing at the world from his open window had his parallel in Athens when Socrates and Diogenes criticized everything and were regarded as dangerous characters. Socrates was put to death and Diogenes was called a Cynic, a word taken from the Greek for "dog."

There are a score of parallels between "Street Scene" and the orthodox Attic drama. The messenger used as a theatrical device, even the murder being committed behind the scenes, are both conventions of the Greek drama.

"Street Scene" is Sophocles up-to-date. Euripides on the East Side. Aristophanes reading the tabloids.

Merivale's Elegy

Something entirely different is making an equal hit at the Ethel Barrymore Theater. The success of "Death Takes a Holiday" led the Shuberts to make a star of Philip Merivale overnight. He was not even asked about it, but he has made no objection.

Merivale last seen here with Jane Cowl in "The Jealous Moon," is one of the few actors who could play a cerebral role. He would make a hit as Hamlet.

"Death Takes a Holiday" is not a comedy, not a tragedy, not a melodrama, doesn't fit into any of the usual pigeon-holes. Let us call it an Elegy.

I told Merivale that I regarded the play as a dramatization of Franz Schubert's song, "Der Tod und das Maedchen." Merivale told me that he had tried to persuade the orchestral director to use "Death and the Maiden" for incidental music.

In the play we see Death taking three days off. For three days nobody dies, all decay is suspended. During these three days Death falls in love with a mortal maiden. When he must return to his lethal vocation she has learned to love him and goes with him.

But it is a rich poetic conception and Merivale is the one man who could give it poetic power. It is one of the things that are selling out along Broadway.

All of which is an indication that the mourning period for the drama is just about past.

Baldwin Annexation Taken Into Court

Proposed annexation of a portion of Baldwin Township, near Hays, to the City of Pittsburgh, struck a snag when exceptions to the annexation petition were filed in Quarter Sessions Court by five residents of the township. They are Joseph J. Holland and Adam Yecko of the Fourth ward, Baldwin Township; A. H. Willis and William Hartman of the Eighth ward, and S. A. Hamel of the Sixth ward. They claim that there are no signers to the petition from the Fourth ward and say the required five per cent of the qualified voters of the township have not signed. Judge Harry H. Rowand fixed February 17 for a hearing.

Election Scheduled By Passenger Club

The annual election of officers of the Pittsburgh Passenger Club will be held March 8, the executive committee announced after naming a nominating committee to report two candidates for each office. The place of voting has not been selected. Officers of the club are: President, J. R. Largent; vice president, W. R. Turner; secretary, Daniel Bucy, and treasurer, S. W. Sankey.

Staff for High School Paper Named

The new staff of the Fifth Avenue High School newspaper was announced yesterday evening. Joseph M. Katz was named editor-in-chief. Business managers include Harry Wagner, Matthew Wise, Louis Abromovitz and Harold Barack. The literary editor is Isadore Rubenstein. E. W. Atkinson and Miss Mary Cook are faculty advisors.

Ladies of Sheraden Elks to Give Party

The first of a series of card parties, sponsored by the Ladies' Social Auxiliary, Sheraden Lodge No. 949, B. P. O. Elks, will be held tomorrow night in the Elks' Temple, Hillsboro street. Mrs. W. A. Kury, president of the auxiliary, is general chairman. Other card parties have been listed for the following two Friday nights.

Mt. Lebanon Choir To Be Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hanson, of 230 Castle Shannon road, will entertain the members of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church choir at their home Saturday night.

Prize Winner

"Hazel May suffered from indigestion," says Mrs. M. Hopkins, Quakertown. "Her appetite was sallow and thin. Every appetite vanished. She grew weak for food.

"California Fig Syrup was recommended to her. It regulated her system quickly; improved her appetite and digestion. She has improved right along until friends say she is a regular prize winner for health."

Mothers by thousands praise California Fig Syrup. They know it is a purge to children. Its pure, fruity goodness is safe. So may child. The prompt relief it brings relieves fretfulness, peevishness, constipated children. Because it helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach. Next time, breath, coated tongue, sick headache, sour stomach, constipation, bad taste with your child, and see how it helps.

When buying, look for the name California. That marks the genuine. Famous for 50 years.

IN MUSICAL ROMANCE

Irene Dunne has a prominent role in Flo Ziegfeld's musical romance, "Show Boat," which returns to Pittsburgh for an engagement in the Nixon next week.

'SHOW BOAT' TO RETURN MONDAY

Seats are now available at the Nixon box office for the engagement of Ziegfeld "Show Boat" in that playhouse next week. Charles Winninger heads the large cast. Among the other players are Howard Marsh, Eva Puck, Sammy White, Irene Dunne, Margaret Carlisle, Edna May Oliver, Aunt Jemima, Charles Ellis and Jules Bledsoe.

All seats for the second week of "Journey's End" in the Alvin go on sale at the box office today. It is the Chicago company that is presenting the play here and is the second one to have been organized in this country, where there are now six of them playing.

The life of a prince, as depicted in "Just Suppose," the romantic comedy to be presented by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt next week is a far cry from the freedom of American youth. The story revolves around the happenings on a night when the prince flees from the affairs of state and travels incognito.

BARTHELMESS FILM

Richard Barthelmess' latest talking film, "The Son of the Gods," adapted to the screen from Rex Beach's novel of the same name, opens in the Stanley tomorrow for an eight-day engagement. At the conclusion of the stay of this picture the Stanley will change to a Saturday opening policy.

The film, "The Love Parade," starring Maurice Chevalier, which begins the second week of its run at the Aldine Monday, features ballets, choruses, operatic numbers and modern blues songs.

"No, No Nanette," the talking and technicolor picture in the Warner, will remain for a second week beginning Saturday. Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray have the leading roles.

NOVARRO TALKIE

"Devil-May-Care," which comes to the Penn Monday, is the first talking picture of Ramon Novarro.

Victor Graff will present "In Holland" as the stage feature in the Harris, beginning Saturday. The screen feature will be "The Grand Parade," with Helen Twelvetrees and Fred Scott prominent.

"Jango," picturization of wild animal and human life in the Congoland and Cameroons of Western Africa, will close its two-week engagement in the Gayety Saturday night.

AN EMPEY STORY

The all-talking screen version of Arthur Guy Empey's story, "Troopers Three," will have its world premiere in the Olympic Saturday. The cast features Dorothy Gulliver, Roscoe Karns, Rex Lease and Slim Summerville.

Richard Arlen comes to the Enright tomorrow in his first starring film, "Burning Up." Jay Mills will present "School Days" on the stage.

Tonight and tomorrow night will be known as "Smith Nights" in the R.-K.-O. Sheridan Square. Large delegations of the Allegheny County Smiths will be present to see Jack Oakie and all the Smiths" in "Hit the Deck."

The kind of job you've been waiting for may be advertised in the Classified Section—today. It's worth a look.

Yehudi Menuhin Orchestra Soloist

Yehudi Menuhin, boy violinist is to appear as soloist with the Minneapolis Orchestra, under Henri Verbrugghen, tomorrow night and Saturday afternoon. He will play the Brahms concerto with the orchestra. The orchestral works tomorrow night include Wagner's prelude to Die Meistersinger, Debussy's "L'Apres-Midi d'un Faune," Respighi's symphonic poem "The Pines of Rome," Saturday afternoon, Beethoven's overture to "Coriolanus" will open the program, followed by Honegger's "Pastorale d'Ete" a Dutch rhapsody by Van Anrooy, and Liszt symphonic poem, "Les Preludes."

The orchestra also will give a special children's concert from 4 until 5 o'clock Friday afternoon in Carnegie Music Hall.

SCRIBES GO AIR RIDING OVER HOLLYWOOD AND VISIT MR. SENNETT

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13.

THAT Mack Sennett. He's most powerful particular how a newspaper scribe comes a visiting him at his studio. He figured he'd like to have three of us drop in, via the Goodyear blimp, around the noon hour. So to the blimp's hangar three of us motored and the morn rather foggy, with black-gray oil smoke smudges hanging over the city. The cold weather has necessitated orange growers using oil burners (or whatever the technical term is) at night, so as to prevent the crop's death from cold. But the sun penetrated the haze, so Mr. Blimp, commandeered by Carl Lang, was prepared for the flight.

Mack Sennett

We crawled into the miniature basket, three of us on the back seat, Mr. Lang and his co-pilot in front. The ground crew manned the ropes. After one thing and another, all of a sparkly nature, Lang called "We're going."

Instead of a "stick," such as is used in an airplane, a blimp has what is called an "elevator wheel." Lang gave her the juice. The engines roared like a baby lion. The propellers churned the ozone. And the ship rose almost straight up in the air. Whoops, a kick.

Hollywood is quite a sight from a blimp. At a speed of 40 miles an hour, a dawdly speed for air travel, 'tis easy to discern the homesteads. Jack Gilbert's, there on the hill. The John Barrymores right above it. King Vidor's. And on that plateau over yonder, where Fred Thompson and Frances Marion (now Mrs. George Hill) formerly lived. There, Gloria Swanson, sitting next to the Bev Hills Hotel.

Redistricting Body Arranges Two Meets

Three meetings have been scheduled by the Redistricting Commission for Allegheny County. The first two meetings will be held next Wednesday evening in the Fourteenth and Twenty-fourth wards. The Fourteenth Ward session is scheduled for Wightman School, while the meeting in the Twenty-fourth Ward will be held at Spring Garden School. In the Fifth Ward a meeting of the commission will be held next Thursday evening at Watt School.

Scouts to Launch Drive for Budget

A budget campaign will be conducted by Allegheny County Council, Boy Scouts of America, from March 12 to March 22, according to an announcement made last night by A. T. Benson, head of the council. The announcement followed a meeting of members of the executive board and sponsors of the organization's 1930 program. Dr. Edward R. Weidlein, director of Mellon Institute, has been appointed general chairman of the campaign.

Advice

O'H, lad, it she be pickle. Waste no more time on her,
Nor let the weak tears trickle, nor let the ruin stir.
Cease all this senseless thinking
Of charms that once were linking.
Try dining, dancing, drinking,
Nor mind the nights that were.

I, too, have known your anguish, a score or more of times
Why sit at home and languish, go seek ye other climes.
Get romp again in clover,
Forget the times now over,
And do not—like this rover

Jay.

OOP!

EDDIE PARAMORE records this squelch on John V. A. Weaver, who was saying "a few kind words" about the very odd McIntyre to Herman Mankiewicz. "That guy makes me sick," growled Weaver. "he writes a squib in his column about me, saying I was a Kennebunkport (Me.) boy, who made good in the city. In the first place, that item cost me $3, considering his stuff is syndicated, and in the second place I was never in Kennebunkport in my life—"

"And in the third place," flipped Herman, "you never made good in the city."

MERCILESS TRUTH

Harry Reichenbach's description of New York: "A place with the most churches and the fewest customers."

BY WAY OF REPORT

TO hear George Stark, the editor of the Detroit Athletic News, unfold it, the N. Y. Public Library maintains a large checkroom for the convenience of frequenters. During the day hundreds of people who come to the library to do research work find the checkroom a great accommodation to dispose of their wraps, etc.

Soon the great commuting public became aware of this and instead of checking their belongings in the Grand Central Station where the fee is a dime, they used the library's free checkroom. This naturally entailed a real hardship on the library's checking attendant, an old gent, who finally tacked up a placard reading: "This checkroom was established for those seeking knowledge, not for those already wise!"

STEPIN STEPS OUT

Stephin Fetchit, famed temperamental sepia comic, is out at Columbia Studios. He was cast for an important role in "Lover Come Back," but after two days, officials could not put up with him longer and he was aired. Stepin has been quite the focus of attention in Hollywood since his tremendous hit in "Hearts of Dixie." First, he got sealed to a hi-yaller hi-school gal. Then, for several weeks he spend most of his time being scolded by judges for failing to answer traffic law violations committed in his noisy-looking car.

Clarence Muse, another colored comedian, has been engaged to replace the brown clown, and all the film shot up to date on Fetchit has been scrapped, which is one cure for inflated skulls.

THE LOWDOWN

THE Wampas Baby Star group of Hollywood has started looking about for its 1930 bunch, and there is plenty of rivalry and lobbying being done by the cuties around the moom pitcher sector. The choosing of baby stars, however, is a farce. It is merely a vote proposition where one Wampus member approaches another, promising to vote for each other's candidates. And the lad with the most persuasive means of getting his contemporaries' vote is the lad who puts his "baby" over.

It is thoroughly a commercial proposition sponsored under cover by the studios, to put their unknowns over with national publicity.

NEWSPAPERMAN STUFF

Several baseball seasons ago, Walton Hoban, the N. Y. Journal cartoonist, was assigned to cover a couple of world series games in Philadelphia. Having given thousands of dollars to various charities that week, Mr. Hoban had to ask the sports editor for fifty bucks advance.

Wilton S. Farnsworth, for it was none other than he, advised that Walter take a hundred.

"No," said the cartooner, "I'll have trouble enough accounting for fifty." To which Mr. Farnsworth replied, "Don't be a chump; you might drop dead before payday."

FACT

THE dispatches from the West Coast tell of a fist fight between Jim Tully, the novelist, and John Gilbert, the moom pitcher star. When interviewed by the press for details, both lads refused to offer a reason for the disturbance, Gilbert explaining: "I only did what any man would do under the circumstances."

Well, the reason for the punch-swapping is that over a year ago Tully, Vanity-Faired an article titled "John Gilbert" in which he ripped Gilbert to shreds, and the other night marked their first meeting since the piece appeared. Tully, it appears, got the decision.

Boy Who Lost Leg Given Pension By Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Reminiscent of the fact that all casualties of war are not incurred on the field of battle, the House passed, unanimously, a bill for the relief of George S. Conway, Jr., of Englewood, N. J., who as a lad of five, lost his leg under the wheels of a troop train.

Representative Perkins of New Jersey, sponsored the bill to authorize the payment of $5,000 to Conway's father. He told the House a soldier boosted the boy to the window of a troop train bound for Camp Merritt on August 1927, 1918, in response to the lad's request "to see the guns."

Former College Head Dies in Texas

The educator, who served for three years as head of the college after it was founded in 1875, also founded the Texas Military Institute at Austin.

Soviet Police Hunt Revolt Firebugs

MOSCOW, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Soviet secret police today intensified their search for suspected counter-revolutionaries who are believed to have caused a fire in a huge grain warehouse at Rostov earlier this week. Twenty-eight persons lost their lives in the fire and an enormous quantity of grain was destroyed.

State Senator Will Seek Renomination

SALISBURY, Md., Feb. 13.—(AP)—State Senator David J. Ward said he would announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the position he now holds when the proper time arrives. George E. Kennedy, announced his candidacy for the office several months ago.

Roland and now beginning to be homesteaded. Up Fairfax avenue over Famous Players studio and near enough to see that one side of the roof looks as though it will need repairing soon. Over Hollywood Boolvard. There's that house atop the Roosevelt that Mrs. Peg Talmadge once lived in. Looks kinda card-ish from here. The Embassy. The Montmartre. The Brown Derby. Yep, that recent fire did soot up the roof a speck.

John Barrymore

Over Franklin avenue. Ah ha, there's my chateau. And Anita Stewart's voice is climbing to a high C! Is that Carey Wilson and Carmelita Geraghty on the tennis court? Adolph Menjou's house on Las Vegas looks kinda nice from this height. And there's where the Jack Dempseys park. The swimming pool is ready for customers. Too much of a drop though!

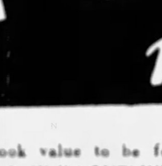
At about this point Pilot Lang turned off the motors and the blimp anchored in mid ozone. There's our shadow, a hot dog shape. Isn't it a honey?

"Well," yelled Lang, "we'll go on over to Mack Sennett's."

So he started the engines. Hitting above Cahuenga Pass. There's the reservoir that every one expects to rush through the dam one of these fine days. And First National. Quite picturesque—from here. Likewise Universal City. Heavens, the number of barbecue stands. Ah ha, Mr. Sennett's business plot. There's the ground crew, waiting to help us to land.

Cutting Capers Way Up in Air

NOW we cut capers. From a height of about two thousand feet, we nose at almost a straight angle to the ground. Come on ground. Right through the celluloid window! Nope. Lang leveled her. Gosh, a yard full of chickens go crazy, scared silly. We skip telephone wires. The entire Sennett staff is on the field. Here we come. We have one wheel on which to make a "three point" landing. We settle to terra firma, gently, no rough spots. The ground crew grab the ropes. Whoops, we're down.



Nick Stuart.

Mr. Sennett, Nick Stuart, Marjorie Beebe, Andy Clive, a bevy of swimming girls, a barrage of cameras, an innocent "make." Bless your heart, newspaper scribes make good! Mr. Sennett shakes hands all around and inquires about the trip.

Dan Thomas is elected to answer by Bob Coons and yours truly. None of that mike stuff for ours! Dan does swell. He'll be an actor yet.

Well, there you are. Visiting by Goodyear blimp is the racket. No air bumps to make one seasick. Smooth traveling. Helium gas in the bag. No danger of going up in smoke. And not a nerve out of place because of the trip.

Girl Who Cried For Days Now Recovering

ATTLEBORO, Mass., Feb. 13.—(AP)—The condition of Violet Michael, 18, who has been suffering from an involuntary crying spell since Sunday night, was much improved after a two-hour sleep yesterday. The attack, which had been continuous, was present only at intervals.

Dr. Earl White, the attending physician, said the girl's general condition was better and with another good sleep he expected the malady to disappear.

Violet started crying when her mother left home Sunday for a visit. A spasmodic contraction of the diaphragm resulted and the girl was unable to stop crying.

No Water, Firemen Watch Barn Burn

Three fire departments were compelled to stand by while a large barn in Lewis's lane, Wilkins Township, was destroyed by fire last night. Flames had gained too great headway when apparatus from Forest Hills, Wilkinsburg and Wilkins Township arrived to permit use of chemicals and no water supply was available. The loss was estimated by Forest Hills firemen at $1,500.

New Hope For Mothers of Frail, Underweight Children

No Child Will Object to Taking Health and Growth Vitamins in This Pleasant, Digestible Form

It is only natural that you should be greatly troubled about that little boy or girl of yours. It does not seem right for any child to have cheeks so thin and pale or such a painfully frail, weak body. It is clear that your child is not growing and thriving properly.

You understand that cod liver oil, because of its abundance of health, growth and "sunshine" vitamins, would be helpful; yet the thought of liquid cod liver oil's disagreeable fishy odor and taste and its oily greasiness brings up another problem to worry you. Would it be fair—would it not be downright cruel to make the youngster keep on taking such an unpleasant dose?

Give Your Child Internal Sunshine

Well, here is news that should put an end to both your worries. To insure to your child's growing body an ample daily supply of the "sunshine" vitamin D and the body-building A vitamin, it is no longer necessary to make the little one actually take liquid cod liver oil. A wonderful scientific discovery relieves children of this hardship by at last making cod liver oil vitamins pleasant and easy to take, digest and assimilate.

McCoy's Laboratories, Inc., of New York City, have developed a method of extracting these wonderful vitamins from cod liver oil and putting them—full volume and strength—into tablets free from odor, taste, or greasiness.

They are called McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets, and when taken or given in accordance with the simple directions they will not upset even an infant's stomach. Yet they will aid growth amazingly and prove most valuable in restoring tissues or energy lost through wasting illness, overwork or too strenuous living.

Great Body-Building Benefit

Two McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equal to one teaspoonful of the pure vitamin-tested Norwegian cod liver oil from which they are made. Only the finest, vitamin-rich cod liver oil is used in their making and genuine cod liver oil extract is their sole ingredient. McCoy's Tablets positively contain no harmful or habit-forming drugs, no inert medicines, no temporary "pick-me-ups." They are a real, beneficial addition to the daily diet of children, of rundown, underweight adults, aged people, invalids or convalescents. You do not have to miss the noonday dose—easy to carry, easy to take.

For any sick, anemic, underweight or rundown condition for which cod liver oil is known to be beneficial, you will find it just as safe, just as beneficial and far more pleasant to take or give McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets instead. (McCoy Lab., Inc., 1929)

Don't Expect Soap Alone to Give Dish Washing Results...

New water-softening cleanser is almost magic in action—with local hard water and ¼ usual amount of soap. ½ the time.

A NEW discovery—not a soap, but a water-softening cleanser—makes any soap more effective by changing hard water to soft. It enables you to cut dish washing time in half. And you need use only one-fourth the usual amount of soap.

Women now find that greasy film on dishes has been eliminated and greasy scum is no longer left in the dishpan—in spite of this city's hard water.

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene that you add to your washing water. Just a tablespoon or two.

Instantly, it takes all the harshness out of that water. Makes it soft as rain water.

At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all dirt, stains and grime.

Use the soap or soap flakes you ordinarily do. Then see for yourself the amazing results. During 1929 women used over 24,000,000 packages of Climalene for washing, for cleaning and in the dishpan.

Laboratory Proved

To assure results to you, we buy fine things, lingerie and delicate fabrics, costly china. Then by repeated washings, try to spoil or fade them.

Consider, please, what those things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put this creation into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft, smooth and white. Then try it.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages. THE CLIMALENE CO., CANTON, O. 172-B

SPORT COMMENT

McKechnie Denies Bid. Basketball Test Here.
Willing to Make Deal. Johnson Picks Rangers.

M'GRAW TRYING TO SCARE HOLDOUTS

ACCORDING to some of the New York newspapers, the latest development in the Giant baseball holdout cases is an attempt by the Boston National League club to make a deal for Third Baseman Freddie Lindstrom and Outfielder Eddie Roush, two of the seven McGrawites who thus far have failed to sign their 1930 contracts. The story goes that when the management of the Braves learned that the New York club had not succeeded in coming to terms with those two players, among others, it stepped to the front and proposed a deal that would transfer Lindstrom and Roush to the Hub. The nature of the offer, if any, is not made known.

Eddie Roush

The first surmise of the average experienced fan was that the yarn had little more behind it than a bit of strategy on the part of the Giant bosses, which they hoped would have the effect of throwing a scare into the players named and inducing them to come into the fold. That's an old dodge in baseball—trying to weaken a holdout by giving him the uneasy feeling that he is about to be traded to a tail end club.

THIS impression is strengthened by the fact that Bill McKechnie has no knowledge of the offer reported to have been made for Lindstrom and Roush. Bill happens to be manager of the Braves and would be apt to know a thing or two about such a step if it actually had been taken by his club.

Not that McKechnie wouldn't like to get the pair of Giants, or any other good player, for that matter. He is in the market for any athlete of recognized ability who can be landed for cash or for any other consideration within reason, and has so notified not only New York, but every other club in the league. As for making any overtures for Lindstrom and Roush, however, he says the Boston club has never gone that far.

"WE have not made any offer for Lindstrom or Roush except that we notified the New York club and others long ago that Boston would be interested in any first-class players for whom they might be willing to talk trade or sale," said McKechnie today.

"But if Lindstrom and Roush are on the market, naturally we'd be glad to get either or both. The Boston club is willing to spend a lot of money to acquire material of quality, and we're willing also to make any player trade within reason. We're ready to talk business at any time for any good player. That's what we're trying to do—build up our club and give Boston a winner."

Freddie Lindstrom

THAT the New York club has any serious intention of letting Lindstrom, at least, get away, is doubted in baseball circles. It may be different in the case of Roush, as Eddie will be 37 years old in May, probably hasn't much further to go, and it is known that McGraw offered to trade him a year ago without finding any takers. But there is about as much chance of Lindstrom's being swapped as there is that the Pittsburgh club will trade Pie Traynor. Freddie is one of the most valuable players in baseball, and McGraw's pennant aspirations this year would be hopeless without him.

MCKECHNIE plans to leave his Wilkinsburg home one week from tomorrow night for the spring training camp of the Braves in St. Petersburg, Fla. He will arrive there on Sunday, February 23, and the practice work of the first squad will be started the following day.

"Our team is pretty well rounded up now," said Bill. "We haven't experienced any trouble in getting our men under contract. Only a few remain unsigned and these are players whose contracts were sent out late and from whom we have not yet heard. We expect to have the entire squad signed by training time."

MOST baseball fans had lost track of Charles W. Somers since he left the American League 15 years ago, but it develops that during all that time he has been a silent power in one of the minor leagues. The late A. J. Heinemann was the supposed owner as well as the president of the New Orleans club in the Southern Association, but it has just been disclosed that Somers was and still is the real owner. Somers has assumed the office of president of the club and Larry Gardner will be the manager.

Somers was president of the Boston American League club in 1901 and 1902, being succeeded by Henry J. Killilea, who, with President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pirates, arranged the first modern world series in 1903. Somers was president of the Cleveland club from 1910 to 1915, inclusive. It is said his financial backing had much to do with carrying the American League through the stormy days of its war with the National.

Bob Walsh

IN signing Bob Walsh, Notre Dame right-hand pitcher, son of the original Ed Walsh, old White Sox star, and brother of Ed, Jr., now hurling for that club, the Yankees have picked up one of the tallest flingers in the game. Bob stands 6 feet 4 inches in height and weighs 205 pounds. He is 22 years old. His brother on the White Sox team is 25, stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 185. At that Bob is not the tallest pitcher on the Yankee staff, as Fred Aabech, University of Michigan recruit, stands 6 feet 6 inches and scales 215. Another Yank rookie, Foster Edwards, is of the same height as Walsh. Old Ed Walsh is the second former big leaguer to send two sons to the majors. The first was Jim Cooney, father of Johnny and Jim, Jr. He played for the Chicago Nationals in 1890, 1891 and 1892. Young Jim has drifted out but Johnny is still with the Braves.

WHEN the world champions of professional basketball, the Cleveland Rosenblums, meet the Paterson team on the Duquesne University floor on March 12 or 13 in a regularly scheduled American League game that has been transferred to this city, the importance of the event will not be confined to what it means as a league contest.

Of course, it would be a high spot of the local season on its surface merits alone. It will be the first chance the fans hereabouts have had to see two American League professional clubs in a league contest on a Pittsburgh floor, and it will afford an opportunity for a comparison of the pro game with the kind played in amateur, independent and collegiate ranks.

BUT in addition to those features, the game will be important because it may be the test that will determine whether or not Pittsburgh one day is to have a team of its own playing in the American

FORT ERIE, Ont., Feb. 13.—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who meet the Rangers in New York tonight, were beaten by the Boston Bruins, 4 to 3, here last night, in a free-scoring game in which the champions were placed to the test in the final period when George Owen was sent down on a major penalty.

The Bruins did not have the snap expected probably because of their overtime game with Toronto Tuesday night, but their class finally told. Hitchman and Shore on the defense gave Thompson marvelous protection through the greater part of the fray, but it was the brilliance of the little goalie that finally brought the champions through the storm of the closing rush of the cellar occupants. The lineup:

Boston		Pittsburgh
Thompson	G	Miller
Shore	D	Mc Ar
Hitchman	D	Mach
M. Burch	C	Traver
Oliver	R. W.	Darragh
Goldsworthy	L. W.	J. Lowrey

Substitutes: Boston, W. Carson, Ty Owen, A. Clapper, Weiland, Gallant, H. Oliver; Pittsburgh, Pirates, Smith, Jarvis, Barton, Maloney. Referee, Hewitt. Linesmen, Shore and Boyle. First period: Boston 1, Pittsburgh 1. Scoring: Pittsburgh, Miller 2 (assists Shore), Boston, 12:36. Penalties, Oliver and Hitchman. Second period: Boston 3, Pittsburgh 2. Scoring, second period: Darragh, Pittsburgh, 57. Barry, (Oliver), Boston, 4:56. Clapper, Boston, 5:36. Owen (assists) Boston, 12:36. Fraser (McKinnon), Pittsburgh, 19:30. Penalties, Oliver and Fraser. Third period: No scoring. Penalties, McKinnon, Owen, Clapper, and Miller. Final score: Boston, 4; Pittsburgh, 3.

RANGERS SET FOR FIGHT

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—There'll be plenty doing at Madison Square Garden tonight when the New York Rangers cross sticks with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Tonight's game marks the final appearance of the Pirates in New York this season. Besides the Rangers, with 11 games yet to play, and Ching Johnson out for the season, are fighting desperately for points so that they may get into the Stanley play-offs.

CANADIENS GET GIROUX

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Announcement was made today of the sale of Art Giroux, San Francisco hockey player, to Les Canadiens, of Montreal, for $5,000.

PRESIDENTS BEAT CARNEGIE FIVE AGAIN

By JESS CARVER

Washington and Jefferson's varsity basketball team moved into a tie with the Pitt Panthers for the leadership in the Big Four last night and established what may be termed a mathematical chance of winning the year honors by knocking off Carnegie Tech for the second time this year. Last night's game, played in the Tartan gym, resulted in a 36-24 win for the Prexys.

Fred Brand

All Wash-Jeff has to do now to win the 1930 title is to beat Pitt and West Virginia a couple times. That all. The defeat last night was the eleventh in a row for Carnegie.

PREXYS GRAB LEAD

The Presidents raced away to an early shutout lead, topping the Tartans by 9 to 0 at one time during the first half, and though the Skibos rallied valiantly, held a 16-11 upper hand at half time. Field goals by Messrs. Hamilton, who had a pair, Lewis, Harris and Umberger, gave the Red and Black the majority of its points. Tech earned its score on goals from the floor by Nease. High and Fox.

There must have been a lid on the Tech baskets last night, for shot after shot launched by eager Tartan hands hit the rim and then rolled off. If the Skibos had been able to drop half the shots they took, they'd have been in the ball game up to their necks.

HAMILTON STARS

The five point lead of the visitors was cut to three for a time early in the second half, but Hamilton and Lewis, caging three goals each, increased this advantage as the Tech attempts continued to go anywhere but through the net. Webster, center and forward, finally found the range for the Tartans and swished through three goals, and Fox added one, but McNeill and Smith came to the aid of Lewis and Hamilton, each with a goal, and stowed the game safely away.

Coach Hogan, of Tech, started a regular football lineup, using both Dutch Eyth and Ted Rosenzweig. Captain George Nease had a tough night, being consistently unable to find the range.

Phil Hamilton, with five goals, was the scoring star of the contest and played a generally fine game in leading the Presidents to the triumph. Each team tallied 10 times from the foul line, Tech making 10 out of 22 free tosses good and Wash-Jeff 10 out of 20. The lineup:

Tech. 24		W. & J. 36
Nease (C)	F	(C) Lewis
Eyth	F	Harris
Webster	C	Hamilton
High	G	Umberger
Rosenzweig	G	McNeill

Scoring by periods:

Wash. Jeff		16	20	36
Carnegie Tech		11	13	24

Team fouls: Carnegie, 16 out of 22.

Middle Atlantic Season Arranged

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 13.—The members of the Middle Atlantic League schedule committee at a meeting held here last night adopted a 118-game schedule for the 1930 pennant race, the season opening on May 5 and closing on Labor Day. The schedule will be operated on a split-season basis. The first half ends on July 5.

Dog Show Entry Poisoned, Report

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—Despite an official announcement to the contrary, reports persisted today that Clyden's Black Pirate, a collie entry at the fifty-fourth annual bench show of the Westminster Kennel Club at Madison Square Garden, had been poisoned. The dog died suddenly yesterday.

SMITH BECOMES PILOT

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Roy Clark, secretary-treasurer of the Williamsport Baseball Club, of the New York-Pennsylvania League, last night announced the sale of H. C. (Doc) Smith, catcher, to the Muskogee club of the Western Association, of which he will become manager. Smith was purchased during the Chattanooga meeting of minor league magnates from the Tulsa (Okla.) club of the Western League.

LEADERS HOLD PLACES IN TOURNEY

The leaders in the annual Tristate tenpin tournament being staged at the Princeton alleys remained unchanged yesterday despite the return of some high scores in the singles, doubles and five-men events.

Bisler and Hamilton turned in the best doubles score with 1,101. Val Myer made a strong bid for the singles lead with 615, while P. A. A. and Keystone Athletic Club each had fine totals in the five-men event. The scores:

DANNY TAYLOR PLEASED WITH CUB TERMS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Marse Joe, of the famous Wrigley baseball plantation of Chicago, had his bloodhounds at the leash ready to turn them loose on Danny Taylor, of West Newton, when Danny Boy informed the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph that he was ready to give himself up. So McCarthy has called off the hounds.

Danny Taylor

The fleetfooted Danny has no controversy of any kind, but he decided to take his signed contract along to Chicago when he reports there one week from Monday. The Chicago management, on the other hand, had given it out to the newspapers that all members of the championship outfit, save one, were signed. But the officials only recently disclosed the identity of the mysterious player.

"Everything is fine with me," said Danny today from his West Newton home. "The old contract is O. K. and I have just notified the management to that effect. I expect to reach Chicago one week from Monday to join up with the second squad of players which is scheduled to leave for Catalina on the following day."

DUNN BEATEN BY MAYBERRY AT MOOSE

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

When worse fights are fought than the main bout at the Moose Temple last night between Howard Mayberry, of Donora, and Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, two smarter boxers will turn them in.

On a par with the Jack Perry-Ray Pryel affair of years ago at Motor Square Garden for messy tactics that "regusted" the fans, the thing dragged on and on to the finish perhaps for no other reason than that all things—good or bad—must have an ending. It seemed that they were fighting 40 instead of 10 rounds and both the fans and the referee were on the pair throughout in a vain effort to speed up the action.

It was simply a case of two fellows being matched against each other who are too smart in a boxing way to be able to show to any advantage against each other. Mayberry was just a shade the foxier of the pair and in the early stages the poorer showman, but he finally managed to throw Dunn, the favorite, so badly out of his stride that he was able to come on in the closing rounds and fight his way to an edge.

DUNN OUTBOXED

The referee, Al Grayber, called it a draw, but the judges, Frank Brown and Jock Simco, ruled for Mayberry, although it was such a fight that the fans were starting to walk out on it and for a change didn't seem to care which man got the decision just so it was over.

Dunn had his mouth cut in an early round and it bled to the finish. He tried his hardest to make a good fight of it at the start, but Mayberry, boxing out of a shell, wouldn't let him, and, at the same time, exerted himself as little as possible. When they entered the home stretch, Dunn was

M'GRAW'S BROTHER DIES

TOLEDO, Feb. 13.—(INS.)—James M. McGraw, secretary of the Toledo Baseball Club and only brother of John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, died in St. Vincent's Hospital here yesterday afternoon. Death was due to complications which set in after an appendicitis operation was performed last week.

Sport Vignettes

Frank Hunter, the new national indoor tennis champion, a veteran of the courts, is a newspaper publisher..... The late Joe Cantillon, baseball manager and one of the best scouts in the so-called sticks of the game, had Rube Waddell under his management at Minneapolis and had his share of trouble keeping the great pitcher in line..... The Rube liked to play hookey and go fishing and visiting with convivial companions..... One day he went A. W. O. L. for a fishing trip and Joe was in a rage, but when he reached home that evening he melted when he found awaiting him eight nice bass, accompanied by a card reading "With the compliments of Rube Waddell."..... Joe enjoyed the meal and wasn't going to say anything about the incident until he met his fish dealer the next day and the latter asked him how he liked the bass..... "What bass?" asked Joe..... "The ones I sent you last night, Rube Waddell was in here and picked out eight of the best and had me send them up to you."..... Phil Scott is complaining because the newspaper boys are laying off yelping about his penchant for claiming fouls and ridiculing his walking stick..... Begins to appear that he's equally fond of his artistry as a claimer and that cane..... At that, the Sharkey-Scott fight will have to be very bad, indeed, to put down the odor of the Sharkey-Stribling mess in Miami last winter..... A couple of years ago, Knute Hansen knocked out Phil Scott in the first round in New York and then beat it for Europe..... The other night, while Scott was idling away his time in Florida waiting to pick up about $150,000 for fighting Sharkey, Hansen fought Ted Sandwina, one of the world's poorest heavyweights, at a third-rate club in New York and was knocked out in the first round..... Proving that sometimes Fate gives a deserving fellow a healthy kick where it does the most good..... Carl Shatto, our hockey editor, has a watch that occasionally is right up to date with the calendar, but seldom with anybody else's watch..... Reason the hockey league race is so one-sided, according to a New York observer, is that the Boston Bruins start fast and then put on speed..... Hugo Bezdek, former head football coach at Penn State, is a happy man these days as he visualizes the broad field ahead of him in his physical education expansion program at State..... Bez, by the way, voluntarily resigned his post as football coach recently at a time when there was a lull in the sniping for his scalp..... The showing of the Nittany Lions against Pitt last Thanksgiving Day silenced many of Bez's most devoted critics and no one can say he stepped out when there was any pressure on him..... College athletics is a real lifework with Bez and if left alone he will do a real job in his newly-created position..... Phil Scott tried to claim a foul in a bout with Johnny Risko in Cleveland, during his first visit to this country, but Referee Patsy Haley ordered him to get up and began to count..... At nine the bloomin' blighter came up tossing a barrage of rights at Risko's head, his best punches of the fight, and proved to the satisfaction of everybody that he had been trying to take the easy way out..... More than a million dollars, we are told, will be expended to put over the annual A. B. C. bowling tournament, scheduled in Cleveland, March 1 to April 6..... The strikes will be furnished by the Pittsburgh taxicab companies and the spares by some automobile accessory concern, no doubt.—HARRY KECK.

DUKES WIN OVER MOUNTAINEERS, 28 TO 26

W. VA. RALLY FALLS SHORT OF MARK

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 13.—Sophomore Eddie Cubbon returned to the West Virginia University lineup last night and led the Mountaineers to a sensational last-period rally, but it fell short and Duquesne University nicked the Mountaineers in a hair-raiser by a 28-26 score.

The Dukes rode Capt. (Little Sleepy) Glenn, West Virginia star forward, and presented a baffling so-called professional style of passing attack to roll up a big lead on the Mountaineers at the start. At one time in the first period the Pittsburghers were ahead 14-2, but the West Virginians caged a pair of long ones and took the rest period behind 14-6.

At the outset of the second half West Virginia spurted, with Cubbon, Plaster and Ratcliffe goaling in quick order. With eight minutes to play Duquesne had a 21-18 lead, but they widened it to 28-20 when Capt. Glenn left the game on personal fouls with two and one-half minutes to go. Here however, Cubbon and Guard Plaster started a bombardment which brought the score up to 28-26, with less than a minute to play. Johnny Doyle took a long pass after the tipoff and went under the hoop for the goal which would have tied the game, but it rolled around, hit the banking board and dropped off just as the gun cracked.

Little (Mite) Stephens and Guard Lubic gave the Dukes their big lead in the first half with pops from difficult angles and at a distance. The lineup:

Duquesne—28.		West Va.—26.
Abele	F	M. Glenn
Benedict	F	Doyle
Vernon	C	Hartley
Stephens	G	Ratcliffe
Lubic	G	Plaster

Substitutes, West Virginia—Cubbon, Lepera, Duquesne; Wilder.

Referee—Bohler. Umpire—Buckley.

W. & J., PITT TIE FOR LEAD

Wash-Jeff—10 out of 20.

Individual fouls—Carnegie—Leonard, 4 out of 9; Neiser, 5 out of 8; Schumacher, none out of 2; Fox, 1 out of 3; Webster, none out of 1; Wash-Jeff—Lewis, 4 out of 7; Umberger, 2 out of 4; McNeil, none out of 2; Jay, 1 out of 1; Hamilton, 3 out of 4.

Substitutions—Carnegie—Leonard for Eyth, Schumacher for Rosenzweig, Fox for Webster, Webster for Schumacher, Trax for Leonard, Leonard for Neiser, Schumacher for Trax, Neiser for High, Eyth for Schumacher, Waugh for Eyth. Wash-Jeff—Jay for Umberger, Smith for Jay.

TECH PLEBES COP

Carnegie—38.	W. & J. Frosh—15.
Smith	F	Furjanic
Burns	F	Johnson
Steele	C	Barrett
Fergus	G	Dagney
Siegel	G	Schaffer

JACKETS FACE TITANS

But one game is scheduled to mar an otherwise idle evening for the collegians tonight. The Waynesburg Yellow Jackets square off with Westminster's Conference leading Titans at New Wilmington.

Waynesburg is riding high following its surprise victory Monday over Geneva, but will have to play better ball than it has so far to trip the United Presbyterians tonight.

Davis-Elkins and Salem will let fly at each other for the second time this season at Elkins tonight in a West Virginia Conference tussle. Davis-Elkins turned back the Tigers at Salem earlier in the year.

STATE SHIFTS LINEUP

Dutch Hermann who has had more than his share of tough breaks this season has shifted his Penn State basketball lineup in practice sessions this week and will present a changed front when the Lions meet Pitt here tomorrow night.

Neil Stahley, captain, and Eddie Lee will be at the guards, replacing Saltzman, who has been moved to a forward. Macomb figures to be the latter's running mate, with Freddie Brand at center.

This fellow Brand, you know, is quite a golfer. He won the all-college championship at State last year as a freshman and will be the big shot of the varsity links team this year.

GRIMES HERE FOR CONFAB

Burleigh Grimes, ace of the Pirate mound staff, who is yet unsigned, arrived in Pittsburgh today and this afternoon went into conference with Vice President Sam Dreyfuss, of the Bucos, on the question of his contract.

Grimes' suit for divorce is slated to come up soon. His visit to Pittsburgh also has to do with this court action.

Leechburg High Wins.

LEECHBURG, Pa., Feb. 13.—Fred Ford's Leechburg High School five trounced the Braddock High School quint here yesterday, 37-17. The visiting team never had a chance against the fast passing and accurate shooting of the home club. Ringersmith starred with five field goals. The lineup:

Leechburg—37.	Braddock—17.
Rumah	F	Connelly
Ringersmith	F	Henderson
Ferk	C	Zablocki
Rearick	G	Kriebling
Hill	G	Rudolph

Substitutions—Jones, Hale, Lasnick, Badahl, Isaack. Field goals—Rumah 3, Ringersmith 5, Rearick 5, Badahl, Connelly 2, Henderson, Kriebling 2, Rudolph. Foul goals—Leechburg, 5 out of 13; Braddock, 1 out of 5. Referee—Tyne.

JOINS GIANTS

HUNTER COPS

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Frank T. Hunter won the Heights Casino net tournament by defeating Harry Brunie, 6-3, 11-9, 2-6, 7-5, yesterday.

MASTER PENMAN FORMER MOUND ACE

E. L. BLYSTONE SHOWS HAND

Hailed by Robert L. Ripley, of "Believe It or Not" fame, as the master penman after he had written the cartoonist a 46-word letter on a grain of rice, Blystone, whose home is in Ardara, Pa., gives Rip a bow and then modestly admits he forgot to mention in his letter that he was a baseball star in his younger days. Ripley's pen portrayal of "Bly" is shown above. After having four fingers and the greater part of the palm of one hand severed in a railroad accident, the penman had an artificial hand made for wear on the diamond. Below he is shown demonstrating how he used the hand to knock down liners.

PEN WIZARD FIRST FAMED AS PITCHER

By CARL W. SHATTO

When Robert L. Ripley, cartoonist of "Believe It or Not" fame, recently hailed E. L. Blystone, of Ardara, Pa., as Bly, The Master Penman, he told little more than half the story.

Blystone, better known as Bly, The Penman, recently gave Ripley a thrill by writing him a 46-word letter on a grain of rice, and Rip, in turn, gave the world a thrill by telling it of Bly's feat. While very interesting, the 46-word letter was not in the nature of an autobiography, and Ripley, therefore, was not informed that Blystone at one time was a very worthy mound rival of Mordecai Brown, great pitcher of the old Chicago Cubs.

Brown, who had only three fingers on his pitching hand, was a terror to National League batsmen. Blystone, who lost four fingers and the greater part of the palm of his hand in a railroad accident, was a terror to semi-pro batsmen in the Turtle Creek Valley from 1908 to 1916, inclusive, and among fans in that district it is as a master pitcher, rather than a master penman, that Bly long will be remembered.

STARTED AS CATCHER

From 1904 to 1907, Blystone performed for various Turtle Creek Valley sandlot aggregations as a catcher. While working in the railroad yards at Pitcairn in 1907 he fell under a moving train and suffered five broken bones, in addition to having the greater part of his hand amputated. After spending 44 days in the Allegheny General Hospital, he succeeded in convincing doctors who had despaired of his life that they were wrong in predicting his early demise, and he was told to take up his bed and walk, which he promptly did.

In the spring of 1908 (less than one year later), the Master Penman suffered a bad attack of baseball fever, and, equipped with an artificial hand, set out to win laurels as a pitcher. For several seasons he enjoyed only fair success, but in 1914, while pitching for the Pitcairn Independents, he achieved the ambition of every pitcher and turned in a no-hit, no-run game. The Burell A. C., of Armstrong County, was the victim, and later in the season, against this same team, he allowed only one hit and struck out 23 batsmen.

IN 'IRON MAN' ACT

In 1915 the crippled and courageous diamondman enjoyed another good season, the high spots of which were holding the Whittaker Firemen to one hit in eight innings and pitching and winning both ends of a doubleheader against the Irwin Independents.

Asked whether his artificial hand handicapped him in batting, Bly gave a very complete answer in a few words by saying that in one game he got five singles and a double in six times at bat, and that his swat average always was well over the .300 mark.

IN PRIME

By JULIUS LEVIN.

Showing improved form with each succeeding game, the J. J. Veronas, rejuvenated by the addition of Bill Miller and Johnny Serbin, of Fintex, and Ski Twyman and Artie Hoffman, of Allentown, are setting a torrid pace in the Allegheny County League, having won four straight league games in an impressive manner.

Harry Levine

This club, sponsored by the alderman of the Third Ward, is eager to win the second half championship of the league, thereby earning the right to meet the Duquesne Lafayettes in a post-season series for the championship. The Lafayettes won the first half title, but two defeats suffered in the second half race likely will eliminate them from the running.

PITT GRAD COACH

Much of the credit for fine showing of the Veronas so far is due Harry (Cutsey) Levine, former captain and star forward of the University of Pittsburgh quintet, later a regular with the old Coffey and Amerita clubs.

Artie Hoffman, three years ago voted the most valuable player in the County League as a member of the Goldensons, is showing his old form in this year's race and as a result is being rated one of the best performers in the loop. Artie's work all season has left no room for complaint. Twyman, Miller, Serbin and Demaria, likewise are playing championship basketball. Delvecchio, Clay and Foley complete the Verona roster.

With four victories under their belts the Veronas still face a stiff schedule of games. Following their battle with the Homestead Ackermans next Saturday night in Homestead, the Veronas face another barrier in the Fintex team at Columbus Temple Thursday night. This contest promises to be a battle from start to finish.

Judging from the showing of the clubs so far this season, the team winning the championship will be the team that stops the Veronas.

GOLDENSONS WIN

The Goldensons of the South Side set down the Fintex Club, 29 to 26, in their County League game last night. In a preliminary tilt, the Goldenson Vanities defeated the Latrobe girls, 48 to 9.

The Duquesne Lafayettes defeated the Knights of Columbus, 38 to 28, at New Kensington last night before a capacity crowd, including 300 school children, who were guests of the K. of C. The Lafayettes gave a great exhibition of the floor game, with Jerry Wunderlich, former Pitt star, the center of attraction.

The Nuttalls defeated the Pressed Steel five, 27 to 21, in the C. & I., league game. The lineups:

Goldensons—29.		Fintex—26.
Angelo	F	Lippe
Rubenstein	F	Klatzman

Dribbles

The Goldensons invade Elizabeth tonight to meet the Independents in the only Allegheny County League contest on the program. The South Siders will find the Independents a vastly improved club.

Sharpsburg Y has next Saturday open at home for a first-class amateur team. Call Sterling 2713-J and ask for Clarence Adams.

Community House meets the Y. M. H. A. on the latter's floor tonight in the only West Penn League game carded. In the preliminary the Y. M. H. A. reserve team meets Westinghouse Club in an Industrial League game.

The Manchester Community House entertains the Forresters tonight in a Central Pittsburgh League game.

Sales and Service meets Brinsky Company and Duquesne Light opposes Pittsburgh Railways in the two Philadelphia Company League games at Fifth Avenue High School tonight.

Two high class attractions are in store for the followers of the Commercial Industrial League tonight. Real Estate plays at Carnegie Steel and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie at Potter Title and Trust.

Al Friedman Knocks Out Himself

Al Friedman went down in the record books today as the victim of an unusual ring accident. When he rushed at Jimmy Maloney in the fourth round of their bout here last night, swinging rights and lefts, Friedman crashed on the edge of the ring after Maloney had stepped aside.

The fall knocked out Friedman for a few minutes and he was unable to continue. Maloney was credited with a technical knockout.

DANNY TAYLOR PLEASED

greatest young catchers in baseball and incidentally enhance the pennant chances of the Pittsburgh club to no slight extent, was the optimistic impression that lingered among local fans today following the youthful backstop's visit to this city yesterday.

Hemsley's trip to Pittsburgh from his home in Syracuse, O., had to do only with some personal business matters, as he signed his Pirate contract for 1930 some time ago, but he was fairly oozing baseball for all that. He called at Buccaneer headquarters late in the afternoon, greeted Vice President Sam Dreyfuss and Secretary Sam Watters, made eager inquiries about the training trip and fanned for an hour about diamond matters in general.

The young catcher's assertion that he was feeling fit to jump right into the game was borne out by his appearance. He was carrying every little extra weight and appeared to have profited physically by several hunting trips and other outdoor activities during the off-season.

Hemsley returned to Syracuse last night. He will be on deck here again next Tuesday to leave with the Pirate advance guard for the conditioning camp at Paso Robles. This will be his third season with the Bucs, and he says he is determined to establish himself as the club's first catcher.

TWO WORLD TRACK MARKS FALL IN PHILLY

CHET BOWMAN, STELLA WALSH SET RECORDS

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Two new world records were hung up last night in the annual indoor track and field meet of the Meadowbrook Club at the Arena. Chet Bowman of the Newark A. C. established a new indoor mark of five seconds flat in the 45-yard invitation sprint, and Miss Stella Walsh of Cleveland, lowered the old record in the 220-yard sprint for girls to 26 4-5 seconds.

Jack Elder of Notre Dame forced Bowman to the limit every inch of the distance, and the finish was so close that the judges were unable to decide on the winner for several minutes.

The fleet-footed Cleveland girl ran away from the field to beat the record in the 220-yard sprint. She shot out ahead and sped to an easy victory over Miss Dallas Creamer of Canada, Miss Olive Kruger, Tennessee, and Miss Mary Gilliland, Melrose, who finished second, third and fourth, respectively.

The Canadian team led by Miss Myrtle Cook, of Olympic fame, outsprinted the colleges of the United States to win the 440-yard international relay race for girls.

RAY CONGER VICTOR

Ray Conger, famous miler of the Illinois A. C., raced to victory in the John W. Overton Memorial mile in a great race against Gene Venzke, New York, and Joe Hickey, New York University. Conger's time was 4:20.

The two-mile run was easy for Paul Rekers, Penn State, who lapped the field early in the contest and won as he pleased.

Georgetown University won the two-mile college relay in easy fashion, with Pennsylvania second and New York University third.

POLE, SWISS STARS WIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Stanislaw Petkiewicz, of Poland, and Dr. Paul Martin, of Switzerland, who constitute the chief international threats of the current indoor track season, have taken their first steps toward redeeming last Saturday's defeats at the Millrose games. Each turned in a brilliant performance last night to win his event at the Osceola Club meet.

The Polish courier had hardly more than a romp in winning the mile event, but his flat footed stride carried him across the finish line in four minutes and 28 seconds.

Martin, Swiss representative in three Olympic games who wears the colors of the New York A. C. during his visit to the United States, ran the odd distance of 800 yards. There was only one basis of comparison for his time, the outdoor mark of 1:43 3-5 set by Mel Sheppard 20 years ago. Martin did not threaten that record, but he ran the distance in 1:46 4-5 under much more difficult conditions.

DUNN BEATEN BY MAYBERRY

too tired and disgusted to make any sort of a splash and he thus blew the works to his cagy foe, who, like Ol' Man River, seems destined to go on forever fooling the youngsters.

Mayberry weighed 120½ pounds and Dunn 122½.

DE LUCA, SMACKEY WIN

Cowboy DeLuca, of Lawrenceville, 147¼ pounds, beated Tommy Ward, of the South Side, 145, in the six-round semi-final. Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, 136¼, handed U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, 133, a bad body beating in the six-round second bout, the best battle of the night, and Johnny Brown, of Lawrenceville, 140, knocked out Rapid Waters, of Billings, Mont., in the first round of the opener. Billings was floored for a count of nine midway in the round and struck the back of his head hard in falling. He got up gamely only to be sent down again, this time for the full count.

The crowd, in keeping with the windup, was poor, the change from the usual night, Friday, evidently being felt at the gate. Tommy Malco and Young Joe Walcott were announced as the main-bouters for Friday night of next week.

League. In other words it will be a "feeler" toward discovering if this city is ripe for a professional major league berth.

It was through the efforts of J. J. Freund, Jr., that the game was transferred to the Duke floor. For some time he has been considering the advisability of trying to get an American League franchise for Pittsburgh, and he will be guided in his course by the outcome of the March test.

Ching Johnson

CHING JOHNSON, forced to leave the lineup of the New York Rangers on account of a broken jaw, predicts that the Rangers will win the National League hockey championship even though they have not been able to approach the showing of the sensational Boston Bruins during the regular season in the American group. "They'll do it in the play-offs," Ching dopes it out. "If they don't, I'm picking, not Boston, but the Montreal Maroons. The Maroons are the greatest money players in the game. In the play-offs they'll be as rough as the law permits and the Bruins will be forced to check back viciously. After such a heavy-checking series the winner will be pretty well washed up and will hardly be fit to cope successfully with such a clever and fast-skating team as the Rangers. Of course, the Rangers will have to eliminate the other second and third place teams first, but I have no doubt of their ability to do this."

PENN BOWS

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Columbia broke the tie for first place in the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League last night by swamping Pennsylvania, 32 to 18.

Callery's Tramp's Mug Breaks Track Record

PINEHURST, N. C., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Tramp's Mug, famous pacing gelding owned by J. D. Callery, of Pittsburgh, broke the track record at the Pinehurst races yesterday when he covered the mile in the eighth annual Carolina pace in 2 minutes and 11 seconds. The previous record was held by The Judge a Parks, N. C., horse with 2 minutes 11 seconds. The Hurd Cup, the feature running race, was won by Bobby's Playmate, owned by J. H. Womack, of Lexington, Ky. Time for this seven-furlong event was 1:30.

JONES, DAVIES TOP BATTLES TONIGHT

Two professional boxing shows are on the boards for just outside the Pittsburgh limits tonight, one at McKeesport and the other at Junction Park, New Brighton.

Billy Jones, sensational local Negro light-heavyweight who had to leave town to make his mark in the ring and is considered one of the top ranking men in his division, heads the McKeesport bill against Frank Florian, of Cleveland, a young heavyweight who has met quite a few of the good ones.

JADD VS. PROFFO

Johnny Jadd, of Cleveland, boxes Dominick Proffo, of Cecil, in the semi-final at McKeesport. Jack Benton, of Braddock, returns after a long layoff against Jimmy Thomas, of the Hill, in the second bout, and Andy Stahura, of Braddock, and Al Farotte, of Pittsburgh, are in the opener.

Willie Johnson, giant Negro heavyweight, of Beaver Falls, boxes Jack Townsend, of Cleveland, in the six-round semi-final at Junction Park, while Charley Tarzan, of Rochester, Pa., meets Jimmy Miller, of Akron, and Young Ketchel, of Steubenville, takes on Jackie Ward, of Youngstown, in six-round bouts and Nick Gruber, of Aliquippa, opposes Elmo, the Mighty, of New Castle, in the four-round opener.

Between Rounds

Ahead to query: Carrera and stretching head twice. Pitching with the first bout on a foul and Carrera the second the same way.

Young Goode, of Sharon, is trying to be reinstated after having been suspended for failing to go through with a bout with Indian Tiger Wast at the Motor Temple recently. He claims he was not consulted by his manager before the match was made.

The special train being run from Pittsburgh to Miami for the Sharkey-Scott fight by Tom Rourke and A. L. Bowden leaves this week from tonight. Anyone thinking the trip has the option of returning any time after the fight up to March 12.

A card of seven amateur bouts will be staged under the auspices of the Homewood Progressive Club in the Penn armory next Tuesday evening.

CRAWLEY BEATS GOOD ONE

Tommy Crawley, local lightweight, who now fights under the management of Jimmy Brown in New York and got off to such a fine start by beating Leonard Sansone in Jersey City a few nights ago, writes that Sansone, who recently fought Al Singer before a sell-out crowd in Madison Square Garden, New York, is supposed to be a better fighter than Tony Herrera, who recently topped Crawley in a round at Motor Square Garden. Tommy's ambition is to rebound himself to the point where he will get a third crack at Herrera.

Jimmy Bush, Motor Square Garden match maker, will trade in the Motor Walker-Leo Lomski bout at Detroit tomorrow night and the Tony Herrera-Tommy Grogan bout at Flint, Mich., Monday night. Chuck Taggart, Butler heavyweight, meets J. J. Russo in the semi-final and Allen Beatty, of McKeesport, tangles with Ruby Thomas in one of the preliminaries of the Flint card.

Johnny Haggerty, Lawrenceville bantamweight, wants a return bout with Joey Ratliff, who won a decision over him at Motor Square Garden last Monday night.

The boxing commission has refused to sanction a match at the Motor Temple between Bobby Leary, of Duquesne, and Dutch and Rattling Leary, of Washington, Pa., on the ground that Leary is not a available opponent for Young, who defeated Ray Hargrave, of New Kensington, at Motor Square Garden the night Hargrave subbed for Gizzi, who was ill. Gizzi's next bout will be a return with Midget Mike Ortiwed at Wheeling one week from next Monday. He also will meet Pep Nale, of Philadelphia, at Johnstown, February 27.

SCHWARTZ TO RETURN

Benny Schwartz returned to Baltimore yesterday but will come back here next Sunday to train for a bout with Tommy Paul in Buffalo and also with a view to building himself up for another return bout with Jackie Rodgers.

Frankie Hayes, of Philadelphia, will be the first opponent for Charley White, veteran left hook artist, in the latter's comeback attempt at the Coliseum in Chicago Friday night of next week.

Bouts scheduled around the country tonight include K. O. Christner vs. Joe Sekyra, Akron; Chief Kickaru vs. Ed Norris, Milwaukee; Al Howe vs. Jack Portney, Allentown, Pa.; Steve Smith vs. Lou Massey, New Haven, Conn.; Sammy Weiss vs. Peggy Sullivan, Philadelphia.

Fight Results

At Portland, Ore., Gene Gilardi defeated Rickard, 6 rounds.

COOK, REED ADVANCE

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 13.—The second round of match play in the Ormond Beach golf championship is being contested today. Among those participating are: T. M. Cook and S. C. Reed, both of Pittsburgh. Cook is opposing A. P. McKean, of Troy, N. Y., in the second flight, while Reed is playing J. A. Lane, of Flushing, N. Y., in the fourth class.

Cook yesterday trounced C. A. Dickson, of Montclair, N. J., by 5 and 4, and Reed disposed of C. L. Newton, of West Newton, Mass., by 1 up. W. M. Bakewell, of Pittsburgh, defaulted to T. D. Miller, of South Orange, N. Y., in the second 16.

JOHN GRAHAM LOSES

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 13.—John Graham, of the South Hills Country Club, Pittsburgh, who is president of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association, met defeat in the first round of match play in the annual local invitation tournament here yesterday, bowing to Andrew Doleman, of Providence, 1 up.

LOCALS WIN, LOSE

PINEHURST, N. C., Feb. 13.—The two Greensburg golfers in the first division of the tenth annual seniors championship here fared oppositely yesterday. J. M. Jamison lost a 19-hole battle to G. W. Statzell, of Philadelphia, and C. B. Hollingsworth defeated C. M. Rodel, of Montreal, by 3 and 1.

In the third division, A. P. Dysart, of Pittsburgh, defeated S. Y. Ramage, of Oil City, Pa., by 3 and 1.

Students Make Whoopee, Wreck Subway Train

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Two hundred Harvard students who celebrated a hockey victory on a subway train returning from Boston last night by tearing down signs, breaking windows and light bulbs and pulling down bell cords have had their names taken by police. One student was arrested.

On being warned that the mob-filled train was coming from Boston, a squad of officers refused to allow the students to get off here. They were carried to the subway train yards on the train and in patrol wagons to the police station. Their names and addresses were taken and then they were released.

SHEA BREAKS WORLD RECORD

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The crown in the North American Amateur outdoor speed skating championships is still anybody's after two days of racing. Irving Jaffee, of New York City, was leading today with 50 points, but hard on his heels came Frank Stack, of Chicago, and Alex Hurd, of Toronto, with 40 points apiece. And then there was Jack Shea, of Lake Placid, present champion, who has 30 points and two days on the ice at home in which to gather more.

Shea didn't add a point to his total, though he won a race and set a world record winning it. He set a terrific pace all the way in the sixth of a mile, not counting toward the championships, and won in 24 seconds, breaking the old mark by two-fifths of a second.

SUSPENSION LIFTED

HAVANA, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The suspension of Pinchio Gutierrez, Havana fight promoter and manager of Kid Chocolate by the Cuban National Boxing Commission, was automatically lifted last night and the commission issued Gutierrez a new license as manager and second. Gutierrez was suspended a week ago after a run-in with a member of the commission, whom he accused of arbitrary action and ignorance of prize fighting.

PELL BEATS ABERDARE

TUXEDO PARK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Clarence C. Pell, National racquet titleholder, defeated Lord Aberdare of England in the final round of the Gold Racquet tournament yesterday 15-10, 15-6, 15-12.

A B C Education For Employers, Workers Urged

By B. C. FORBES

MORE cannot be divided than there is to divide. British workers haven't yet learned that simple fact, notwithstanding the many serious strikes there since the war.

One reason for America's industrial leadership is that our more enlightened labor leaders and an increasing number of workmen began to see the light some years ago and have acted accordingly.

The lesson has not been thoroughly learned however, in all industries, with the consequence that we also have had much futile labor trouble.

CONSIDER, for example, the history of our textile industry.

Twenty-five years ago the writer devoted six months to writing about our cotton, woolen, linen and silk industries. They were distinctly more prosperous then than they have been in more recent times.

For this in my humble judgment, the textile manufacturers are themselves largely to blame. Whereas they should have been among the earliest converts to research, our cotton manufacturers kept jogging along in a fixed groove. They exhibited no business statesmanship. They failed to see the need for devoting generous sums to thoroughgoing research, to the problem of expanding their market by seeking new uses for their product. They made no heroic effort to combat the new conditions created by the advent of rayon. They did little but vainly complain when the "silk shirt" era developed during the World War.

They were left hopelessly behind by many other industries in harnessing advertising to their sales efforts. They were steeped in tradition rather than animated by initiative, ambition and foresight.

When other more enterprising industries made inevitable inroads upon their markets, cotton manufacturers, following precedent, sought to preserve themselves and their establishments by the old-time expedient of cutting wages. After enlightened employers in other fields had grasped the worthwhileness of paying good wages and fixing short, rather than long, working hours, many of the textile mill owners remained hidebound to the inadequate theory of the lowest wages they could impose and the longest hours the workers would submit to.

NOT without reason, the textile workers and their leaders objected. But they, too, failed to take a broad-gauge, long-visioned view of the realities of the conditions which had been created. They made demands which the industry, as administered, could not feasibly meet. There simply were not adequate profits to pay the wages insisted upon. Nor could the employers figure out how they could make ends meet by working their looms fewer hours each week, as demanded by the unions.

Thus were precipitated the long series of strikes which has afflicted the New England textile industry during the last decade. Instead of wise councils prevailing, instead of an earnest and harmonious mutual effort to solve the industry's fundamental problem, endless clashes aggravated the industry's plight.

THE more alert of the New England manufacturers turned their eyes to the South, where they did not have to submit to dictation from labor unions and where labor was plentiful at low rates. But with the growth of the South's textile operations, labor questions inevitably arose, and now a determined campaign has been inaugurated by national labor unions to organize the southern workers.

After more or less trouble—perhaps more rather than less—the labor conditions in the South will approach those which developed in New England.

OTHER unprogressive industries have also experienced more labor difficulties than have industries captained by men possessing a larger measure of business statesmanship. Research, generously financed and given ample freedom, has resulted in the cutting of costs, the improvement of quality, the opening up of new outlets, the beautifying of designs, etc., etc. All this has made possible the paying of decent wages and the reasonable curtailment of working hours.

THERE still is need for the spreading of the A. B. C. economic education among workers in certain industries, as well as among not a few employers. It is up to the employer to exercise enough ingenuity and brains to earn profits sufficient to pay satisfactory wages. And it is up to labor leaders to bring home to their followers that the more there is to divide the better off all will be, and that where there is little to divide, it is impossible to divide more.

We have advanced more along this educational highway than other countries. But much progress remains to be achieved.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Few outstanding changes developed in the early trading on the bond market today. Some of the foreign loans were active and here and there a domestic issue moved out of the narrow rut in response to special conditions, but the list in general varied slightly from the Tuesday close. Sales, however, made a sharp increase and this broader activity, coupled with the firmness of the prime rails and utilities, was taken as evidence of substantial underlying support.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, not omitted in sales column. (United States bonds in dollars and thirty seconds of dollars):

MARKET TURNS UNEVEN AFTER BRISK RISE

Sharply Conflicting Prices Reflect Gigantic Struggle For Control in 'Street'

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Sharply conflicting price movements in today's stock market reflected the struggle for control between opposing speculative forces. Prices headed upward at the opening under the leadership of the public utilities and a few high grade industrials such as American Can, American Tobacco B and United States Steel common, which were marked up to new high levels for the year.

The market turned irregular in the early afternoon on a renewal of selling pressure against Simmons Company, Gillette Safety Razor and the mail order issues.

TRADE NEWS MIXED

Business news was mixed in character. Freight loadings in the week ended February 1 were considerably larger than the week before, but fell below the same week last year, and were the lowest of any corresponding week since 1925. Copper stocks showed a further slight increase in January, but shipments were slightly larger than the month before. Underwood-Elliott-Fisher showed earnings of $10.08 a share in 1929, which contrasts with $6.77 on a slightly smaller capitalization the year before.

Call money renewed unchanged at 4 per cent. Lowering of the Boston Federal Reserve rediscount rate to the 4 per cent level, recently established by the New York and Chicago banks, was construed as an indication of a general easing of credit conditions.

POOLS ACTIVE

Pool activities accounted largely for the activity in the public utility group, merger rumors stimulating the advance in that group. Philadelphia Company, General Public Service, Brooklyn Union Gas and American Telephone were marked up 4 to 7 points to new peak prices for the year. American Water Works was marked up 3 and a number of others advanced a point or two, one block of 10,000 shares of Consolidated Gas of New York changing hands at 115.

Professional traders are reported to have sold stocks freely on the theory that the market was entitled to at least a technical reaction, after its recent sharp advance. Other observers took the view, however, that the market had sufficiently consolidated its gains by the sideways movement of the last few days, and one of the large commission houses sent out a message urging its customers to buy high-grade stocks for a trading turn.

1930 LOWS REACHED

Weakness of Simmons, which broke 5 points to a new low for the year at 67½, which contrasts with last year's high of 188, was attributed to disappointing furniture sales of some of its recently acquired concerns.

Gillette Safety Razor broke nearly 7 points to 89¼, also a new 1930 low. Western Union sold 6 points lower, Safeway Stores 5, National Lead 4, Columbian Carbon 3¾ and Stone & Webster 3⅜.

Buying orders were distributed among United States Steel and the investment utilities in the final hour despite the persistent pressure against the merchandise shares. Simmons was quoted around 66 and Gillette Safety Razor around 89. The closing tone was irregular. Sales approximated 3,800,000 shares.

Cottonseed Oil Production Off

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Cottonseed crushed during the six months period, August 1 to January 1, was announced by the Census Bureau today as having been 3,577,262 tons, compared with 3,716,884 in the same period a year ago, and cottonseed on hand at mills January 1 totaled 760,745 tons, compared with 999,198 a year ago.

Cottonseed products manufactured in the six-month period and on hand January 31 were:

Crude oil produced, 1,105,563,561 pounds, compared with 1,157,437,899, and on hand 126,525,469 pounds, compared with 141,243,467.

Cake and meal produced, 1,590,061 tons, compared with 1,666,509, and on hand, 206,062 tons, compared with 238,778.

Tobacco Exports From Cuba Gain

HAVANA, Feb. 13.—Exports of leaf tobacco and its by-products in January amounted to $2,895,431, against $2,413,609 in October, according to National Commission for the Defense of the Tobacco Industry. Of that amount the United States took $1,498,248; Spain, $345,353; Argentine, $290,491, and Holland, $249,461.

Exports in 1929 totaled $37,878,765, compared with $39,413,995 in 1928 and $36,444,723 in 1927.

Liverpool Wheat Market.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 13.—Wheat was dull; unchanged to ½ penny up, opened ¼ off, and at 1:30 p. m. was ¼ off. Close ⅝d to 1d higher.

Seek Solution to Double Taxation Problem

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—In an effort to arrive at a solution of the double taxation problem, officials the Treasury Department will meet here tomorrow at the U. S. Chamber of Commerce with representatives of 50 American coporations engaged in international commerce.

The conference, it is said, will be preliminary to promulgation of legislation which later will be submitted to Congress for its action.

Under proposed arrangement there would be three taxable categories which would be excepted—income from business in United States, income from personal services in the United States, and income from real estate in United States. All other income would be taxed by country of which the taxpayer is a citizen.

CHICKIE :-: By ELENORE MEHERIN

content gone—that high look of sweetness on her face. She moved about the little flat they took near the Blake home like a young, ardent priestess all aglow with joy.

Visions
In Her Thoughts Chickie Puts Self in Mary's Place

Nearly every afternoon Chickie ran in on her way home. Mary was wearing her soft brown hair parted in the middle now and drawn quaintly half over her ears. This gave her dark face a chaste, quiet air that made Chickie think of gentle madonnas. She watched Mary arranging flowers on a snowy table with graceful tenderness—and, remembering this same Mary flouncing down the napkins and the peppers and salts when she used to set the table in the old home, Chickie burst out laughing.

"Mary, you're all prunes and prisms now."

"Oh, Mary! Quoting Edward already. I suppose you'd hang a wart to the top of your nose if sweet Edward liked it."

"I'll laugh at you yet, Chickie."

"Oh, my, yes! When pickles grow on a rose!"

"That is what I used to think. And all the while I was only waiting for Edward to come. That's what you're waiting for, too, Chickie."

"Not if I know it!"

"You do know it. Every time you see a man who strikes you as stunning you begin to wonder, 'Is he the one?'"

Chickie flushed. Walking home slowly, this picture of Mary radiant in the little white kitchen kept flashing like a warm, happy smile. But, instead of Mary setting out the dainty blue dishes in the cozy breakfast nook, it was Chickie. Instead of Edward whistling through the hall, it was some one tall, with black hair straight across his forehead—not Jimmy, of course—but some one full of grins and big like Jimmy was. Dreaming this, her step hurried, grew light. She laughed, glancing about warily lest someone perceive the shy bright exuberance wherein she walked.

In the beginning nothing marred this picture. When the four of them went out together people looked at them, because they laughed with such a careless glee. Old people—people about 30 or so—wondered what these young fools found so delicious and so comical in life.

It didn't last. There came a night when Mary wouldn't go to the show, though Jimmy had the four tickets. This happened twice. Chickie, dropping in one afternoon, urged impatiently: "Oh, why don't you come, Mary—why you just want to stick around here and do nothing?"

Mary had drawn a chair over to the sink and was sitting there heavily, slicing tomatoes for a salad.

"Please come, Mary. If you're going to begin and spoil everything——"

Mary's face turned scarlet. "I would. I'd love to. I just don't feel equal——"

"Not equal to going to a show?" Then Chickie stopped, for Mary's eyes had suddenly filled. Her lips were trembling. Chickie stood there and stared. All at once her heart began to pound, pound madly—sent a queer hotness stifling through her.

She saw Mary's eyes assenting and she whispered, frightened: "Oh, Mary, so soon," and couldn't say another word because her throat got dry and tight.

Mary laughed nervously, took up her knife. "I thought you guessed it long ago. It's not so soon. Why, don't stand there crying about it! I'm glad!"

For a long while Chickie couldn't speak. Then she came over and leaned on the sink-board. "Honestly, are you glad, Mary? Oh, I can't believe that!"

"Well, you don't know, Chickie. But I mean it—it may seem hard and all that—I don't care——"

Chickie could see a strained white line about Mary's lips. Her own heart felt like that. She managed to say, with a little high-pitched laugh, "Oh, well, then it's all right. I suppose." But she found it hard to breathe. She wanted to hurry away—not to look at Mary.

Coming to her own steps she had to blink sharply—make her eyes steady.

So Mary didn't go out with them any more. Chickie found her in the late afternoon sitting in the living room, her feet on a chair, the sun streaming over her shoulders. She read a great deal; books that Edward brought.

"I love to sit here and dream," she said, folding her hands as though she never intended to stir again.

Chickie was weighted down with Mary's impassive quietude. Often when she found Mary moving about with such heavy effort she said, "Oh, sit here, Mary. I'll throw the things on the stove." And she dashed about getting Mary's dinner, feeling a wild free joy in her own swiftness—her quick, lightsome feet.

She went home, winged, exulting in each buoyant, elastic step. Oh, it was good to be dashing along light and slim like this—free as the sweet, breezing air. She no longer dreamed of herself setting blue dishes on a table for two.

Jimmy brought her back with a wrench to deeper thoughts. He came over one night in a high state of suppressed excitement. He blurted out: "What do you think, Chickie—I'm off to Honolulu——"

He was standing, holding her hands, looking into her face.

"No—they're putting up a new cannery—I'm going over to give it the once over. Say, that's a trip, Chickie—a whole month there—say, what about it—well——"

Her lips began to twitch. Jimmy dropped her hands.

"Well——" he said, with his back half turned, "I'll—I'll come in again——" He went hurrying down the hall. She stood motionless. It seemed as though her pulses all were stilled.

Jimmy closed the door softly. She felt that a moment holy and terrible had come to her. It was passed now and might never come like that again.

To "Point-Up" Appetite Just Stimulate Bowels

Whenever the end of the day finds you out-of-sorts, food doesn't tempt you and won't digest; breath is bad; tongue coated, just chew a candy tablet before bedtime. Tomorrow you'll be a new person!

A candy Cascaret clears up a bilious, gassy, headachy condition every time. Puts appetite on edge. Helps digestion. Activates bowels.

Cascarets are made from cascara, with authorities say naturally strengthens bowel muscles. So, take these delightful tablets as often as you please, or give them freely to children. All drug stores sell Cascarets for a dime, and no dollar preparation could do better work.

WIFE SLAYER'S PAROLE O. K.'D

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—John W. Coughenour, of Cumberland, former locomotive engineer, serving a 16-year sentence in the penitentiary for second-degree murder, was one of the 20 persons recommended for parole by Ambrose J. Kennedy, state parole commissioner. A previous application for clemency in his case was filed five years ago.

Coughenour was convicted of killing his wife in her Cumberland apartment in September, 1917. He was arrested a few days later and sentenced December 26, 1918.

In recommending parole for the Cumberland man the commissioner said:

"I recommend this parole because of the extenuating circumstances at the time of the crime; he has now served over 12 years of his sentence, is 57 years old and in ill health. He will go to California to live with a son. He has been an excellent prisoner, and his reputation prior to his conviction was good."

A parole was also recommended by Commissioner Kennedy for Webster Young, Negro, serving 18 years in the penitentiary for second-degree murder.

Besides recommending 20 paroles, the commissioner held 11 for further study and refused 21 others.

BALTIMORE TO INVITE LEGION

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—The committee seeking to attract the 1932 convention of the American Legion to Baltimore will hold a meeting within the next two weeks to outline plans for pressing the city's bid for the national convention, Harlan Johnson, state commander of the Legion, said.

O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander of the Legion, speaker at the annual banquet of the state organization last night, said the claims of Baltimore for the meeting would have to be pressed at the convention in Boston this year. He left today for Fort Wayne, Ind. Mrs. Donald MacRae, national president of the Legion auxiliary, also a speaker last night, left today for Wilmington, Del.

Gov. Ritchie and several other prominent men urged Baltimore for the convention at last night's meeting.

BUILDERS NAME READING MAN

Other officers elected were: First vice president, William A. Sharp, Reading, Pa.; second vice president, C. C. Chopin, Youngstown, O.; third vice president, J. P. Haile, Jr., San Antonio; fourth vice president, John A. Dahlman, Milwaukee, Wis.; treasurer, Max Baumann, New York City.

A Doctor Knows what is best for any Stomach

Well-known authorities, famous in the medical world, have learned the certain relief for gas, "sour stomach" and similar troubles. They say:

"Calcium Carbonate, 2½ times as effective as soda, properly compounded, is the ideal anti-acid. It has no disturbing effect on the system, and is utterly safe in the hands of the patient. It is best used in the form of tablets."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—just the right compound of Calcium Carbonate and other soothing substances, provide swift and certain relief from sour stomach and attendant ills. Nothing equals them, and they are safe and harmless to use.

Outdoors a Pippin ...indoors a Pest

For every woman there is a sermon in the case of this lovely Philadelphia girl (name withheld). Outdoors others found her so charming, so gay. But in the drawing room they politely avoided her. She couldn't understand it. The truth is that her trouble, which went unnoticed in the open air, became instantly apparent—and offensive—indoors.

Don't fool yourself

It's folly to assume that you never have halitosis, the unforgivable social fault. One out of every three is either an occasional or constant offender, surveys show.

Kills germs—Destroys odors

Since you, yourself, cannot tell when you have halitosis, the wise precaution is to gargle with full strength Listerine. Every morning. Every night. And between times before meeting others.

Undiluted Listerine strikes at the cause of odors because it's an active—though safe—germicide. Even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) germ is killed by it in 15 seconds.

Furthermore, being a powerful deodorant it immediately destroys all odors arising in the mouth. Leaves your breath sweet and normal.

Be at your best

Keep Listerine handy in home and office and use it often. By the way, our free Book of Etiquette may interest you. Address Dept. H 8, Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Business Men Hold Conference in Rome

ROME, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Business men from all over Italy converged on Rome to take part in the deliberations of the third "National Council of Commerce" organized by the Fascist party.

The deliberations were to open today and will continue through Saturday. The participants in the council include the president of the 92 provincial federations of Fascist commercial men, and their deliberations will cover all phases of the nation's economic situation. The presiding officer will be Deputy Ferruccio Lantini, of Genoa.

RUN ON TEXAS BANK FAILS

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 13.—(AP.)—Declared to be sound by Lynn P. Talley, governor of the eleventh district, Federal Reserve Bank, and James Shaw, state banking commissioner, the City-Central Bank and Trust Company which experienced withdrawals by a number of depositors was given assurance of support by virtually every financial institution in San Antonio.

The financial flurry brought about by the withdrawals was apparently dissipated following a meeting of federal, state and local banking heads.

The bank was assured by scores of depositors that their money would be left in the institution.

W. R. King, president of the bank, stated ample funds would be on hand when the bank opens at the regular hour Thursday to meet all demands on it.

CANARIES FREE OF PSITTACOSIS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Canary birds will escape quarantine in the war against "parrot fever," it has been indicated officially.

While cases of psittacosis apparently have been traced to canaries, there is no evidence that the mysterious malady originates in these birds, it was stated. If canaries are infected, it is probably through contact with infected parrots, public health service officials said.

Meanwhile the condition of Dr. Charles Armstrong, public health service bacteriologist, who was stricken while attempting to isolate the psittacosis organism, remained hopeful.

He is responding to injections of "convalescent serum" made from the blood of psittacosis victims who are recovering in Baltimore.

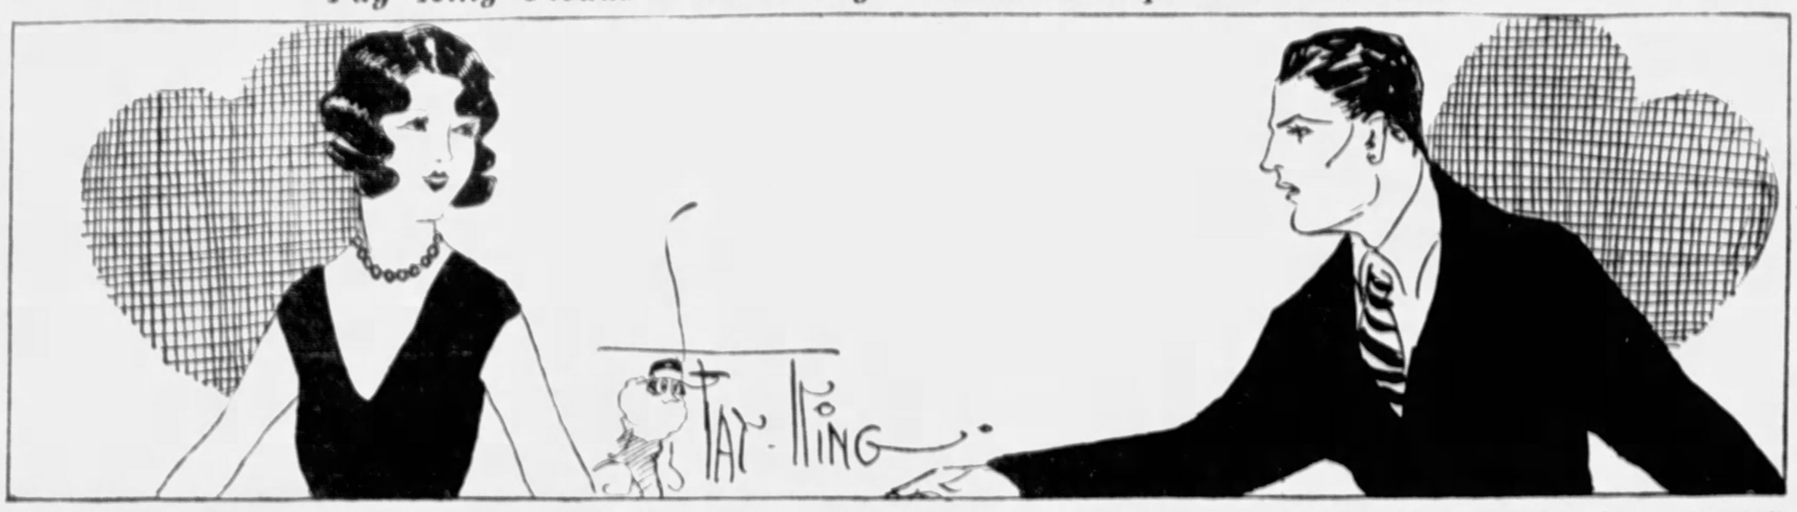
Fay King Pleads With Young Folks to Accept Love's Shackles



By FAY KING

YOUNG folks fall in love. Nothing and no one matters to them except with whom they are in love.

They marry, and in a few years they begin to think they have made a great mistake. That they are unsuited to one another, were never really in love and all that sort of thing.

They think of nothing now but divorce. All they want is freedom. Each blames the other.

They marry again, but find that new loves can have faults and failings as well as first loves.

When one considers the millions of people in the world, and that fate brings two together, it seems that each would do all that is possible to make that marriage a happy and lasting one!

LOVEJOY

By BEATRICE BURTON

Hilda Angry When Lovejoy Refuses to Hire Her

CHAPTER XXXII.

LOVEJOY spent the next day shopping for a pair of lamps with Aline. She found a pair of blue crackle ones and bought them.

"I suppose I shouldn't have done it," she said to Aline on the way home, "Tom says he is going to be jailed for his debts if I don't stop buying things. . . . But he just bought a case of liquor and some new golf sticks, himself."

"Of course," cried Aline turning her car into Tudor Road. "Al's always telling me that I can't have this and that I can't have that. But I go right on spending money and I notice he always has plenty of it. . . . All husbands are liars, Lovejoy."

She stopped her car in front of the house to let Lovejoy out.

"Run and see if there's any mail in your letter-box for me, darling," she said. She was still getting the South Port letters and the ones from Sam Oliver.

There was one of the South Port letters in the box now and Lovejoy carried it back to the car.

"My daily fear is that Tom will get hold of one of those things," she said handing the big square envelope to Aline.

Aline shrugged her shoulder under their covering of white silk. An amused look had come into her shallow hazel eyes with their blackened lashes.

"You should worry about Tom!" she said with a giggle. "He's getting away with murder himself—the way he carries on with this Norrie person! Look at him this minute."

Lovejoy turned her head and saw Tom's old automobile coming slowly up the street. Tom was driving it, and beside him sat Norrie with the baby in her lap.

"If I had a young and handsome husband like Tom," said Aline, "I certainly wouldn't let him go out riding with Norrie all the time. Not that Norrie's good-looking because she isn't—but almost any man falls for any new face after he's been married for a while."

It struck Lovejoy that she was pitying her. And she did not want to be pitied.

No Dinner Made

"Listen here, Aline, don't feel sorry for me on account of Norrie Shane!" she cried. "I don't care what Tom Nicholson does!—I've been seeing a lot of Steve Oglebay lately, myself. I'm going my way—and Tom can go his! If I left him, Steve would take me in a minute!"

She could have bitten off her tongue for saying that to Aline, almost as soon as the words were out of her mouth. She hadn't meant to tell anyone about herself and Steve Oglebay—ever!

It was six o'clock when she followed Norrie and Tom into the house.

But the table was not set and the kitchen stove was stone-cold. The carrots were still in their paper sack, just as they had come from the grocery store. The veal cutlets were wrapped in a piece of waxed paper in the icebox.

"I don't know what time we'll have dinner tonight—and I don't care!" Lovejoy said snappishly to Tom when he came walking into the kitchen for a bottle of gingerale. He had formed Al Alderson's habit of drinking a high-ball before dinner every night.

"I don't care, either," he answered smoothly. "I had a late lunch—but I do think you should have stayed at home in case any maids came to answer your advertisement. It's just wasting money putting an ad in the paper and then leaving the house—"

"Oh, keep still!" Lovejoy turned on him in fury. "I'm sick and tired of the sound of your voice!—And if you want any food tonight you can get it, yourself! And the same thing goes for Norrie!"

Norrie With Baby

She threw her peeling knife down upon the sink, snatched off her apron and marched out of the kitchen.

Upstairs, Norrie was giving the baby his bath.

The bathroom door was open, and Lovejoy could hear her singing to young Tom as she worked.

"There was an old woman
"And she had a little pig.
"It didn't cost much
"For it wasn't very big."

If it wasn't for the baby, thought Lovejoy, I'd walk out of the house this very minute!

She shut herself into her big, well-aired bedroom and lay down on the cushioned window-seat with a new magazine and a box of maple-nut fudge that she had bought downtown that afternoon.

"Let them get their own dinner!" she said aloud to the gray and orchid walls. "I should worry about them and get crow's feet!"

She was still lying there an hour and a half later when Aline and Al Alderson came driving up to the house in their new yellow roadster.

Their white clothes gleamed like silver in the summer twilight as they got out of the car and came up the walk.

"We came over to beat you and Lovejoy at contract," Lovejoy heard Aline say to Tom.

She was dusting powder on her nose and fluffing up her hair a moment later when someone knocked upon the door.

"Come in, Aline. I was just coming downstairs!" she called over her shoulder.

But it was Norrie who stood in the doorway.

"There's a woman downstairs to see you. She's in the kitchen," Norrie said quietly. She had an apron tied over her snowy uniform, and evidently had been washing the dinner dishes.

Lovejoy went hurrying down the back stairs to the kitchen.

Hilda Applies

"I surprise Missis," she said in her smooth way as soon as Lovejoy crossed the threshold of the neat, shining room.

She smiled in her slow, sly way.

"I see Missis ad in the paper," she explained, "and I no like the place where I'm working. So I think sure Missis is going to take me back."

Lovejoy, too astonished to say a word, could only shake her head.

"I told you I was going back to the Old Country, Missis," the girl went on, shifting her weight from one flat foot to the other. "But I told you something that was a lie. I went to a new job, but now I like to come back here."

Lovejoy suddenly found her tongue.

"Why, you must be crazy, you dreadful creature!" she blazed out at Hilda. "To dare to think that I'd take you back to work for me!—I'd rather have a rattlesnake in the house than you—You pick up that bag and get out of this kitchen before I put you out!"

But Hilda stood her ground. She blinked her light blue eyes for a moment. Then she spoke again.

"Please, Missis, write me a letter then," she said. "If you won't give me a job you sure will write me a letter to say I was a good worker for you. I can get a job so much more easy if I got a nice letter from Missis to show to people."

Once more Lovejoy shook her head with great firmness.

"I certainly am not going to write any letter of recommendation for you, Hilda," she replied. "I'm not going to help you get a job where you can blackmail some other woman the way you tried to blackmail me!—Now I want you to go."

Hilda saw that she meant business. She stared at her a second longer. Then she picked up her suitcase.

Returns to See Tom

At the back door she turned.

"Watch if I don't get even with you!" she said threateningly. "Watch if I don't!"

She vanished into the darkness of the back yard.

An hour later Lovejoy sat playing cards with Tom and the two Aldersons.

The living room was filled with a breeze that came in through the wide-open windows, and there was a big crystal pitcher of punch on a table drawn up beside Tom's chair.

Tom was playing a good game that night, and there wasn't a shadow on his face. He looked like his old care-free self.

"We sure are going to win the Aldersons' money tonight, Lovey, and I don't mean perhaps!" he said to Lovejoy as he gathered up his tricks.

Lovey . . . He had not used the silly, affectionate little nickname in months, and Lovejoy thrilled to the sound of it on his lips. There was nobody like Tom anywhere—when he was in one of his nice moods.

A few minutes later, when Lovejoy was playing and he was dummy, the door bell rang.

"I'll see who it is!" Norrie called from the breakfast room, where she sat reading.

Lovejoy heard her light, quick steps as she crossed the hall. She heard her come back along the hall, bringing another person with her.

"It's this girl to see you, Tom," she said, and Lovejoy turned her head to see who was standing in the doorway.

"Hilda!" she said in a tone that was half a groan and half a sigh of despair.

"Ya-as, it's me," said Hilda. Her pale eyes were fixed on Tom as he got up from his chair. "I came to see Mister!—I want to speak to Mister, alone."

Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Harry Wonders About Strange Telephone Call

MARY had thrown her hat and coat on the radiator when she came in, and at Dicky's request she retrieved them quickly and put them on.

"Aren't they damp, dear?" I protested, remembering the snow outside.

"Not next to me," she retorted, laughing. "And I shall move so fast the snow won't have a chance to fall on me any more. I dawdled from the subway or I wouldn't have had a flake on me. By the way, Uncle Dicky, what'll I get those collars and handkerchiefs with, my imagination? I haven't any credit at that haberdashery. Didn't I twist my tongue around that nicely, Auntie Madge?"

That she welcomed Dicky's interruption to my interrogation of her was patent to me. That Dicky was equally anxious to get her out of the way was also plain, but when he had given her some bills and a list of the things he wished her to buy and she had gone out of the door he came over to me swiftly and, taking my hands, drew me up against him in a warm embrace.

"It seems as if I never find you alone," he said, and in his voice was the boyish irritation I used to hear in the first days of our marriage, when he resented having anyone witness my welcome of him when he came home for the day. And in my turn I thrilled to his resentment as I had done in those blissfully tempestuous days.

"There's nobody here now," I told him.

"Then welcome me properly," he commanded. "Your arms around my neck—there—and a real kiss."

We trod the stars for a brief second, then sprang apart guiltily as Harry Underwood's double knock fell upon the door.

"Hasn't that fellow any home of his own?" Dicky growled, but he went swiftly to the door, nevertheless, and something elusive in his manner made me certain that though he would have preferred his friend to wait a little, yet Mr. Underwood's arrival was not unexpected. My curiosity raised its head again. I had thought it queer that Dicky would send Mary out into the storm simply to be able to greet me without an onlooker. Harry's arrival with Dicky's camouflage brought back my first conjecture—that Dicky wished to tell me something important which he did not wish Mary to hear.

"Hello, there, Lady Fair!" Mr. Underwood's deep voice boomed as he came into the room. "Will you give me a haven for a few minutes? Lil's sound asleep, and the bull in the china shop is Mary's little baa-baa compared to me when I'm trying to keep quiet. If I stay in there I'll let something fall and she'll wake up. The only thing I could do would be to sit perfectly still with my hands folded in my lap. But it's a cinch that I'd go to sleep and snore loud enough to waken her if I tried that."

"You shall smash my very best vase if you wish," I told him, laughing. "But I am sure you will be perfectly safe in this chair." I drew one forward opposite Dickey. "I'll remove all the breakables, the way I do when children come to call."

"Always the first aid," he gibed. "But get seated, gal, get seated. The Dickey-bird and I crave chairs, too."

I sat down quickly and the two men who had been courteously waiting for me, also seated themselves.

"May we smoke?" Dicky asked, and I felt a little glow of pride that in the rush of modern manners, or lack of them, he never failed to pay me the little tribute, archaic though it might seem to the latest generation.

"Of course," I nodded, and it was two or three minutes before either of them paid any attention to anything but their cigars, and the wood fire which Purnell had built for me an hour before. But at last Mr. Underwood took his cigar from his mouth and looked over at me.

"The hotel manager gave me a song and dance about trying to trace some message for you," he said. "My name was mentioned in it, I believe. D'ye you mind telling me about it?"

"Do I mind?" I retorted. "I've been waiting for you to come home so that I might ask you about it. I would have appealed to Lillian only I know how much she has worried——" I stopped, confused.

"About that most worthless hulk known as Harry Underwood," he said with a grin. Then added soberly: "You did just right, my dear. I don't want Lil bothered with anything I can take from her. She's had a most trying year, and she's just beginning to feel herself again. So tell me about it."

I related every detail of the mysterious long-distance call I had received. Both Harry and my husband listened gravely and when I had finished Dicky looked intently at his friend.

"I saw Jack Leslie on the street today," he said abruptly.

"I wonder," he said. Then he turned to me.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Bride's Monogram

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN

Although I am not married yet, I have purchased my silver and intend to have it initialed. Is it correct to have the initial of my first name, last name or the initial of the last name of my husband-to-be?

H. W.

THE best form, according to my taste, is for the bride-to-be to use, in monogramming her silver or linen, the initials of her maiden name. This has been the custom and the convention always, since little girls were taught delicately and artistically to embroider the linens for their hope chests with their own initials, since, naturally, they did not then know what the initials of the Prince Charming were to be.

I must register here, however, that of late there has grown up an attitude on the part of some radical-minded young ladies that they wish to use the initials of the married name. That is, if Mary Smith is to marry John Jones, she insists on using the initials that she will use when she is married, M. S. J. I am not in sympathy with this attitude, for I think that it destroys a fine old custom that the girl should respect. To the new home the girl brings the silver and the linen, her trousseau, and it is, I think, consistent that they be marked with the initials that were hers when they are marked. It doesn't seem good form or good taste for her to use the initial of the name that is not yet hers. Brides-to-be who are sensitive minded to this sort of thing use the initials of their maiden names.

Addressing a Doctor

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN

1. What is the correct way to address a doctor when writing to him? Should I address him as Dear Mr. So and So, or Dear Sir?

2. Will you please tell me how to improve my writing?

MARY T.

ADDRESS a doctor as My Dear Doctor Bailey.

2. Don't try to change it. Your handwriting is full of character and interest and has a charming continental flavor that you must not lose from it.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, February 14

CONFLICTING prognostications must be made from the predominant sway of contradictory aspects of the planets. Conspicuously of benefit will be the breaking up of long-congested conditions and the removal of old obstacles, but also there is an element of peril in the use of funds and through faulty contracts.

Those whose birthday it is may welcome a year in which crystallized conditions may be broken to make way for fresh progress, but be prudent with all moneys and be careful with writing and contracts.

A child born on this day may be diligent, practical and hard-working, but may also be disposed to unwise use of its funds, unless well schooled.

Why Psychoanalysts Keep Motor Cars

THE success of a psychoanalyst as of an M. D., depends largely on his ability to start a woman talking about herself, and then to sit and listen until she gets the last complex or complaint out of her system.

Lots of good physicians and psychiatrists have bought imported cars and duplex apartments on the strength of this bit of knowledge of feminine psychology. And, heaven knows, they have EARNED them!

A woman simply MUST have somebody to whom she can talk about herself! There is no mental medicine like telling somebody how you suffer! It is far more soothing than a nerve tonic, and far more stimulating than radium, gland pills or blood transfusion!

Any woman who can afford both a doctor and a psychoanalyst should not have to worry about her blood pressure or her hemoglobins. She should be perfectly happy, free from inhibitions and filled with sweetness and light.

Any husband who can afford to pay these specialists to listen to his wife's symptoms and soul problems by the hour, should have a peaceful homelife, a good golf stroke and a free mind for his business.

Many a long-suffering man's health and nerves have been restored simply by sending his wife to a psychoanalyst for treatment. A good psychoanalyst is pretty expensive; but it's WORTH fifteen or twenty or fifty dollars an hour to a married woman, to have somebody LISTEN to her, and actually urge her to "tell him more!"

That is probably why there always comes a stage in the treatment when a young psychoanalyst has to warn his feminine patient not to fall in love with him. Pity is akin to love, and self-pity is love's first cousin!

As a repository for a woman's symptoms and sufferings, the average husband is less than nothing. He is a wet blanket. He has no SOUL! From the day he marries, a man's spiritual nature begins to bury itself under his business worries, his digestion, his neuritis or his golf complex.

The minute you begin telling him how your head or your heart or your conscience is hurting you, he runs for the aspirin or the smelling salts. Or else he suddenly recollects a business appointment and dashes out to the club. Or calls up the doctor! The sly dog!

A man simply cannot bear seeing his wife "suffer" all over the living-room furniture, when he wants to read his newspaper or figure up his accounts or get something on the radio.

But a woman always has SOMETHING the matter with her—either germs or nerves, or too much weight, or a soul problem. She is always suffering from "Symptomania."

A man can endure a lot of mental suffering in silence, but a woman must suffer out LOUD! And the better-looking and more sympathetic the specialist to whom she suffers out loud, the greater relief it gives her.

* * *

After all, whatever a psychoanalyst or a nerve specialist may charge, it's a lot cheaper than paying alimony! And, he earns it!

Household Hints

To prevent fried eggs from sticking or breaking, add a teaspoonful of flour to the frying fat.

A little white of egg spread promptly over a burn eases the pain and prevents the formation of blisters.

NOT SO DUMB

By HELEN KLUMPH

From Marion Davies' forthcoming All-Talking Picture by Wanda Tuchok and Edwin Justus Mayer, based on the play, "Dulcy," by Marc Connelly and George Kaufman.

CHAPTER X.

DULCY knew that Angela and Vincent were perfectly happy in the moonlit solitude of the terrace, and that Mrs. Forbes was having the time of her life talking to Van Dyke. But Gordon wore a frankly-worried air and Mr. Forbes seemed displeased about something, so she knew the moment had come for the hostess to show her ingenuity in bringing everybody together for a good time.

She had heard of house parties going stale in the lull after dinner, but she would never let it happen in her house!

She gloated as she thought that Gordon probably didn't realize how discerning she was. She had detected that Mr. Forbes was too dignified to like games. And she had an idea for entertaining him that was nothing short of inspiration!

Hurrying over to the piano where Bill was cutting the air with a staccato rendition of "Chop Sticks," she ordered him to stop at once.

"Mr. Van Dyke plays beautifully," she told him.

His sarcasm was lost on Dulcy who was already half way out to the terrace.

Forbes seemed to brighten noticeably as soon as she left the room. He turned toward Gordon with a friendly air and apologized for having spoken hastily that afternoon, said that he would like a moment to talk business with him.

Seizes Chance

Gordon seized at this moment as an aviator clutches the string on his parachue that stills the onrushing air and takes him to a safe landing. He listened intently while Forbes went into the history, lustre and profits of artificial pearls. He sat spell-bound as Forbes enlarged on the possibility of introducing monogrammed shirt studs to the trade. Success was in his grasp, after all, if only nothing interrupted them. He would try to complete the deal now while Forbes was in good humor. When Dulcy came back anything might happen, and probably would.

"Mr. Van Dyke's going to play for us."

Leach and Angela were on either side of her, beaming with rapture. Love made them oblivious to the horrors Dulcy had planned for their entertainment.

"Come, Mr. Van Dyke," Dulcy urged him, ignoring Gordon's frantic signals for her to stop. "You're going to play for us, aren't you? What was that piece you played at Mrs. Kennedy's the other day—the nice long one?"

Van Dyke Protests

"Really," he protested vigorously, "I don't think I should play. Mr. Forbes and Mr. Smith would much prefer to discuss jewelry, I am sure."

With a distracted air, Gordon took some sample pearls from his pocket and handed them to Mr. Forbes, hoping against hope that Dulcy would see, and understand that this was no time to interrupt.

"You'd like to hear Mr. Van Dyke play, wouldn't you?"

He grunted assent, hardly knowing what he was in for. Merely drawing his chair closer to Gordon's as he went on discussing pearls as the first crashing chords filled the room and Dulcy commanded:

"Hush."

Forbes was so absorbed in studying the samples in his hand that he did not even notice that his wife had sped across the room to sit on the piano bench with Van Dyke.

There may, at some time in the history of the world, have been a longer composition written for the piano, but it is certain that it was never performed before so restive an audience. Forbes and Gordon continued to confer in whispers; Bill made the delightful discovery that he could make his chair squeak on two different notes.

Something seemed to be lacking, and Dulcy tried nobly to fill the gap.

"That isn't the one I meant. It's lovely, though. It simply carries me away."

Since the hostess was speaking, it was evidently quite all right, so Forbes and Gordon no longer muffled their whispers.

Discovers Candy

A moment later her roving eye spied a box of candy on the table beside her. It was still in its wrappings. She wondered how it got there, and decided that one of the guests must have brought it. In that case, they must have thought her most unappreciative not to have opened it. She was filled with misgivings that she might have offended them. Besides, she loved candy.

The chords were loud, but not loud enough to drown out the sound of crackling paper as Dulcy unwrapped the box. The more slowly she undid it, the more noise it made. Her eyes widened in astonishment, and an "Oh" of delight escaped her lips as she saw that it was her favorite kind. Forgetting the music completely, she held it up, saying, "Look," then subsided abashed.

She couldn't be so rude as to just sit there and hold it without offering it to anybody. She held it out to Angela, who was too absorbed in gazing at Vincent to notice. Vincent looked as if he would appear deeply stirred by the music, or die trying.

"Candy," she told him in an awed whisper that was not meant to resound through the room. "Delicious. Molasses."

As she said it, it sounded almost as though someone were hissing the piano player. Van Dyke turned slightly, and Dulcy realized that she must keep everyone more quiet.

She hushed Gordon when he coughed. She hushed Bill when he shuffled his feet. She wouldn't have it said that an artist didn't get everyone's attention at her house!

Duley's Error

"Bravo," she called, as she applauded, but to her great embarrassment the piece was not at an end.

"I thought he had finished," she observed audibly to Mrs. Forbes, who giggled nervously.

It was lovely music, she thought, leaning back and half closing her eyes. To her horror, her chair scraped and she had to mention that she was sorry. Bill seemed to think it was funny to say "Hush" loudly in imitation of her former efforts, and he did get a responsive chuckle from Gordon.

Dulcy was forced to admit that perhaps this piece was a little long. For his next number she would suggest something shorter. She wanted everyone to have a good time.

Eventually, the piece came to an end with a flourish. Dulcy waited for a full moment of silence to make sure that she wasn't mistaken this time. Then she rushed forward to thank him, but Vincent had taken the center of the stage.

Brushing his hair back with a languid gesture, he seemed to be bursting into song as he spoke.

"It was beautiful!" he proclaimed in a voice choked with emotion. "It made me think of Araby and the moon-soaked desert. I wish—" he added in a fervent tone, "that I might do something as inspiring for you."

"Oh, but you can," Dulcy exclaimed in sudden inspiration.

Gordon had led Mr. Forbes half way out of the room in search of a quiet place in which to continue their business discussion when Dulcy called him.

"You must come back—"

"You've no idea what's going to happen."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Banish the Harmful Habits

WHAT habits have you that may cause ill health?

Is there some pet food that always makes you sick and yet which you can not resist? Eating habits are among our worst practices.

DR. COPELAND

Do you rush into the open air, hot and perspiring perhaps, but reckless of what sudden exposure may do to your health? Lots of good women do that, and too many men.

Are you just as careful as you should be about cleanliness of the skin, particularly of every part of the body where two skin surfaces come together? If not, the itching, burning and discomfort in these regions are accounted for easily.

What care do you give the nose? The use of soiled handkerchiefs and failure to practice cleanliness of nostrils may account for frequent colds.

What about the eyes? Does it hurt to read or sew? Do you have eyeaches and headaches and other pains that might be traced to eyestrain? If your glasses have not been changed for a long time, or if you never had your eyes examined, it is time to see about them.

Do you hear as well as you did? If not, why not? Perhaps there is too much wax in the canal, or that some other ear trouble needs attention.

What about the intestinal tract? Do you have regular bowel action? If there is constipation, or if the movements are too free, something is wrong with the eating, or other personal habits.

There are a few of the many symptoms and a hint as to several organs that may be troubling you. After you have considered these, give a little study to your own physique. If you are not feeling exactly fit. Serious thought will lead you to some conclusions which will help your doctor a lot.

Now, as I've reached the point: Don't wait till you are really sick before seeing the doctor. The greatest pleasure the doctor has, is not to struggle with desperate disease. Rather it is to prevent sickness.

The doctor can't be very proud when he is reminded of a sick, debilitated, broken-down patient. When he smiles it is when you remind the doctor of some red-cheeked, cherry-lipped, robust individual and ask him how he ever did it.

I beg of you to be healthy by keeping well, not by getting well. Take care of your ailments just as soon as they arrive. Form such habits of living that you won't have ailments.

That's that!

DAILY TRUE STORY

'I Have a Theory'

"I HAVE a theory."

"Eh—I beg your pardon?"

The young man on the park bench looked up from his book and glanced at the girl who had spoken to him.

The girl was pretty. He hadn't noticed this before, although he remembered having seen her in the park a number of times.

The girl smiled.

"I have a theory," she said, hesitating, and her cheeks turning slightly pink, "that I would like to discuss with you."

The young man seemed slightly annoyed.

"I do not think—" he studied her. "My error, Miss. I shall be glad to hear your theory if you want to tell me."

This time the girl laughed.

"You thought I was a gold digger?"

"At first, something like that. Can I help you?

"Who knows?"

"It seems to me that you ought to know." He produced a card case and was taking out a card to hand her when she stopped him.

"That's just what I don't want—to know who you are. It is part of my theory."

He put back the card case and turned to her.

"If you are doing this to interest me, you have surely succeeded," he assured her.

She nodded, as if thinking.

"Yet, if I knew you—"

"Alas, I am not perfect!"

"Good. You are truthful. Listen, please: suppose, for the sake of making it easier, that we adopt names for each other—not our own names. I shall call myself Nina. Nina Nixon."

For the first time the young man laughed.

"Very good, Nina, and to be equally euphonious I shall call myself Dana Darnton."

Interest Flags

"You are interesting, Dana. It is going to be easy to explain my theory. You see two people become acquainted. They talk about themselves. Each knows the other's age, where born, what sort of parents and environment the other had—even their tastes, likes and dislikes—how much money they have—what their ambitions are—do you follow me, Dana?"

"I'm lagging a little behind, but it strikes me that what you are getting at is that when two people know about all there is to know of each other, interest flags!"

"Dana! You amazing young man! You weren't lagging at all! You were almost ahead of me."

"How did you select me, Nina? Did you tell yourself that you would approach the seventh young man you met today—or something like that?"

"I've seen you here seven times in the past month. Four times I have sat on the same bench with you. You always gave me a quick glance and then read or stared about—you didn't try to get acquainted with me. That gave me courage. You see I wanted to meet a young man who would be honestly interested in my theory and not think I was just a flirt and that he had to meet me half way or—or worse, in a flirtation."

"But Nina, I like—"

"Dana! Don't tell me what you like. Let me find out."

"Very well, what comes next?"

"Suppose we agree that we become friendly for a while, meet each other, go about together. Not knowing anything about each other we are sure to be curious, to always be interested in each other."

Dana extended his hand and they shook on it, quite seriously.

"How about luncheon right now?" he asked.

"Splendid. I am permitted to tell about myself to the extent that I am hungry."

They walked out of the park. Nina didn't ask where he was taking her. She got a kick out of wondering where it would be. Dana offered no information. He was pleasantly curious as to whether she would approve.

Wore No Ring

He took her down three steps into an old brownstone house where there was no sign to indicate the nature of the place. Inside it was cheerful and cozy. Twenty or more people were at tables. The people seemed prosperous and cheerful. The luncheon was excellent. The bill, Nina noticed, was fairly reasonable. She also noted that Dana paid from a seemingly well filled bill fold and that the little waitress had greeted him with a smile. Evidently he was known there.

"Now," he said, when they had finished and were out on the sidewalk, "I suppose you suggest—"

Nina looked at her wrist watch. Dana had noted that she wore no engagement or wedding ring and that her watch was neither cheap nor extremely costly.

"If you can spare the time until 5, suppose we go back to the park and talk," Nina suggested.

They did. They talked about pictures and plays, about the current news and sports, about celebrities and travel.

They were surprised when 5 o'clock came. The time seemed so short.

"Tonight," said Dana, plainly regretful, "I have to go—well, I have an engagement, but tomorrow evening?"

"I have a dinner engagement at—well, a dinner engagement," Nina explained, adding, "I'm finding this great fun but it is difficult to carry out this theory, isn't it?"

"Tomorrow evening then, Nina. Now I will take you home."

"Oh, no you won't—that's letting you know too much about me."

"But I have to call for you tomorrow evening."

"Meet me at the Arcade, Dana."

"All right, Nina—and evening clothes, if you don't mind."

She hailed a taxi, entered and waved at him. He lifted his hat and wished he knew more about her.

The next evening he met her at the Arcade and helped her into a little sport car. Nina wondered if it was his car. It was great fun wondering about such things.

Going Places

They went out in the country to a place called "The Elms."

Nina had been there once but didn't tell him. She knew that while most anyone might be served at the downstairs dining-room and dance floor, one had to have a special recognition to go up to the exclusive place on the second floor. Dana was greeted almost effusively up stairs.

They had a happy evening.

All through the fall and early winter Dana and Nina went here and there together. Nina noticed that many orchestra leaders seemed to know Dana. On the other hand, he noticed that four different theatrical producers lifted their hats to her.

Each had a dozen questions to ask, but were too game to spoil Nina's "theory."

One night at Ernie's, down in the village, Nina said somewhat ruefully, "I've got to go away for a while."

"Couldn't you leave a time-table as a clue?"

She shook her head. "You'd find out so much about me. I'm going where it is warmer—that's all I'll say."

"Not to the coast?"

"Oh, no."

Dana sighed. "Then we won't meet—" he hesitated. He had told, or at least implied, that he was going to the coast himself.

"I'm going to ask you a question—it's important," he said, "are you married?"

Nina flushed.

"Do you think I would——"

"My dear," it was the first time he had called her "dear," "you might be divorced or a widow or estranged from a husband."

"I've never had any more of a husband than you have had a wife."

"I've never had a wife."

In his car he asked, "When shall I see you? How can I write to you?"

Couple Married

"I'll meet you at the Arcade at noon on the first day of May," she promised.

In front of Bevis Courts Dana said, "I am going to kiss you."

"I would have been disappointed if you hadn't," Nina confessed.

It was the sort of a kiss that would have made a good "fade-out" in a movie.

It was exactly the middle of April when Dana and Nina ran into each other in Washington, on Pennsylvania avenue.

"My dear!" cried Dana.

He took her to dinner. It was a nice place, with some semi-private little alcoves. They sat in one of these.

"The first of May is so long to wait," he said.

"Two whole weeks," Nina agreed.

"I want to marry you, Nina."

"Oh—Oh Dana, it must be just a theory."

"No, it's a fact."

"I'll see you as we agreed, on the first of May, Dana Darnton."

"But we'll be engaged from right now, Nina Nixon! And I'll see you five minutes tomorrow morning, to get the ring."

Nina nodded. Dana kissed her.

He brought her the ring next morning and they separated.

Two days later Dana Darnton lawyer was coaching an orchestra at the rehearsal of a new revue when Nina Nixon Aiken came on the stage with Mr. Zegdale, the producer.

It took them exactly two minutes to explain that Dana had written the score for the revue and Nina had designed the costumes.

Theoretically they should be happy.

Big Idea Department

Dear Sir:

It has been brought to my attention that custom officials who pass on imported literature are not as bright as they might be, and that it is quite possible for them to pass many corrupting volumes without knowing what they are all about. So I think the country would be safer if they would also exclude all books that appear perfectly innocent.

Senator Brookhart says he doesn't know who ordered the portrait of himself, now being painted—nor does he know who is paying for it, or where it will hang.

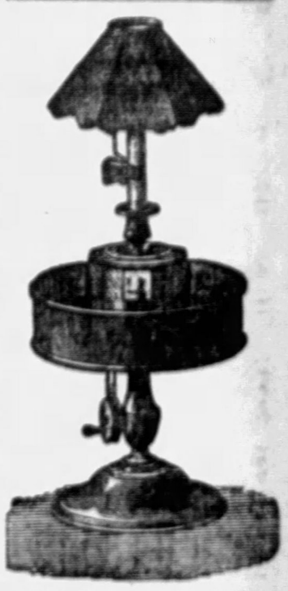
Safe and Sane Home Movies Perfected!



While the nation sleeps, Congressman Frisby is quietly working with the mothers of America to perfect a home motion picture machine that overcomes all the objections to the commercial film. The device, shown above, will be placed on the market simultaneously with the passage of Frisby's bill to imprison actors, directors and scenario writers. Mr. Frisby himself will prepare the slides for his Whirliscope. The first release will be a view of a dove pruning her wings. His second nature study, he declares, will reveal "a truant feather sailing away on the wind and suspended in mid-air in full view of the audience."

Voltaire's Magnificent Head

Ideal Shape for a Human Skull. Few Like It.

Study the shape of this head and wish that you had one like it.

If you are a young woman, study it most carefully, cut it out, paste it on a piece of stiff cardboard and hope that your son will arrive some day with a head shaped like this.

BUST OF VOLTAIRE, BY THE GREAT SCULPTOR HOUDON, RECENTLY SOLD IN LONDON.

If he has such a head, and the right substance in it, the world will hear of him.

The learned Dr. Abbott, head of the Lawrenceville School in New Jersey, raised among some thoughtful young people the question, "What is the best possible shape for a human head, one combining all the qualities that a head should have—imagination, power, creative thought and executive ability?"

And study the magnificent proportions of this fine "dome of thought."

This is the head of one of the greatest men that ever lived on earth, a man sincerely devoted to the cause of truth, and fearless in fighting for it.

The nearer the skull approaches a perfect sphere the better. The sphere is the ideal form for containing the maximum amount of matter with the minimum superficial area.

Most beautifully round is this fine "ivory temple," in which were developed the thoughts that made the world better and freed men from many errors.

There is a well-developed nose, essential to a perfect physiognomy; a strong chin, indicating will power; a mouth, large and firm, even in old age. Voltaire was nearly, if not quite, 80 years of age when this bust was made.

Long after 80 he was still working and fighting. He died at 83, in the midst of his most magnificent triumphs, in Paris.

You see here the head that contained perhaps as much information as the head of any man that ever lived, with the possible exception of Aristotle. And Voltaire knew many things that Aristotle never dreamed of.

This is the head that produced the philosophical dictionary, which intelligent men should read slowly, reading there at intervals for years.

It produced the wonderfully humorous "Zadig" which young people, unacquainted with Voltaire, might get at the Public Library and read through in a short time.

This face and brain produced the magnificent fight that will make Voltaire immortal, long after the literary value of his works shall have become dim and men have ceased to read them.

In this face you see the power and determination that put through to a finish the securing of justice as complete as possible in the famous Calas case.

A son of Calas committed suicide. He was mentally weak. His father, an old man, was accused of murder, for religious reasons, convicted in the face of evidence, and put to death most cruelly, being broken on the wheel. His mother and sisters were locked up, to remain immured for life.

This old man, Voltaire, had no personal interest in anybody concerned. But when he heard of the outrageous sentence, he said no man in France had a right to smile till that wrong was righted, as far as it could be. And he vowed to give himself no rest until he had freed the widow and the daughters of Calas, and broken and removed from office the judges guilty of the shameful Calas condemnation. He kept that vow.

Many have misunderstood, or maliciously and wilfully maligned Voltaire. They have called him "Atheist," which is false.

Someone who understood his power said of him that he had written 92 volumes, and that the French Revolution, which freed France from kings, tyranny, starvation and brutality, was Voltaire's ninety-third volume.

As much as any other man he promoted thinking in France, beginning 60 years before the Revolution started.

When kings came back to Paris, temporarily, only to be kicked out again, the dust of Voltaire's bones was taken from his tomb and scattered.

Scientific Note

A New Era in Communication.

An inventor took an airplane ride the other day and telephoned to his wife, many miles distant, from the plane. Among other things, he told her what he wanted for supper—steak and mushrooms.

"Steak and mushrooms," his wife repeated obediently. He was elated. He was testing a radio device permitting clearer telephoning from planes. The experiment was a success.

Still more interesting is the fact that he got Irish stew and spinach.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Disarmament

THE guessing contest over in London between England and America resembles two Pullman porters wearing out their whisk-brooms on each other.

"Bugs" Baer

There will be a naval holiday of 10 years. Neither nation will build any battleboats until 1936 which is good news to everybody except those interested.

America will sink eight warscows and our Navy will be gradually reduced to the size where Sir Tomasso Lipton can challenge it.

The horrors of war will be constricted to the memoirs of dollar-a-year men who stopped at the Treasury every week for their two cents.

In order to get the maximum of pleasure with the minimum of amity why not allow us to sink England's eight boats and permit England to put the slug on our octette?

Our Navy hasn't had a real holiday since Dewey bounced into Manila Harbor and knocked over a couple of one-gun garages.

When 1936 comes around with its new hopes and amendments we can build battleships. If we remember how.

The toughest blow of this naval holiday will fall on discarded admirals who have been working for the government so long they have forgotten how to earn a living.

All this disarmament business is built on the theory that the frog can save money by not trying to jump out of the well.

Instead of spilling money for big boats we will concentrate on submarines and airplanes which improve war by making it worse.

There was something square and upstanding about a horned Leviathan stepping forth to combat. Her funnel was belching war clouds, her flags were flying and one of her broadsides would have shaken the whiskers off the old man of the mountains.

We prefer the battleship to the submarine which sneaks up like a boll weevil and lays an egg in your lap. And we also prefer it to the airplane which buzzes up in the terrestial mezzanine and bounces a bowling ball off your high hat.

If that's the new style of war we are going to learn to knit the sox.

The world will save a billion dollars by this naval parley. It would save more than that if it could find a way to pull the teeth out of the Mediterranean fruit fly.

If the facts do not interfere with the figures, we must admit that the London session was a success. Nobody was injured and the flash lights turned out fine.

HOCUS-POCUS

By Herbert Kaufman

DEAN POUND, of Harvard Law School and the Wickersham Commission, denies that any of our Constitutional rights are jeopardized by the proposition to dispense with jury trials for minor Prohibition violations.

He tells Congress the Supreme Court long ago decided that the jury is an instrument solely reserved for the determination of SHAMEFUL crimes.

Which raises the pretty question as to what CONSTITUTES a shameful crime.

If we proceed on the premises that severity of penalty is the INTERPRETING factor, then the slightest infraction of the Volstead Act MUST be so construed.

THE Jones Law, which derives its authority from the Volstead Act, requires penitentiary sentences ranging from five to ten years for the LEAST fall from Eighteenth Amendment grace.

Such penalties are only equalled in severity by the penalties established for arson, forgery, felonious assault, mayhem, seduction, manslaughter and burglary.

In other words, the Jones Law places ALL Prohibition violations in the FELONY area, and ALL felonious acts are legally shameful.

Professor Pound wishes it clearly understood that he expresses no derogatory opinion of the Jones law, when he admits that it must be modified sufficiently to remove certain Prohibition offenses into the MISDEMEANOR CLASS, in order that they may be brought to trial before U. S. Commissioners instead of State and Federal courts.

BUT United States Commissioners, who may be appointed without previous LEGAL experience, cannot under PRESENT statutes pass upon felonies.

And since ALL Prohibition violations, as has just been SHOWN, are subject to felonious indictment under the terms of the Jones Act, it is manifest that the Jones Act MUST be changed before ANY form of Prohibition violation can be transferred to this new jurisdiction.

So here we are back again where we STARTED.

And if all this is confusing to your LAY perception, don't suffer from an INFERIORITY complex—it doesn't seem to be any CLEARER to the Professor himself, who further tweedle-dums and tweedle-dees over the situation, by explaining that the Wickersham Commission's recommendation doesn't purpose to deprive ANYBODY of recourse to a LATER jury hearing after a United States Commissioner has rendered his decision.

"OH, what a tangled web we weave,
"When first we practice to deceive" basic facts.

Small wonder that Mr. Taft concluded that time had arrived to retire to his "Sabine Farm".

Straightening the kinks out of tangles of this sort is enough to frazzle the most ROBUST sagacity, much less an over-toiled mind.

Preserving the integrity of the Constitution from the monkey wrenches which Prohibition enforcement increasingly throws into the works, is no responsibility for a DEBILITATED jurist.

We congratulate the returning High Magistrate upon the honors about to be conferred on him, but we must warn him that he's inherited the world's CHAMPION headache along with the job.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴

By Elsie Robinson

THE greatest menace to civilization isn't war or disease—it's SENTIMENTALITY—

OUR HABIT OF SUGAR-COATING FACTS SO WE WON'T SEE THEIR WARTS AND RIBS.

There are dozens of instances. Home Sweet Home. America First. The Sacred Bonds of Friendship. The Glory of War. Respect for the Aged. The Beauty of Innocence. The Dear Old Days.

Listen lovely, don't they? And from childhood we're taught to venerate these ancient hunks of hooey. But what's the real truth about them?

Are the bonds of friendship always sacred? Anything BUT!

Is war glorious? It is not. It is the utterly beastly tool of greed and commercialism.

Are the aged always worthy of respect? Far from it. They frequently deserve a severe bawling out and society would be healthier if they got it.

Is innocence beautiful? Yes, in a baby. After that, it's a risk and a nuisance.

Were the old days dear? Occasionally. Usually they were a mess from which we are lucky to have escaped.

Hokum-hooey-bunkum-blah... that's what most of these venerable traditions really are. Then why do we promote and perpetuate them and let them gum up our lives?

BECAUSE WE'RE TOO LAZY AND COWARDLY TO FACE THE TRUTH.

It takes a lot of nerve and gumption to face facts and act on them. It raises Cain with comfortable routines and exposes us to ridicule and persecution. Truth Seekers and Reformers are not given a hand of applause. They are given a sock in the jaw. There is no act more unpopular than disturbing the Status Quo. So we go muddling along, selling our heritages for a mess of candy hearts that buy us nothing but a stomach ache.

We didn't start it, of course. Sentimentality started when the first man scooted into his cave and pulled the hole in after him . . . and then alibied by saying that he did it to protect the sanctity of the home. Ever since then the human race has been inventing pretty excuses to duck reality and camouflage cowardice and laziness.

Real sentiment . . . that's different. Real sentiment is homage paid to beautiful and noble ideals. It is paid with mind and heart and backbone.

BUT SENTIMENTALITY, WHICH CONDONES ANY KIND OF PERFORMANCE, IS NOT HONEST HOMAGE. IT'S AN EMOTIONAL HICCOUGH. . . THE RESULT OF FAT KNEES AND A FLUTTERY DIAPHRAGM.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

THE various subtle flavors of wines depend partly on the kinds of grapes employed, but much more on the fact that each vineyard has its own peculiar mixture of fermenting organisms, its own stud, so to speak, whose combined excreta have a distinctive bouquet.

From the physiological point of view yeasts are very remarkable because they can live in the absence of oxygen. Nearly all other organisms have to breathe; they can no more live without air than a fire can burn without air.

H. G. Wells

But yeasts, and various other humbly organized plants, have different devices. True, if a yeast cell is supplied with oxygen it will breathe, taking in the oxygen and giving out carbon dioxide just as we do. But if it is denied an oxygen supply it falls back on another device; it turns sugar into alcohol and carbon dioxide, a process which yields energy just as combustion does.

It is because of this peculiar method of avoiding suffocation that yeasts are important to man. Buried in the dough of his bread they lighten it and make it easily digestible; drowned in flat fruit juice, they change it to sparkling wine.

CHAPTER FIVE.
Vegetable Life.
1. Stems, Leaves and Roots.

AND now we come to a vast group of living things laid out for the most part upon a common plan—the plant world; its importance in our daily consciousness is second only to that of our own phylum of vertebrated animals. Its structural conception is still an aggregation of cells; it displays the phenomena of sexual reproduction, but in nearly everything else it is different.

A plant—our crude description will apply to any plant that bears flowers—consists of three essential parts: the stems, more or less rigid and holding the plant in shape and at the same time guiding sap from place to place, a system of green leaves spread like a net to catch as much sunlight as possible, and system roots, branching eagerly in the soil, anchoring the plant and sucking up moisture and other substances upon which it thrives.

The life of a plant is so different from that of an animal, different even in its chemical basis, that we shall have to start again nearly from the beginning. We shall find in a simple physical fact a clue that explains and clarifies all the mysteries of vegetable life.

A plant subsists on water, carbon dioxide and various mineral salts. All have extremely simple and elementary molecules and can under no circumstances be burnt. They contain no bottled energy, as the food of an animal does.

A plant, at night, consumes oxygen and gives out carbon dioxide. It breathes just as an animal does. Its leaves are covered with minute, barely visible pores, thousands of tiny nostrils, as it were, and through these pores the gases diffuse in and out.

The plant, then, is breathing, and therefore it must be burning something as fuel—but what is it burning? There is nothing in the substances absorbed by its roots that could be burnt.

In daylight, or even in the presence of an electric light, results are very different. Things are just the other way round, for now the plant is absorbing carbon dioxide and giving off oxygen.

And in this fact lies the whole secret of the apparently foodless plant existence, for the plant makes its food in its own tissues—makes it out of carbon dioxide from the air and water, and a few simple salts from the soil. That is a thing entirely beyond the power of any animal.

The leaves of a plant are green because the tissues contain a characteristic green pigment called chlorophyll. Chlorophyll is a unique substance as far as the chemistry of animals and plants is concerned, for when it is present in a living cell that cell can absorb and make use of the radiant energy contained in light itself. That, in a word, is the secret of the plant.

It can drink the pure energy of sunlight, and it can use that energy to build out of the elementary substances that it absorbs the higher complex molecules of which its tissues consist.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The zero hour for show people is when, especially after an extended run, the closing notice goes up on the back stage bulletin board. A theatrical company despite its flurry of petty jealousies becomes a closely knitted family.

For stars and principals it is economically only a brief vacation but for the great majority it means the weary rounds of the agencies and hunt for jobs. Sentimentally it is a heart wrench for all and there is no person so sentimental as the hardened trouper.

Their illusive world of spotlights, music, laughter and suppressed excitement crumbles over night and all must go separate ways. Life again becomes a stark reality—a plunge into genuine distress. Players, stage hands, electricians and even doormen are affected.

With it all no class of people are so courageous in misfortune. I have heard many in other walks of life—and turned on the tears myself—wail over the sudden stoppage of income, but I have yet to hear a performer whine when he faces the tedium of being "at liberty."

The most improvident of all, they are cheeriest when there is little about which to be cheerful. Indeed, it is the custom on closing nights to clown the show. Audiences are frequently attracted on such occasions just to see what spontaneous foolery takes place.

One of the gaudy fables is the reputed haughtiness of stage stars toward their lesser brothers and sisters. Some of the closest attachments in the theater are among stars and principals and those in the chorus or other minor roles in the same company.

I was in at the death of a recent closing. After the curtain fell, all struggled up from dressing rooms in street clothes. The star, a truly great lady of exotic beauty, moved among them with effortless grace, shaking hands with the men and kissing the women. As she rushed to her car, her eyes shone with tears.

I waited on a Madison avenue corner today with a gentleman who was to meet his wife. Sighting her, he observed: "See that peculiar gleam in her eyes. She is going to rush up and adjust my tie." And she did.

* * *

On One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street in Harlem a little radio shop sells electric belts and has quite a lively trade. They are sold mostly to young Negro Sheiks who believe they give a certain touch of personal magnetism.

* * *

Incidentally, there were in America 25 years ago more than seven factories turning out electric belts and there are three men who became millionaires through their exploitation. One now lives in solemn grandeur on upper Fifth avenue.

Sinclair Lewis, who does not tarry long in one place, is said to be considering a stay in India for a proposed novel. His most recent was written in Vermont. Among places he selected to turn out best sellers were Kansas City, London, Paris, Berlin and the West Indies.

William Durant usually has the largest telephone bill of any New Yorker. One week during the market spasm he spent $25,000 telephoning to all parts of the world.

A phonograph to awaken you in the morning is a recent invention. An employer advised a young man who was always late to buy one. He did. Supposed to arrive at 8:30, he bounded in one morning at 8. "It worked," he cried. "Look what time it is."

"But where were you yesterday?" inquired the boss.

An expert in concentration called today to interest me in a course of study. And I suppose I should have signed on the dotted line for all the time he was here I was thinking that when he left—if he ever did—I was going to bring up a trunk out of the cellar and see what became of the blue silk muffler I got for Christmas four years ago.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

ARE you the old person who tries to be coy and kittenish or young and vigorous?

Acting like a person years younger makes you appear ridiculous.

You not only fail in your efforts to be what you are not, but those of your own age begin to think that you lack the stability and poise expected of your age.

Therefore, you are not accorded the respect you desire.

The younger person whom you try to imitate thinks you are almost unbalanced, so you don't gain anything there.

Older folks wonder if you are not entering your second childhood.

Age does not make unjust demands. It is what you have done with your brain and how you have treated your physical system that counts in making you sound in thought or the reverse.

It is the law of nature that as a man grows older he should reach a certain degree of composure when he will be able to evolve ideas in accordance with his age, experience and mental exercise.

If he does not, there is something wrong with him.

It is easy for you to analyze yourself and if you come under this head try poise and balance.
